F. D. R. ASKS AND SIGNS WAR BILL WITHIN 4 HOURS

Declaration Swiftly Voted by Congress.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

(Pictures on page 8.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—President Roosevelt signed a declaration of war against Japan at 3:10 p. m. [Chicago time] this afternoon.

This was 3 hours and 40 minutes after the President had appeared before a joint session of both houses of congress and in a brief but stirring address asked for a resolution recognizing the state of war created yesterday when Japan declared war on the United States and simultaneously attacked American territory. Thirty-three minutes after the President had concluded his speech congress had passed the resolution.

Delegation Brings Resolution.

Vice President Henry A. Wallace, Speaker Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.], and a delegation of other leaders brought the declaration of war to the President in the executive office. As they entered, Mr. Roosevelt, with his head resting wearily on one hand, looked up, smiled, and exchanged greetings with the leaders. Then while the movie cameras ground he picked up a pen and scratched his bold signature to the document.

While Great Britain and numerous other countries rained war declarations upon Nippon the President set in motion a multitude of activities calculated to enlarge and speed up the vast undertaking upon which the nation has embarked to defeat a formidable enemy 6,000 miles away.

United People Respond.

Before nightfall there was abundant evidence that the American people with an impressive unanimity and grim determination were rallying to the support of the supreme endeavor the President visualized when he told congress:

"No matter how long it may take us to overcome this premeditated invasion the American people in their righteous might will win thru to absolute victory."

The White House was inundated with messages from individuals and groups pledging services in aid of the national cause.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, called on American working men to produce the weapons of war "fully and without interruption" by strikes. He said the AFL "no strike" policy must now be made "real and binding" on all locals.

A Pledge from Murray.

Philip Murray, president of the CIO, said that organization will work "unselfishly and self-sacrificingly" on a program of uninterrupted production, "going right down the road with President Roosevelt and the congress of the United States, for our government comes first."

John L. Lewis, president of the CIO United Mine Workers of America, declared that he joined in the support "of our government to the day of its ultimate triumph over Japan and all other enemies."

The attitude of the big labor organizations caused the senate labor committee to postpone till Wednesday consideration of the drastic anti-strike bill passed by the house.

According to the White House the President is not considering a declaration of war on Germany and Italy. The United States is now engaged in

SPAB Asks Victory Program; Cost Is Put at 150 Billions

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The Supply Priorities and Allocations board, top defense agency, today declared the country was engaged in an "all-out victory program," and other defense officials said this called for an outlay of 150 billion dollars. Such an expenditure would more than double the current armament program, for which appropriations and authorizations are nearing 70 billion dollars.

"From this moment we are engaged in a victory program," said a SPAB announcement, issued following a special session. "We can talk and act no longer in terms of a defense program. Victory is our one and only objective and everything else is subordinate to it.

"From now on, every action by this board and by the related civilian agencies of the government must be keyed to one goal—complete victory in this war which has been thrust upon us," SPAB said.

SPAB Mentions No Figures.

The SPAB announcement itself mentioned no figures for the cost of the victory program. These were supplied by other defense officials.

It was disclosed that the board had been summoned to the White House for a conference tomorrow.

There was speculation in defense circles tonight as to whether the conference with Mr. Roosevelt tomorrow would be concerned primarily with money raising questions and the effect of such a tremendous outlay on the civilian economy.

Defense officials conceded that heavy additional taxes or borrowing would have to be started.

Plan to Double Output.

The SPAB announcement was taken by the capital as the first avowal by the board of sponsorship for the much discussed "victory program," calling for the doubling of production in virtually all types of weapons and armaments, including planes, tanks and guns.

Defense sources have revealed that the "program" originated as a survey requested by SPAB in November of the estimated advance needs of the army, navy, lend-lease agency, and the maritime commission. Originally it was contemplated as a two year program, with production needs forecast to the fall of 1943.

Nicaragua Jails Entire Jap Population of Two!

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Dec. 8 (AP).—Nicaragua followed up her declaration of war on Japan today by immediately jailing the country's entire Japanese population: Gusudi Yakata and Juan Hissi.

FBI ROUNDS UP NAZIS, ITALIANS

Maintains Secrecy on Chicago Drive.

German and Italian nationals were being rounded up last night and early today by federal bureau of investigation agents and officials of the immigration bureau. There was intense activity in half a dozen large cities in the country, including Chicago, but officials here said they were under absolute orders to say nothing whatever of their activities.

Fred Schlotfeldt, immigration director here, said early today he could not discuss the matter at all, even tho it was known that a large crew of his aides had been working during the evening.

Elevators Kept Busy.

Two elevator operators were kept busy all evening in the new postoffice building carrying those taken in the Chicago roundup to the immigration office where they were questioned. Two army trucks waited outside the building to take prisoners to Fort Sheridan. However, after the questioning had ceased and the immigration force had left for the night the trucks still were waiting.

It was assumed that if any suspicious aliens were selected from those rouned up that they had been taken to the FBI offices in the Bankers' building.

Arrest Nazi Ex-Attaché.

FBI agents in San Francisco arrested Hans von Bernhard, former commercial agent under Capt. Fritz von Wiedemann, expelled German consul general. Nat Pieper, San Francisco FBI chief, said he could not comment on the arrest, but added that his men had taken into custody "several other German aliens considered dangerous in time of emergency by the attorney general."

Police of New York, Hartford, Conn., and Philadelphia, Pa., reported aiding FBI and immigration officials in the roundup in those cities. In Connecticut it was reported today that the roundup was state-wide and that state and local police were being used to help the federal forces. In Philadelphia the immigration office was conducting the drive. In New York the FBI extended its drive on Japanese to include Germans late last night.

REPORT PACIFIC FLEET REDUCED BELOW JAPAN'S

Inquiry by Congress Expected.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—The United States navy, it is reliably reported here tonight, suffered one of the greatest defeats in the history of the nation in the devastating attack hurled from the sky at dawn by Japanese forces yesterday.

This was disclosed tonight by unimpeachable sources, which said that the United States suffered the loss—either sunk or disabled—of six capital ships, an aircraft carrier, and numerous supporting craft.

One high source said that this estimate of losses was conservative and stated that the United States has clearly lost its margin of superiority in the Pacific as a result of the devastating Japanese raid.

[Vincent Sheean, author, said last night at a Bryn Mawr college lecture that Washington officials told him the United States suffered the "greatest reverse of its kind in history" in the first 36 hours of the Japanese war.]

Sen. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, and Rep. Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], chairman of the house naval affairs committee, called at the navy department for a detailed explanation as agitation for a sweeping investigation of the disaster at Hawaii grew.

President on Air Tonight.

At the White House it was announced that President Roosevelt will go on the air tomorrow at 9 p. m. [Chicago time] to give the nation "a more complete documentation of the Japanese attack." The announcement was not amplified.

Walsh and Vinson will return to the navy department tomorrow for additional information. If the agitation for an investigation to determine why the army and navy were caught napping over the 5,000 mile battle front from Hawaii to the Philippines matures, one of the first witnesses to be called will be Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

Unimpeachable sources said that the loss of life and the number of wounded in the raid on the island of Oahu was far greater than the White House estimate, which was 1,500 dead and 1,500 wounded. It was also said the number of planes destroyed on the ground at army and navy airfields was far greater than the White House indicated.

A senator, high in the councils of

Japan's Perfidy Unites the American People

An Editorial

Japanese honor, which is supposed to be supersensitive, does not exclude the possibility of using a diplomatic approach to mask perfidy in a military attack. These Asiatic conceptions of what constitutes honorable procedure were not unknown to Americans who remember how the Japanese struck at Port Arthur and crippled the Russian fleet.

The blow at the American possessions in Hawaii and the Philippines was a similar bolt out of the sky which, if not entirely clear, was not supposed to be clouded with an immediate war threat. The presence of the special envoy, Kurusu, in Washington on a mission which had been voluntary as to Japan indicated to the American people that Japan was seeking a peaceable solution of the controversy with the United States.

It is evident that when Mr. Kurusu departed from Japan upon this mission he was preceded by the Japanese naval dispositions for the attack upon America. He was a decoy to distract the minds of the American people from the immediate potentialities of the situation.

Of the demands the United States made upon Japan nothing need be said at this time. That is all a part of the past with which we have no present concern. It is true that during the course of the

JAPANESE BOMB SINGAPORE AGAIN

British Battle Invaders in Northern Malaya.

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Dec. 9 (Tuesday).—(AP).—DNB quoted Japanese army headquarters in Tokio today as saying that Japanese troops were attacking the Singapore area and that the air force had raided British air bases elsewhere in Malaya, destroying a number of planes.

(Map on page 8.)

SINGAPORE, Dec. 9 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Bombs started dropping on Singapore, Britain's mighty base in the orient, at 4 a. m. today. Searchlights and anti-aircraft batteries went into action immediately.

The new attack followed yesterday's Japanese raids in which 63 persons were killed and 133 injured. No damage was done to the military installations of the base, it was stated.

[A German news agency dispatch from Tokio claimed that two British cruisers had been sunk in the Japanese air raids on Singapore.]

Severe Fighting in Malaya.

Severe fighting is under way in northern Malaya, a British communique said, and the situation still is confused.

British reënforcements are being speeded to the battle zone and should reach the front during the day, it was added. The Japanese, it was asserted, have made additional landings.

Fighting for control of Kota Bharu airdrome was particularly severe, lasting thruout the night, it was reported.

The Japanese were bombing British positions 20 miles northeast of Penang on the main line of Malaya's North-South railroad last night.

British Bomb Troopships.

Kota Bharu is near the northern terminus of a railway connecting with Singapore and stands at the frontier with Thailand.

Ten more troopships some 10 miles to the south were put under long British bombing attack and at least two of them were declared set aflame.

In southern Thailand, the Japanese were observed to be landing in the Patani and Singora areas.

Thailand's capitulation to the invaders, who struck there both from the sea and across the border of French Indo-China, was announced in Bangkok dispatches.

[DNB, Germans news agency, said in a dispatch from Tokio credited to Domei, that Japanese troops occupied Bangkok last night.]

Hongkong Raided Twice.

HONGKONG, Dec. 8 (AP).—This tight little British crown colony on the South China coast, facing Japanese forces just across the border in Kwangtung province, was attacked by air twice today, but ineffectually, by air twice today.

Green to Call Legislature on Defense Plans

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 8 [Special].—Gov. Dwight Green announced tonight a special session of the legislature will be called to deal with the present defense emergency. He did not reveal the date for the session, but indicated it would be announced at a special meeting of the state defense council in Chicago tomorrow.

Gov. Green's announcement followed a meeting this afternoon of directors of state code departments, Adjt. Gen. Leo M. Boyle and several members of the state council of defense.

Seek Full Part in War.

The special session will be called to provide adequate legal powers and funds for the fullest participation of Illinois in all phases of its defense effort, the announcement said. Among the defense problems it might be expected to consider would be the guarding of arterial highways and protection of industrial plants engaged in defense work by a larger force of highway police.

Other matters to be considered would be legislation looking toward an increase of and facilitated marketing of agricultural products for home consumption, more rigid safeguarding of public health, and the strengthening of the reserve militia and an increase in the supplies and facilities at their command.

Every Resource for Defense.

In calling his department directors to today's conference, Gov. Green said every resource and facility of Illinois must be thrown into national defense.

The governor said the state council of defense will discuss at tomorrow's meeting in Chicago a detailed plan for emergency operation of the state and its industries.

WAR MAPS IN COLOR

The first of a series of new war maps in full color appears on the back page of this issue. It shows the new war zone in the Pacific, from the two Americas to Asia, the East Indies, and the Antipodes. Included in the features of this map are all of the principal islands, the naval bases, and the distances in miles between a number of the important points. In tomorrow's Tribune, in all editions, will appear the second of the new series of maps, showing in color the western Pacific and the Far East, which, obviously, will be the theaters of war in the conflict between America and Japan. On page 8 is a full page of war pictures.

HEAR JAPS LAND ON SMALL ISLE OF PHILIPPINES

Planes Blast Army Camps, Air Fields.

MANILA, P. I., Dec. 9 (Tuesday)—(AP).—Japanese troops were reported today to have landed with the probable help of "fishermen" fifth columnists on Lubang Island near the entrance to Manila bay as Japanese planes carried out widespread raids on military objectives thruout the Philippines, including moonlit assaults on Manila itself.

The report of the landing on Lubang, some 60 miles southwest of the big American naval base at Cavite, was not confirmed officially, but so much credence was placed in it that defense officers were trying urgently to get in touch with the provincial governor.

Controls Water Route.

A reliable source said the Japanese were in full control of Lubang Island and the main city of the same name. The island controls waterways between the middle Philippine archipelago and the China sea.

Japanese fishermen were known in recent years to have entered the Philippines illegally and established themselves on Lubang and other smaller islands to the south. The island is mountainous, affording easy hideouts for fifth columnists.

Japanese fifth column activity also was reported unofficially from Davao, on the big southern island of Mindanao, where 25,000 Japanese residents present a vital threat to Philippine security. One report said 3,000 armed Japanese already were resisting. Local Filipino defense forces were trying to round up all Japanese in the populous area.

Japs Claim Guam Taken.

A Japanese radio broadcast from Formosa announced that the American island possession of Guam, in the Pacific 1,650 miles east of Manila, "was taken without resistance."

[Another dispatch said the Pan American Airways hotel and base at Guam had been destroyed. A Mutual Broadcasting system broadcast from Manila said the Midway Islands had been bombed and that the fate of a Clipper plane at Wake Island en route east was not known. Wake and Midway are American possessions between Guam and the Hawaiian Islands. A report yesterday said the Japanese had seized Wake. Pan American Airways reported that Wake had been smashed by Japanese planes.]

Attack U. S. Plane Carrier.

The American aircraft carrier Langley was reported attacked twice while lying in Malalag bay, an undeveloped American naval base near Davao. One other American warship at the scene was reported to have fired on the planes, bringing down one. A shore side radio station also was bombed.

Other daylight objectives yesterday included Clark field, a military airdrome 40 miles north of Manila, where 200 casualties were reported unofficially. At least 150 other casualties were reported outside the Manila area for a total of 350.

[An NBC report said it was officially stated that 10 Japanese bombers attacked Nichols field at Manila, killing one soldier and wounding 12, all Americans. One hangar was damaged and one officer's quarters was burned. CBS and NBC reports indicated there were three night alarms at Manila, with the third lasting from about 3 a. m. today [1 p. m. Monday, Chicago time] until 7:15 a. m. CBS announced that two Japanese attacks on Clark field "produced sanguinary results on both sides." Eighty Japanese planes apparently based in Formosa took part in the high altitude raids and were fought by American pursuit planes.]

Beat Off Three Jap Attacks.

Meanwhile belated dispatches told how American pursuit planes beat off three separate Japanese air attacks on the northern and western Philippine coasts after the raiders caused minor damage to air fields, bridges, and buildings. The Japanese also dropped propaganda leaflets.

The Iba area on the Luzon coast, 35 miles northwest of Olongapo naval station and 70 miles northwest of Manila also was reported under heavy attack, with casualties totaling 100 dead, many injured.

[NBC reporters broadcasting during the Manila raid said Fort McKinley, Nichols field, and the RCA transmitting station were bombed; that a heavy fire raged for a time "that looks very much as tho a gasoline dump or something like that is burning" in the vicinity of Nichols field. This was between 3 and 3:30 a. m.—or 1 to 1:30 p. m., Monday, Chicago time. A German radio broadcast heard in London credited a report to Domei, the Japanese news agency, saying that Japanese raiders had blown up "a number" of oil tanks at the United States naval headquarters in the Philippines.]

Blast Airfield at Davao.

The airfield at Davao was blasted at the same time the Langley was attacked. Twenty-four Japanese raiders struck at this field, hitting hangars and ruining runways. Fifty persons were reported killed.

Other points raided in the Philippines were Baguio, summer mountain capital in north central Luzon, where slight damage was caused to the nearby army camp, Fort John Hay; Camp Stotsenburg, where a number of buildings were set afire and American army phone connections to Manila cut; the Batan islands, northernmost of the Philippines and Aparri, northernmost port on Luzon.

It also was feared that the attacks on Davao might be a prelude to a more serious Japanese attempt to wrest control of the sealanes leading southward to British and Dutch Borneo.

Yesterday Manila was reported to have been saved from Japanese air attack when interceptor planes from Clark field met them over Pampanga province, 40 miles to the north, shattered their formations and forced them to turn back.

Schools Closed; No Raid Shelters.

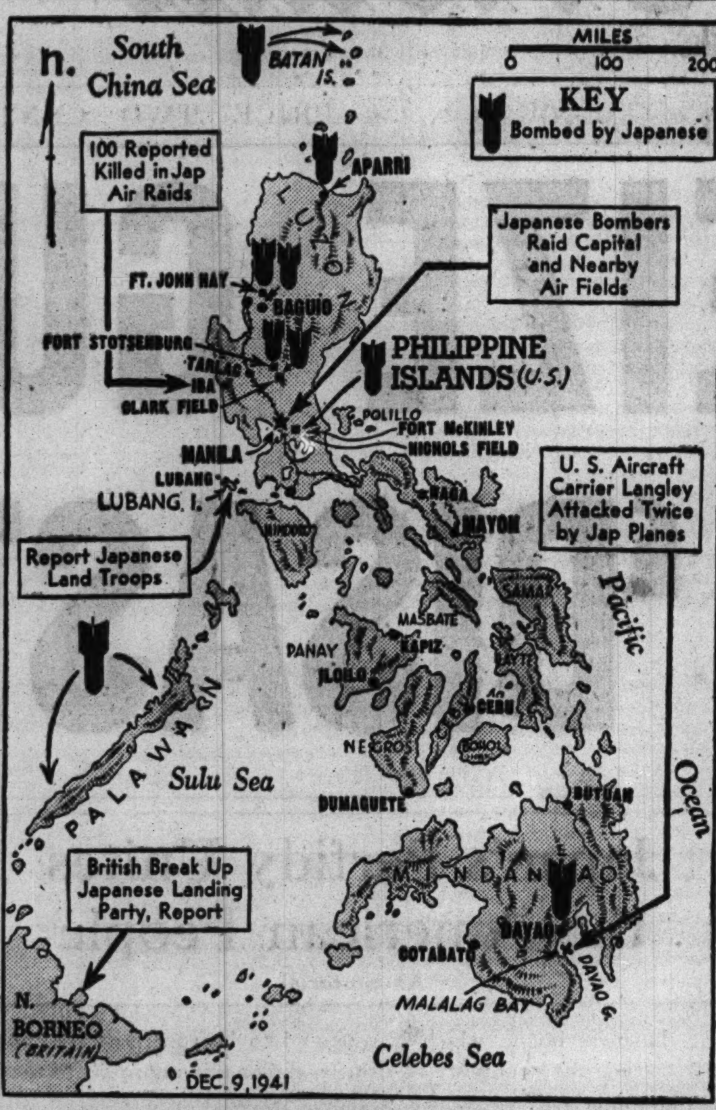
Last night the capital and all ports were blacked out and the latter closed to shipping. Schools were closed yesterday and police and firemen were on 24 hour duty. The government was rushing plans to move all primary school children to safety. There are no public air raid shelters here.

Ships at sea were instructed to race for the nearest friendly port. About 60 Americans and Britons from Shanghai reached Manila safely on a French steamer.

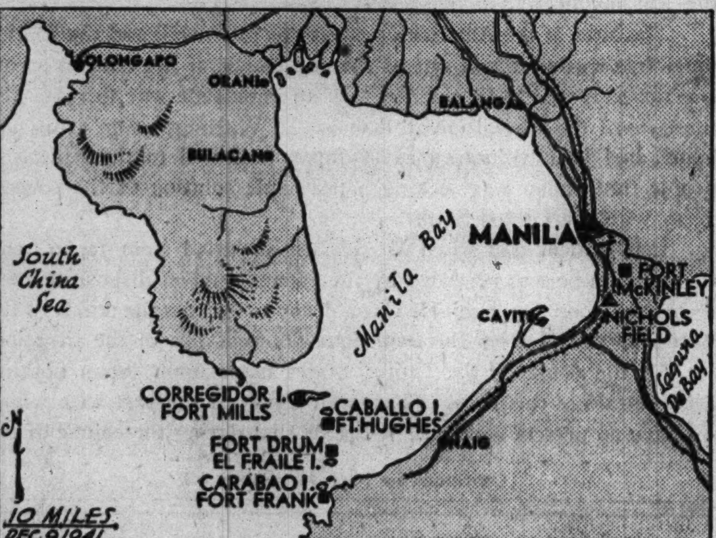
Soldiers in Manila rounded up about 5,000 Japanese, and with a few exceptions their stores and banks were closing. Tonight Japanese women and children were released and returned to their homes in Japanese districts, which were placed under military guard.

Many civilians were going to the country from Manila, but the city generally was calm and in most cases normal pursuits were being followed. The streets were crowded until the blackout hour.

Philippine Targets of Jap Attack



Captions tell developments thruout the Philippine Islands yesterday as Japanese warplanes, in wave after wave, struck at American military and naval posts and bombed the capital, Manila.



Large scale map shows Manila and other nearby objectives of Japanese attacking planes.

JAP WAR AGAIN PUTS DRAFT UP TO AUSTRALIANS

Seek New Law to Send Home Guard Abroad.

BY QUENTIN POPE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Dec. 8.—Japan's anti-British blow makes it likely, it is believed here, that Australia will pass new draft legislation making it possible to send conscripted men to fight in lands adjacent to Australia and New Zealand.

The two dominions, which furnished Britain with half a million fighting men during the first World war, have up to now placed the accent on home defense, but the new war by Japan will likely strengthen the empire as a machine for fighting anywhere in the Pacific.

The Australians, always sensitive against Japanese aggression, have maintained vastly extended plans for home defense which were in the making when the war started.

Expeditionary Force Voluntary.

New Zealanders ended the system of fighting a "volunteer war" and instituted the draft in 1940. Australia also passed measures for the extension of national service, but maintained its expeditionary force on a voluntary basis.

The fall of France was a double threat for Australia. It cut off war supplies from Britain, followed by Japanese demands on Indo-China and occupation of the northern region of that country.

This was the basic reason for the continuance of the system of enlisting men for service in the middle east. Australians, living on the edge of Japanese explosion for a generation, saw themselves the ultimate target of Nippon. Japan's new aggression puts squarely up to Australia the issue of fighting in the zones around the homeland for their own defense.

Referendum Defeated Draft.

The draft, which was twice rejected by a referendum during the World war, is not barred constitutionally. It could be applied overnight if parliament votes it. The referendum during the World war was taken because William M. Hughes, then prime minister, recognized that the Labor party controled senate would be against the draft, but knew that it was willing to allow public feeling to be tested by referendum. The effort failed by only 79,000 votes.

The second referendum was taken because the Labor party split over the recruiting issue. It also failed.

Today, there is no doubt that the senate will pass draft legislation if necessary, but what is more likely to occur is a change in the law making the home army available for service in contiguous countries.

SUPREME COURT AGAIN UPHOLDS PRESS FREEDOM

Reverses Contempt Case Against Paper.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The Supreme court today reversed contempt of court convictions against the Los Angeles Times and Harry Bridges, west coast CIO labor leader.

Justice Hugo L. Black, who delivered the majority decision, asserted the 1st amendment to the federal constitution prohibits "any law abridging the freedom of speech or of the press" and "must be taken as a command of the broadest scope that explicit language, read in the context of a liberty-loving society, will allow."

Justice Felix Frankfurter wrote a dissenting opinion, in which Chief Justice Stone and Justices Roberts and Byrnes joined.

Issue of Freedom of Speech.

The Times case represented another chapter in the long history of the controversy over the proper interpretation of freedom of speech and of the press.

The newspaper and its managing editor, L. D. Hotchkiss, were convicted in the Los Angeles Superior court on charges growing out of the publication of editorials about court cases prior to a final settlement. The conviction was upheld by the California Supreme court.

A $500 fine was imposed on the newspaper by the Superior court. Hotchkiss was fined $100 with the provision that if it were not paid he was to serve 50 days in jail.

Based on Three Editorials.

Conviction of the newspaper followed the publication of three editorials in 1937 and 1938 entitled "Sit-Strikers Convicted," "The Fall of an Ex-Queen," and "Probation for Gorillas."

The first discussed the conviction of strikers at the Douglas Aircraft company plant before sentence had been imposed and while the defendants still could apply for a new trial or for probation.

The second editorial was published after the conviction of Mrs. Helen Werner, former Los Angeles political figure, on bribe solicitation charges. She had not been sentenced and a motion for a new trial was pending.

The third editorial opposed probation of two unionists convicted of labor violence. It was published while the petition for probation was pending.

Bridges Criticizes Decision.

Bridges was convicted of sending to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins a telegram, subsequently published, criticizing a decision by the Los Angeles Superior court.

Bridges contended there had been no attempt to influence the action of the judge and that he did not know when he sent the telegram that motions were pending for a new trial and to vacate the judgment.

His telegram termed "outrageous" a decision by Judge Reuben Schmidt appointing a receiver to administer a labor hiring hall at San Pedro, Cal.

Deportation proceedings also are pending against Bridges, who is president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's union. A special justice department investigation has resulted in a decision that the labor leader has been affiliated with the communist party.

Reviews Court Precedents.

Black's opinion said that the Supreme court previously had upheld punishment for contempt of court provided there was a "clear and present danger of interfering with the administration of justice.

"What finally emerges from the 'clear and present danger' cases," he added, "is a working principle that the substantive evil must be extremely serious and the degree of imminence extremely high before utterances can be punished.

"Those cases do not purport to mark the furthermost constitutional boundaries of protected expression, nor do we here. They do no more than recognize a minimum compulsion of the Bill of Rights."

Frankfurter's Dissent.

In his dissenting opinion, Frankfurter declared that "our whole history repels the view that it is an exercise of one of the civil liberties secured by the Bill of Rights for a leader of a large following or for a powerful metropolitan newspaper to attempt to overawe a judge in a matter immediately pending before him."

He added that the majority decision "deprives California of means for securing to its citizens justice according to law—means which, since the Union was founded, have been the possession hitherto unchallenged, of all the states."

CLERK, 18, IS FIRST TRIBUNE MAN TO ENLIST FOR WAR

The first TRIBUNE employé to enlist in the United States armed services after the outbreak of war with Japan was Donald Christensen, 18 years old, 7617 Peoria street, a clerk in THE TRIBUNE'S auditing department. Christensen enlisted in the navy, arriving at the recruiting office in the federal building at 8:15 a. m., only a few minutes after the office opened. He is the son of Niels Christensen, a salesman. He has two brothers, Sergt. Martin Christensen of the 131st infantry, and John, 14.

ALASKAN BASES MAKE READY FOR ATTACK BY JAPS

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Dec. 8 (AP).—Alaska prepared today, alert to the possibility Japanese warships may swing northward from the battle at Hawaii.

All over the farflung territory the Alaska defense command readied its newly established bases for possible attack. The navy put its entire territorial establishment on a ready-for-action basis.

Street lights and commercial signs were darkened in Anchorage to make attack more difficult and to conserve power for military uses. Maj. Gen. Simon Buckner, heading the Alaska defense command, summoned all service men back from leaves and declared all defense positions were fully manned.

CLAIM JAPANESE LANDING PARTY IS BEATEN IN BORNEO

Be on Watch for Chutists, East Indies Warned.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Dec. 9 [Tuesday]—(AP).—British forces have broken up a Japanese landing party in north Borneo, the Netherlands news agency reported today.

[The news agency dispatch, which lacked official confirmation, did not make clear whether this was the same action reported by the British Monday.]

Warns Against Chute Invasion.

Prior to this report a warning against possible fifth column action and attempts by the Japanese to land air-borne troops in these islands was issued to the populace by Gen. H. Ter Poorten, commander-in-chief of the army.

The commander's order, announced by the Netherlands news agency, warned inhabitants not to leave their homes without identification cards.

At the same time the naval commander asked inhabitants to report any persons attempting to conceal Japanese nationals.

Army Fully Mobilized.

Earlier the government completed mobilization of the army, took measures to avoid any food shortage and requisitioned a large part of the merchant marine for the navy.

Dr. H. J. Van Mook, head of the economic department, announced severe penalties for food hoarding.

Blackout was in effect thruout the Indies.

FATALLY SHOT IN ROOM.

Albert Victor, 49 years old, an unemployed pressman, was found fatally wounded in his room at 3718 North Hermitage avenue last night by members of his family who heard a shot. A revolver was beside him.

REPORT JAPAN'S RAID ON HAWAII FLEET DISASTER

U. S. Strength Is Reduced Below Enemy's.

the administration, made the gloomy prediction that it will be a long time before American planes search for vulnerable targets in Japan.

[A DNB dispatch from Tokio today said Japanese imperial navy headquarters announced an American airplane mother ship had been sunk off Honolulu.]

The United States hasn't the planes to command superiority of the air, he said. For the time being all that can be sent to the Pacific will be needed for defense purposes.

The fleet losses have shifted the balance of power in the Pacific from the United States to Japan, at least until new ships can be sped thru the Panama canal to the far east.

The United States had 17 battleships to 12 Japanese capital ships. If six have been sunk or damaged the United States stands outnumbered 12 to 11 in both oceans.

Heaviest U. S. Loss in History.

The losses suffered at Hawaii were the heaviest in the nation's history. Never in modern times has the United States lost a battleship.

In the war of 1812 several capital ships of the infant American navy were defeated after desperate struggles with British vessels. However, that conflict was marked by duels between vessels and not by general engagements, which might have brought a disaster of the scope of that at Hawaii.

The present war offers comparable defeats suffered by the French and Italian fleets at the hands of the British. The British damaged a heavy portion of the French fleet at Oran after the fall of that nation and scored an even heavier victory against the Italian fleet at Taranto last year.

From meager information reaching here it appeared that the Japanese attack was launched from the Japanest mandate islands, to which the Japanese ships made their way from Japan. Aircraft carriers approached undetected to within 250 miles of Oahu and loosed their planes to attack Pearl Harbor and military air fields.

Submarines are also believed to have been employed in the attack.

Ask Why Empire Succeeded.

The complete surprise scored by the Japs set the capital to buzzing as to what the American forces were doing to protect the islands during the period of that far eastern crisis.

The only explanation for the heavy destruction visited by the surprise attack came from the White House Secretary Stephen T. Early, who offered what he termed an "expert consensus."

"Probably most if not all of the planes that attacked came from Japanese carriers. These planes were of the dive bomber type. The attack came at dawn and the carriers naturally would have had all night, under cover of darkness, to approach.

"The planes would take off and come in at high altitude to launch their attack, coming in from the darkness. That is my consensus."

Leaves Much Unanswered.

The "expert concensus" offered by Secretary Early left many angles of the burning question unanswered, particularly in view of President Roosevelt's statement in his request to congress for a declaration of war, that Japan had been preparing for the attack "many days and even weeks ago."

Early's statement did not explain where the American fleet and air patrol were during these weeks of preparation. The state department was receiving advices on Jap movements in Indo-China in detail, but was without a shred of information about the Jap movements aimed at piercing the American defenses in the Pacific.

Late Saturday night the state department made public information that it was advised that early that morning heavily escorted Jap convoys were moving off the southern tip of Indo-China across the Gulf of Siam in an apparent thrust at Thailand.

Other Forces Move on U. S.

At that time other Jap forces were moving toward the Philippines, the Hawaii Islands and Guam, Wake, and Midway Islands. These were not detected. It was not known whether the information regarding the menace to Thailand came from American or British sources.

The surprise attack had been regarded by the navy and army as possible Jap strategy in war. For this reason the navy and planes had reportedly been maintaining a patrol thruout the Pacific area. Altho Japanese aircraft carriers and planes moved some 3,000 miles from Japan to Hawaii by way of Japanese mandate islands, which are more than 2,000 miles from Oahu, they presumably were not detected by the patrol.

Hear Germans in Raid.

A conjecture spread in congressional circles today that German pilots carried out the damaging blitzkreig on the navy's Pearl Harbor base. Some well informed legislators said they had heard "reports" that some of the planes involved in the attacks bore the Nazi swastika as well as the Japanese "rising sun" insignia.

It was believed that American sea and air forces now are counterattacking, seeking particularly to destroy the carriers which brought the fleets of planes to Hawaii. This was regarded as the logical step by army and navy officers.

In the meantime units of the fleet were proceeding under forced draft to Hawaii, and planes were being flown to swell the island air force.

Official White House Statement.

Following is the official statement issued by the White House earlier in the day regarding casualties and losses in Hawaii:

"American operations against the Japanese attacking force in the neighborhood of the Hawaiian Islands are still continuing. A number of Japanese planes and submarines have been destroyed.

"The damage caused to our forces in Oahu in yesterday's attack appears more serious than at first believed.

"In Pearl Harbor itself one old battleship has capsized and several other ships have been seriously damaged.

"One destroyer was blown up. Several other small ships were seriously hurt. Army and navy fields were bombed with the resulting destruction of several hangars. A large number of planes were put out of commission.

Bombers Arrive During Engagement.

"A number of bombers arrived safely from San Francisco during the engagement—while it was under way. Reinforcements of planes are being rushed and repair work is under way on the ships, planes and ground facilities.

"Guam, Wake and Midway islands and Hongkong have been attacked. Details of these attacks are lacking.

"Two hundred marines—those that remain in China—have been interned by the Japanese near Tientsin.

"The total number of casualties on the Island of Oahu are not yet definitely known, but, in all probability will mount to about 3,000. Nearly half of these are fatalities, the others being wounded. It seems clear from the report that many bombs were dropped in the city of Honolulu, resulting in a small number of casualties."

Suggests Court Martial.

Court martial proceedings for the "debacle" at Hawaii against five members of the army and navy high commands, including Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, commander in chief of the fleet, and Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, deputy chief of staff and chief of the army air forces, were demanded tonight by Rep. John D. Dingell [D., Mich.].

In addition to Kimmel and Arnold, Rep. Dingell named Lieut. Gen. Walter C. Short, commander of the Hawaiian department; Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, chief of the army air corps, and Maj. Gen. Fred L. Martin, chief of the Hawaiian air force, as subjects for court martial inquiry.

"The courts martial should determine the guilt or innocence of the persons named in the Hawaiian debacle," Dingell said. "The inquiry should be into the failure of Hawaiian defenders to beat off the surprise Japanese air attack before serious damage had been done.

"If the courts martial determine that these officers are not responsible for the poor United States showing in the first great battle of the war we will have to go higher in our probe."

Dingell, who has been an ardent New Dealer, left no doubt that he was referring to Knox, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Adm. Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations, and Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff.

Navy Apparently Not Alert.

The congressman reported that he had talked to many of his colleagues who felt as he did that had the navy and the army and navy air forces been on the alert the surprise attack could not have brought the terrific losses that it did. It might have been that the American forces could have surprised and destroyed the Japanese forces had they been on the qui vive.

Thruout the day the capital rumbled with reports that the portions of the American fleet at Hawaii, which should have been engaged on patrol duty, were tied up in the harbor while sailors were given leave as a means of building up morale.

Soldiers were also on leave, it was said. Ammunition was rumored to have been in warehouses rather than on hand beside the huge guns of coastal batteries and the anti-aircraft batteries. Pilots were rumored to have been on leave also and planes lined up in formations which prevented ready takeoffs.

Road facilities leading to Pearl Harbor and the bases were reported to have been inadequate.

Two Views of U. S. War Losses

Japanese Claim

Japanese claims, based partly on imperial headquarters bulletins and partly on newspaper accounts of destruction to American forces in the surprise attack on Hawaii, the Philippines, and Guam are:

Two battleships, the 31,800 ton West Virginia and the 29,000 ton Oklahoma, sunk at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, on Sunday.

The 840 ton minesweeper, Penguin, sunk at dawn Monday in an air attack on Guam.

Four other capital ships and four cruisers damaged.

Fifty to 60 planes shot down over Clark field in the Philippines. Forty planes shot down over Iba, northeast of Manila. A Japanese news agency said it was "understood" that more than 300 planes were destroyed in Hawaii and the Philippines.

Many merchant vessels captured in the Pacific.

A Japanese submarine sunk an American aircraft carrier off Honolulu, according to an unconfirmed report in a communique from Japanese headquarters.

No Japanese ships were lost in the fighting, which the official news agency, Domei, interpreted as "magnificient early gains."

Washington Reports

The White House yesterday acknowledged in Washington, D. C., these American losses in the Japanese attacks:

About 3,000 casualties, equally divided between dead and wounded, on the Island of Oahu, Hawaii, the great majority being army and navy personnel.

Several hangars destroyed in the bombing of army and navy fields.

Two hundred marines in China captured and interned.

As for the success of American operations, the statement said only that "a number of Japanese planes and submarines have been destroyed."

MONTANA G. O. P. HEAD DEMANDS REP. RANKIN CHANGE VOTE ON WAR

Cut Bank, Mont., Dec. 8 [Special].—A demand upon Rep. Jeannette Rankin [R., Mont.], who today cast the only vote in congress against declaring war on Japan, that she change her vote to "redeem Montana's honor" was made in a telegram this afternoon by Dan Whetstone, Montana Republican national committeeman.

Whetstone wired Miss Rankin: "As soon as word of the treacherous attack of Japan on American possessions reached this state, Montanans made the only decision possible for loyal Americans, to assert full support to the administration in defense of this nation.

"Messages from all parts of Montana indicate disappointment over your attitude in failing to support the war declaration. I urge and beseech you to redeem Montana's honor and loyalty and change your vote as early as possible."

Tickling Bride Acquitted of Slaying Her Husband

Mason City, Ia., Dec. 8 (AP).—Jennie Decker Brunner, the 23 year old "tickling bride," tonight was acquitted on a charge of slaying her husband, Sam. The bride of seven months testified that last Sept. 30 she had tickled her husband when they awoke at their farm home and he had pulled a gun from under the pillow. She related that "he had the gun cocked and was pointing it at me but somehow I got it away from him. Then everything went black and about that time the gun started going off."

8 MIDDLE WEST CONGRESSMEN MISS WAR VOTE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 [Special].—Of the 13 senators and 42 representatives who missed voting on the declaration of war against Japan today, one senator and seven representatives were from middle western states.

The only vote missing in the entire Illinois delegation was that of Rep. Edwin M. Schaefer, Democrat, of Belleville. The only midwestern senator unable to vote was Arthur Capper [R., Kas.]. Other absent midwestern congressmen were Richard P. Gale [R., Minn.], William H. Larrabee [D., Ind.], Melvin J. Maas [R., Minn.], William L. Nelson [D., Mo.], Milton A. Romjue [D., Mo.], and Lewis D. Thill [R., Wis.].

Illness or absence from the city were the only causes of failure to vote, and it was said on behalf of all who did not vote that they would have voted for the resolution if they had been present. Rep. Thill was one of four congressmen who reached the capital by plane half an hour after the voting was concluded.

Someone else's first wife owned a third of this house

If the new owner had insisted on receiving a Title Guarantee Policy... he would have avoided considerable loss and worry.

When Ailmer Jewett sold his house, the new owner felt that it was no business of his that the Jewetts had been divorced. He accepted the deed to the property, spent considerable money in improving it—and was amazed when the former Mrs. Jewett sued him for her one-third interest.

Yes, Mrs. Jewett still owned a third of the property, because a husband even if divorced cannot always dispose of his wife's interest without her consent! What the new owner should have done, of course, was to insist on a Title Guarantee Policy, which would have protected him against loss due to this undiscovered flaw in the title.

It is your right to insist on a Title Guarantee Policy with any property you buy. Once provided, the Guarantee Policy remains in force as long as you retain the property.

Under the terms of a Title Guarantee Policy, Chicago Title and Trust Company assumes full responsibility for defending the title as guaranteed, shoulders all expense, and, in case of loss, promptly pays.

3 U.S. WARSHIPS SUNK, 8 OTHERS DAMAGED—JAPAN

Claims Destruction of 100 American Planes.

TOKIO, Dec. 9 [Tuesday] (AP).—[Official radio pickup]—Japanese imperial headquarters announced last night the sinking of two United States battleships and a minesweeper, severe damage to four other American capital ships, and four cruisers, and the destruction of about 100 American planes in Japan's surprise blows at Hawaii, the Philippines, and Guam.

The official news agency Domei quickly interpreted "these magnificent early gains" as giving Japan naval mastery over the United States in the Pacific. It said that any force which the United States could muster now "would be regarded as utterly inadequate to accomplish any successful outcome in an encounter with the thus-far-intact Japanese fleet."

"Many Ships Captured."

In addition "many enemy merchant ships were captured" in the Pacific, it was announced. The communique also listed an unconfirmed report that a Japanese submarine had sunk an American aircraft carrier off Honolulu.

"No Japanese ships were lost during the fighting," it added.

Japanese newspapers identified the two American battleships declared sunk Sunday at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, as the 31,800 ton West Virginia, and the 29,000 ton Oklahoma.

[An Italian broadcast, however, quoted Domei as listing the Oklahoma and the 33,100 ton Pennsylvania as lost. In Berlin, DNB, official news agency, said in a Tokio dispatch that an American transport ship carrying 350 men had been sunk off Manila.]

Claim 50 Planes Downed.

Imperial headquarters itself did not identify the sunken or damaged ships save for the 840 ton American minesweeper Penguin which it said was sunk in an air attack at dawn Monday on Guam, United States naval island station.

Japanese army headquarters announced that 50 or 60 American planes were shot down in air combats over Clark field in the Philippines and 40 more over Iba, 80 miles northeast of Manila.

Domei said it was "understood" Japanese forces have destroyed more than 300 American planes, including 200 in dogfights and on the ground in Hawaii. The remainder, it said, were "believed" destroyed in the Philippines. Of the total the news agency said 30 were fortress planes and 30 longe range bombers.

Japanese planes were reported to have again attacked the Philippines and Hongkong, British crown colony, Monday, inflicting "heavy damage" in a follow-up of the raids launched Sunday.

"Twelve out of 14 enemy planes on the ground were destroyed" at Hongkong, an army communique said.

Hongkong was declared to be under Japanese blockade by Vice Adm. Mineichi Koga and neutral ships were asked to withdraw within 36 hours.

Fight British in Thailand.

Japanese troops were reported to be fighting British forces in Thailand [Siam]. The Tokio board of information declared the Thailand government had granted permission for the Japanese to march in from their bases in French Indo-China after Japanese bluejackets landed at strategic points near the Malayan border.

The Japanese said that British troops invaded Thailand from Malaya to meet the oncoming Japanese.

Approximately 100 American and British nationals and other foreigners were rounded up in Tokio yesterday morning and a blackout was instituted in the capital last night.

Japs Claim Seizure of Guam

CHINA AND FOUR EUROPEAN LANDS ACT AGAINST JAPS

CHUNGKING, Dec. 8 (AP).—China has decided to declare war on Japan, Germany and Italy, Foreign Minister Quo Tai-chi announced tonight. He said China was prepared to make every sacrifice to collaborate with the United States and Great Britain in defeating Japan.

Four Governments Act.

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—The Free French national committee, meeting today under the leadership of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, declared a state of war existed between all Free French territories and Japan.

The exile Greek government severed relations with Japan and cabled to Washington an expression of "complete solidarity" with the United States.

Stanislaw Stronski, Polish minister of information, asserted that "Poland stands united with all the other allies against Japan just as she has always been united with all the allies against all countries coöperating with Germany in this war."

The Belgian government in exile instructed its ambassador in Tokio to leave Japan with British and American diplomats.

DEATH STRIKES FROM FAR EAST TO MIDDLE WEST

Parents Hear Soldier Son Killed in Jap Raid.

Galesburg, Ill., Dec. 8 [Special].—"It didn't seem possible that war could strike us way back here in Galesburg," sobbed Mrs. George Cebert today when she was notified that her son, Private Dean W. Cebert, 23 years old, was killed in the Japanese attack on the Hawaiian Islands.

Death came to Private Cebert in a few days after the first anniversary of his enlistment in the air force on Dec. 2, 1940. He was first sent to Jefferson Barracks, Mo., for a few weeks and then to the Hawaiian Islands.

Won Civil Pilot's License.

He arrived in Honolulu last Jan. 30 and had spent all of the time since in flying training at Wheeler field there. His last letter was received about six weeks ago. He wrote then that he had received his civil pilot's license, for which he had qualified in addition to his military duties.

His father, George Cebert, is an engineer for the Burlington railroad. He has three brothers, Dale, Lyle, and Vincent, and two sisters, Mildred and Mrs. Ted Kussman.

Only Child Killed.

Blue River, Wis., Dec. 8 [Special].—Joseph Shattuck, president of this village, and his wife received word from the war department today that their only child, Private Robert Shattuck, 21, was killed at Hickam field, Hawaii, yesterday.

Robert, born and reared here, studied two years at the University of Wisconsin and was a medical student at Loras college when he enlisted Nov. 8, 1940.

His father, the town druggist, served overseas with the 54th infantry in the first World war.

Football Player Among Dead.

Janesville, Wis., Dec. 8 [Special].—The speed with which parents of Private John Fletcher, 32 years old, were notified of his death led to the belief he was one of the earlier casualties in the battle in the Hawaiian Islands.

Killed in Jap Raid

(Story in adjoining column.)

Dean W. Cebert, 23, of Galesburg, Ill., killed in the Japanese attack on the Hawaiian Islands.

The message was received last evening.

Fletcher enlisted in the air corps on Nov. 1, 1940, and was a mechanic at Wheeler field near Pearl Harbor. He was graduated from the Platteville School of Mines, where he played football four years.

Another Athlete Slain.

Wausau, Wis., Dec. 8 [Special].—Parents of Private Donald Plant, 22 years old, were notified by the commanding general of Fort Shafter near Wheeler field, Hawaii, of their son's death in battle yesterday.

Young Plant was a football and basketball star at the Wausau High school, from which he was graduated in 1939. He enlisted in August, 1940.

Leaves 4 Brothers, 4 Sisters.

Lamont, Ia., Dec. 8 [Special].—Corp. Malachi J. Cashen, 30 years old, who was killed in action Sunday at Pearl Harbor, leaves a family here of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cashen, and four brothers and four sisters. He had been in the air service for a year.

OTHERS ON DEATH LIST.

Others listed by the Associated Press as among those killed in the war in the east, as disclosed by official advices to relatives, were:

First Lieut. Hans Christiansen, 21, Woodland, Cal., marine aviator, at Pearl Harbor.

Sergt. Vincent M. Horan, Stamford, Conn., Honolulu.

Sergt. George R. Schmersahl, 22, Bloomfield, N. J., air corps, in Hawaii.

Gordon Mitchell, Hoisington, Kas., air corps, at Hawaii.

Private Theo F. Byrd, 20, Tampa, Fla., air corps, at Wheeler field.

JAPANESE ATTACK TWO ISLANDS IN AUSTRALIA ZONE

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 9 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Australia and New Zealand declared war on Japan today. The declaration were made soon after the war in the Pacific had swept into their spheres with Japanese attacks reported on the mandated island of Nauru and Ocean Island, administrative headquarters for Britain's Gilbert and Ellice Islands' colony, a rich source of phosphates.

The assaults, presumably delivered by air from Japanese held territory in the welter of South Pacific islands, were announced over the air by Prime Minister John Curtin.

Congressman Schaefer Reported Seriously Ill

Belleville, Ill., Dec. 8 (AP).—Congressman Edwin M. Schaefer [D., Ill.] was reported in a serious condition at his home here after collapsing at nearby Scott field today as he prepared to board an army plane for Washington. Schaefer, 54, has been undergoing treatment for a sinus infection for several weeks.

SEIZED TRYING TO CASH CHECKS.

Miss Elsie Fournier, 29 years old, of Indianapolis, Ind., was arrested by Chicago avenue police yesterday when she attempted to cash two fraudulent checks totaling $65 at a currency exchange at 1152 North State street.

PRESIDENT SIGNS DECLARATION OF WAR UPON JAPAN

Congress Acts Speedily on His Appeal

an undeclared war with Germany and Italy but whether it becomes formalized appears to be up to Hitler, for the time being, at least. Under the terms of the tripartite axis pact Germany and Italy would be required to make war on the United States if America attacked Japan. Unless it suits his purpose for ulterior reasons, however, not even Hitler would attempt to construe the events of yesterday as an American attack on Japan.

One of the first steps taken by the President was to start the ball rolling for the organization of expeditionary forces eligible for dispatch outside of the western hemisphere.

As a result Rep. Andrew J. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military affairs committee, called a meeting of that body for tomorrow to frame legislation to repeal the provision of the selective service act forbidding the President to send conscripts and national guardsmen outside of the western hemisphere except to American possessions, including the Philippines.

Will Increase Draft Quotas.

It was also announced that all state draft quotas will be increased immediately. They will be doubled and tripled for January and succeeding months, according to Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director. This is a step in the direction of providing an army considerably larger than the 2 million men of the present objective.

The army now has a strength of 1,600,000. The war department announced that the increase to 2,000,000 will be made as rapidly as possible. In a few days conscripts and guardsmen who were discharged as over 28 years old, on account of dependents and for similar reasons, will probably be recalled.

The administration program, however, calls for armed forces aggregating possibly as many as 10 million men.

The navy was calling all reservists to active duty. Even those who enlisted in the reserve as late as Saturday received telegrams instructing them to report for active duty.

Jap Consul Burns More Papers; Waits for Orders

More papers were burned yesterday by the Japanese acting consul, Kihachiro Ohmori, in his office at 435 North Michigan avenue as he awaited orders from Washington to vacate the office. He said he expected such orders within two or three days. A policeman was detailed to the office thruout the day, but no disturbance was reported. A police detail was also stationed at the consul's home on the near north side.

Text of President Roosevelt's Message on War Declaration

"To the Congress of the United States:

"Yesterday, Dec. 7, 1941—a date which will live in infamy—the United States of America was suddenly and deliberately attacked by naval and air forces of the empire of Japan.

"The United States was at peace with that nation and, at the solicitation of Japan, was still in conversation with its government and its emperor looking toward the maintenance of peace in the Pacific.

Reply Made After Attack.

"Indeed, one hour after Japanese air squadrons had commenced bombing in Oahu, the Japanese ambassador to the United States and his colleague delivered to the secretary of state a formal reply to a recent American message. While this reply stated that it seemed useless to continue the existing diplomatic negotiations, it contained no threat or hint of war or armed attack.

"It will be recorded that the distance of Hawaii from Japan makes it obvious that the attack was deliberately planned many days or even weeks ago. During the intervening time, the Japanese government has deliberately sought to deceive the United States by false statements and expressions of hope for continued peace.

"The attack yesterday on the Hawaiian Islands has caused severe damage to American naval and military forces. Very many American lives have been lost. In addition, American ships have been reported torpedoed on the high seas between San Francisco and Honolulu.

Attack Launched on Malaya.

"Yesterday the Japanese government also launched an attack against Malaya.

"Last night Japanese forces attacked Hongkong.

"Last night Japanese forces attacked Guam.

"Last night Japanese forces attacked the Philippine Islands.

"This morning the Japanese attacked Midway Island.

"Japan has, therefore, undertaken a surprise offensive extending thruout the Pacific area. The facts of yesterday speak for themselves. The people of the United States have already formed their opinions and well understand the implications to the very life and safety of our nation.

"As commander in chief of the army and navy I have directed that all measures be taken for our defense.

"Always will we remember the character of the onslaught against us.

"No matter how long it may take us to overcome this premeditated invasion, the American people in their righteous might will win thru to absolute victory.

"I believe I interpret the will of the congress and of the people when I assert that we will not only defend ourselves to the uttermost but will make very certain that this form of treachery shall never endanger us again.

"No Blinking at Fact."

"Hostilities exist. There is no blinking at the fact that our people, our territory, and our interests are in grave danger.

"With confidence in our armed forces—with the unbounding determination of our people—we will gain the inevitable triumph—so help us God.

"I ask that the congress declare that since the unprovoked and dastardly attack by Japan on Sunday, Dec. 7, a state of war has existed between the United States and the Japanese empire."

PRIVATE FLYERS ARE TOLD HOW TO RENEW LICENSES

The grounding of all private aviation in the United States was only a temporary measure, it was learned here yesterday.

A telegram establishing the method for reinstatement of the pilot licenses was dispatched from Washington, D. C., yesterday afternoon by D. H. Connolly, Civil Aeronautics authority administrator, who announced the grounding of all pilots Monday.

The telegram, framed after consultation with representatives of private flying groups, gave the following directions:

1. Pilots seeking reinstatement of their licenses may apply to any CAA flight inspector.

2. The pilots must show proof of citizenship by producing certified copies of birth certificates or other documents.

3. They must then satisfy the inspector that they are of unquestionable loyalty. The decision on this point rests with the inspector in question, altho appeals may be taken to higher authorities.

4. Reinstatement of licenses will allow pilots to resume flying of all properly licensed aircraft. There may, however, be special regulations for private flyers drawn up for the coastal areas of the country where special military precautions against surprise air raids already are in effect.

The ruling affects more than 80,000 private flyers. The only civilian craft in the skies yesterday were commercial air liners.

No official word in reference to amateur radio stations and their operators' licenses had been received at the Chicago office of the Federal Communication commission last evening. A news dispatch from Washington yesterday morning indicated the country's thousands of "ham" operators must call at least a temporary halt to their exchange of messages both by voice and code. As yet no orders have come here, an attendant said.

U. S. WILL KEEP UP SHIPMENTS OF LEND-LEASE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—The White House tonight accused Germany of inspiring the Japanese attack on the United States for the purpose of halting lend-lease shipments of war materials from the United States and declared Nazi leaders are doomed to disappointment, because lend-lease aid will continue.

The White House issued a formal statement pledging aid to Britain in an effort to offset German radio and press reports that lend-lease aid will end. Lend-lease aid now is going to Britain, Russia, China, and Turkey.

"Obviously Germany did all it could to push Japan into the war," the official statement said. "It was the German hope that if the United States and Japan could be pushed into war that such a conflict would put an end to the lend-lease program.

"As usual the wish is father to the thought behind the broadcasts and public announcements emanating from Germany with relation to the war and the lend-lease program.

"That such German broadcasts and announcements are continuously and completely 100 per cent inaccurate is shown by the fact that the lend-lease program is and will continue in full operation."

MAXWELL HOUSE GETS EXTRA-FLAVOR COFFEES FOR ITS FAMOUS BLEND!

Treat your family to the exquisite richness of rare coffees—Bucaramangas . . . Medellins . . . Manizales—in the blend no one has ever matched!

• Nowhere on earth has nature given coffee more ideal conditions for growth than in the high plateaus of Latin America.

There—nourished by rich volcanic soil . . . watered by abundant tropical rains . . . warmed by sparkling mountain sunshine—grow coffees unlike any others . . .

The famous Bucaramanga group—Bogotas . . . Cúcutas . . . Ibagués—noted for full body. The rich Medellins. The mellow Manizales. The vigorous Central and South Americans.

Only limited quantities of these great coffees have arrived in the United States this year. But, fortunately, Maxwell House has secured ample supplies.

And so in Maxwell House you are assured of a wealth of premium highland-grown coffees—skillfully blended to give you always the same marvelous mellow richness.

Try a tin soon. See for yourself why Maxwell House has become the largest-selling vacuum-packed coffee in the world.

Naturally, all coffee roasters—including ourselves—would like to put up a single "all-purpose" grind. But clever women know different coffee-making methods call for different grinds.

Therefore, Maxwell House offers 3 accurately correct grinds. Each is ground uniformly by precision grinders. This eliminates crushing, unevenness and waiting involved in store grinding.

Not only do you get better coffee by using the right Maxwell House grind for your coffee-making method, but you may also save money. Just compare the directions on the tins . . . Drip and Glass-Maker grinds give you the same richness with substantially less coffee than if you used Regular grind for these methods.

GOOD TO THE LAST DROP!

CONGRESS VOTES WAR ON JAPAN IN SPEEDY SESSION

Woman Member of House Sole Dissenter.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Moving with unprecedented dispatch and unanimity, congress today adopted a resolution declaring the existence of a state of war with Japan.

Legislative action on the war resolution was completed at 1:30 p. m., less than an hour after its simultaneous introduction in the senate and the house.

The senate vote was 82 to 0, and the 13 absent members [there is one vacancy] were announced as favoring the declaration. The house vote was 388 to 1, the lone dissenter being Montana's pacifist congresswoman, Jeannette Rankin, a Republican, who voted against the war with Germany in 1917.

The War Resolution.

The resolution, introduced in the senate by Sen. Tom Connally [D., Tex.], chairman of the foreign relations committee, and in the house by majority leader John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, follows:

"Whereas the imperial government of Japan has committed unprovoked acts of war against the government and the people of the United States of America; therefore be it

"Resolved by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that the state of war between the United States and the imperial government of Japan which has thus been thrust upon the United States is hereby formally declared; and the President is hereby authorized and directed to employ the entire naval and military forces of the United States and the resources of the government to carry on war against the imperial government of Japan, and, to bring the conflict to a successful termination, all of the resources of the country are hereby pledged by the congress of the United States."

F. D. R. Addresses Congress.

The resolution was adopted soon after President Roosevelt had requested the action in a solemn message in which he addressed a joint session of congress. Mr. Roosevelt branded Japan's attack "unprovoked and dastardly" and predicted "inevitable triumph" for America.

The President was ushered into the house chamber on the arm of his son, James, who was in the uniform of a captain of marines. He was accompanied to the capitol by a large detail of secret service men, his military and naval aides, Mrs. Roosevelt, Harry Hopkins, Judge Samuel Rosenman, and Robert Sherwood, the playwright.

The chamber was crowded with notables and every available inch of space on the floor had been occupied by noon. In front of the senators and representatives sat the members of the cabinet and the justices of the Supreme court.

Applause Punctuates Words.

The assemblage arose as Mr. Roosevelt entered. The President read his indictment of Japan in measured tones, and applause punctuated his words. When he concluded the throng stood up en massé and cheered until the President had left the chamber.

The house roll call was delayed some 20 minutes by two-minute speeches in which various members supplemented their votes with verbal castigations of Japan.

Sen. Connally sought to obtain senate approval of the war resolution without comment, but Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] demanded and exercised his right to make a brief statement.

Vandenberg Blasts Japs.

"Mr. President," he said, "out of peaceful Sunday skies—without a word of warning—yes, and even screened by the infamous treachery of pretended amity in Pacific negotiations at Washington—like an ambushed murderer—Japan has violated our soil, killed our citizens, struck at our possessions, assailed our sovereignty, and disclosed to us the pattern of a purpose which reeks with dishonor and with bloody aspirations. To the enemy, we answer—you have unsheathed the sword and by it you shall die!

"To the President of the United States, we answer: For the defense of all that is America, we salute the colors and we forward march! I am constrained to make this brief statement, on my own account, lest there be any lingering misapprehension in any furtive mind that previous internal disagreements regarding the wisdom of our policies may encourage the despicable hope that we may weaken from within. I have fought every trend which I thought would lead to needless war. But when war comes to us—and particularly when it comes like a thug in the night—I stand with my commander in chief for the swiftest and most invincible reply of which our total strength may be capable."

Acts in 15 Minutes.

The clerk called the roll immediately after Sen. Vandenberg concluded. The resolution had been submitted to the senate at 12:50 p. m., and the result was announced by Vice President Henry A. Wallace at 1:05 p. m.

Having thus disposed of the main business, the senate quickly passed two other war bills by unanimous consent. Sen. David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], chairman of the naval affairs committee, obtained passage of a bill authorizing the secretary of the navy, in time of war, to extend indefinitely all enlistments in the navy, the marine corps, the coast guard, and the reserve components thereof.

Sen. George L. Radcliffe [D., Md.], representing the commerce committee, obtained passage of a bill making it unlawful, until July 1, 1943, for any merchant vessel to employ any radio operator whose employment has been disapproved in writing by the secretary of the navy. The master and owners of vessels would be subject to fines of $1,000 each for violations.

Aimed at Union.

The bill is aimed at possible subversive activity by the communist dominated CIO Radio Operators' union, which controls communications in the American merchant marine.

Sen. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] asked Sen. Radcliffe whether the bill would "deal effectively with the fifth columnists who are now radio operators on our merchant ships." Radcliffe said it was the most effective measure the committee could devise. The bill was sent to the house for its consideration of a senate substitute.

When the senate plunged into a spirited debate on the subject of strikes in defense industries, the first reference was made on the floor to the question that everybody in congress is asking: Why did the army and the navy permit themselves to be surprised by the Japanese attack on Hawaii yesterday?

Holds Law Unneeded.

Sen. James E. Murray [D., Mont.] was arguing that anti-strike legislation is not required, now that the country is at war, because there will be no more strikes.

"Such legislation," he said, "assumes that there is going to be danger of strikes, and it seems to me that that is not a proper assumption."

"That was the trouble out in Hawaii yesterday," Sen. Connally replied. "The army and the navy did not suppose that the Japanese would come over and bomb them, but they did."

Sen. Elbert D. Thomas [D., Utah], chairman of the labor committee, explained his group took no action on the Smith anti-strike bill, which the house has passed, at a meeting this morning, but would begin consideration of the measure on Wednesday.

"We trust and we hope—and I am sure I express the opinion of the committee—that within the 48 hours between now and the time when the committee will again meet some action will have taken place on the part of capital and labor whereby a voluntary method of avoiding stoppages in our defense program may go into existence," Sen. Thomas said.

The debate on anti-strike legislation then turned into a pride-of-authorship dispute between Sen. Connally and Sen. Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.].

Shade Under 59 Minutes.

The house completed congressional action on the war resolution in a shade less than 59 minutes from the time President Roosevelt began reading his message to the joint session.

The roll call on the house resolution was completed at 1:27 p. m., as messengers from the senate arrived on the house floor to announce adoption of the senate resolution. By unanimous consent, the senate version immediately was substituted for that of the house, signed at exactly 1:30 p. m. by Speaker Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] and sent to the White House for the signature of the President.

With the parliamentary machinery moving with grim swiftness, Majority Leader McCormack had introduced the resolution in the house at the end of the joint session.

"Mr. Speaker, a dastardly attack has been made on us," McCormack cried, tossing his mane of shaggy gray hair. "This is the time for action."

There was a shattering burst of applause and an increasing clamor of "Vote!" "Vote!" "Vote!"

Miss Rankin, sitting in the last row of the chamber, was shouting and gesturing toward the rostrum.

Unable to Get Floor.

Her voice could not be heard, but it was plain she was trying to get the floor. In the next quarter of an hour she tried half a dozen more times, without success, to get recognition.

In all, eight members spoke, with the greatest ovations being accorded Reps. Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.], the minority leader, and Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], ranking minority member of the house foreign affairs committee and heretofore an outspoken opponent of the administration's foreign policies.

"No one hates war more than I," Martin declared. "Every night I have uttered a silent prayer that America might be spared active involvement in a frightful war. I know the horrors which come with war, the loss of lives, the sacrifices which must be made by all, the sadness and desolation it always brings.

Nation Challenged, Says Martin.

"America is challenged . . . we are compelled by this treacherous attack to go to war. From now on there can be no hesitation. There can be no peace until the enemy is made to pay in full measure for his dastardly crimes."

Fish recalled that altho he consistently has fought against American intervention in foreign wars he has stated that if this country was attacked and war declared by congress "in the constitutional way," he would support the President and the administration "to the bitter end."

Near the end, Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers [R., Mass.] brought another burst of applause when she said:

"In this tragic hour, let me remind you that American women, as well as the men, are brave and willing to make any sacrifice in order that we shall win. Thank God the country is united and marching forward to victory."

Rep. Harold Knutson [R., Minn.] and Samuel W. King, delegate from Hawaii, were seen in earnest conversation with Miss Rankin, who replied by determined shakes of her head. Knutson, who voted aye today, was one of the members of the present congress who voted against President Woodrow Wilson's war resolution in 1917.

Tears of 1917 Recalled.

It was recalled that when Miss Rankin's name was called on that historic occasion before the war declaration on imperial Germany she rose at her seat and declared:

"I'll stand by my country but I am against war," after which she collapsed in her seat weeping.

When her name was called today she replied with a firm negative. A scattering of hisses from the gallery was quelled quickly by a rap from the speaker's gavel. Miss Rankin afterward refused to be interviewed.

CHICAGOANS RUSH TO JOIN FORCES FIGHTING JAPAN

Fighting Mad!

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Thousands of Americans packed recruiting offices in every state of the union yesterday volunteering—even demanding—to don the naval and military uniforms of their nation and fight the Japanese. Everywhere, from coast to coast and from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada, enlistments in all branches of the nation's armed forces ran from 10 times to 100 times above the normal daily total in recent months. World war veterans, Spanish war veterans, and schoolboys with books under their arms stood in the long lines that formed in the streets of hundreds of cities.

Chicago rushed to the colors yesterday as approximately 2,000 men, 13 times the normal day's group and more than could be handled by present facilities, offered their services in recruiting headquarters of army, navy, marines, and air corps. Other hundreds swamped the headquarters with telephone calls inquiring necessary steps to get into the service.

More than 60 eager recruits waited at army recruiting offices at 8 o'clock yesterday morning when Lieut. Col. Edward F. Shaifer, in charge of recruiting, opened his office. Three hundred applicants had appeared late yesterday afternoon, 90 had been found eligible, 18 were sworn and started to Fort Sheridan.

150 Were Ineligible.

There were 150 found ineligible for service because they were too old, had physical infirmities, or wives and families to support. Two physicians and 13 clerks were at work and planned to remain at their posts as long as recruits were on hand.

Seven hundred fifty men sought to enlist in the navy at recruiting offices at the old postoffice building, according to Lieut. David N. Goldenson, chief recruiting officer. They were given application and many of them received preliminary examinations by midnight.

More than 125 recruits enlisted yesterday in the United States coast guard at the Chicago office in the federal courthouse, according to Chief Boatswain's Mate A. C. Stewart, in charge of the Chicago area. Five applicants were still awaiting examination at 1:30 a. m.

All Sunday night Policeman Rudolph A. Adamiec remained on guard at the United States courthouse as an assignment. At 8 o'clock yesterday morning he reported to the naval recruiting headquarters for enlistment. Another recruit was Robert Cooprider of Winthrop Harbor, who attained the minimum age of 17 on the day he reported.

Reënlists in Navy.

Myrne Roosevelt Patton, 22, of Lake City, Ia., who was discharged from the navy Sept. 10, reënlisted yesterday so he could rejoin his six brothers with whom he served on the U. S. S. Nevada in Pacific waters. Patton's father, formerly assigned to the Nevada with his sons, is now assigned to a recruiting station in Portland, Ore.

Lieut. Col. Chester L. Fordney, in charge of marine recruiting, said that 500 men, eight times the normal number, had reported yesterday afternoon. Many of them, he said, were men who had served in the marines. More than 80 had been accepted by midnight.

Area headquarters renewed yesterday its appeal to physicians and surgeons to fill the ranks of the medical corps. A call also was issued for nurses to volunteer for army service.

United States Declares War on Japan—Report Japs Land in Philippines—Air Raiders Blast Manila

Singapore island, at the tip of the Malayan peninsula, is the site of a great British fortress and naval base. It was reported bombed yesterday and early today by Japanese planes. Casualties in the first raid were said to have been at least 63 dead and 133 injured. The British announced, however, that little or no damage was done to military installations.

May Have Refueled Heavy Bombers in Midair.

The question, "How did the Japanese manage to make their raid on Hawaiian naval and army bases?" remained officially unanswered yesterday. But naval and aviation experts, after considering the geography of the Pacific ocean and reports from Honolulu, now believe they understand how this stunning blow at America's far western stronghold was launched.

The conclusion of all observers is that heavy land-based or flying boat bombers coöperated with lighter bombing planes from several Japanese carriers in carrying out the attack. Honolulu dispatches and radio reports mention repeatedly that "heavy bombers" were prominent in the attack. This is significant because there are no existing aircraft carriers off which heavy bi-motored bombing planes can fly.

Base 2,400 Miles Away.

The nearest Japanese islands whence land planes could have flown are the Marshall group, 2,400 miles southwest of Hawaii. These have been heavily fortified with the creation of many submarine and air bases since they were mandated to Japan after World war I.

It is possible that the heavy bombers took off from the Marshalls, flew to their destination, and joined nearby with lighter bombardment planes from one or more Japanese aircraft carriers. Then the entire group struck simultaneously.

It would be impossible for the Japanese heavy planes, which have a maximum range of not more than 3,000 miles, to return to the Marshalls without refueling. It may be that this loss of equipment was accepted and that the big land planes were allowed to alight on water near Japanese cruisers or destroyers who picked up the crews and allowed the planes themselves to sink.

On the other hand it is likely that the returning land planes could have been refueled in the air by flying gasoline tankers operating from the same aircraft carriers that launched the light bombers in the raid. Refueling aloft is a relatively easy operation for practiced airmen and the Japanese have become excellent pilots in four years of operations against the Chinese.

Seaplanes a Possibility.

Even if the land-based planes are eliminated it is possible that the heavy bombers were Japanese long-range flying boats. The Japanese have a fleet of several hundred such craft and are reported to possess up to 12 fast seaplane tenders. These tenders are surface vessels equipped to give bombs, fuel and repairs to large flying boats.

It was suggested by naval experts here that Japanese submarines could have been used as tenders in this instance. This method would be the one least likely to be discovered. Submarines would lie submerged by day, emerge at dusk, and set up a line of flares beside which flying boats could land, and then would have all night to complete the refueling and ammunition loading process.

SEEKS 1,000 MORE POLICEMEN TO AID CIVILIAN DEFENSE

Kelly Speeds Plans; Also Asks Firemen Boost.

Chicago prepared for war yesterday.

Governmental officials and citizens acted swiftly to fight the nation's enemy without and within.

Mayor Kelly, chairman of the Chicago Commission on National Defense, took the lead in organizing the defense plans. Summoning the 100 civilians of the commission to the city council chamber, he warned against sabotage that might extend to attempts to poison Chicago's water supply and to cripple defense manufacturing and public utilities.

Larger Police, Fire Forces.

The mayor announced that he will ask the city council at its meeting tomorrow to enlarge the personnel of the police and fire departments. James P. Allman, police commissioner, said that in view of the mayor's stand the police department will ask for 1,000 more policemen to raise the police force to 7,000.

Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan of the fire department said he will ask 800 additional firemen to increase the total to 3,200. These increases in the two departments would cost $3,800,000 a year.

The mayor directed the defense commission to choose a warden for every block in the city and instruct the wardens to become acquainted with every resident of the block and watch for subversive activities.

Wants 250,000 Enlisted.

Mayor Kelly said that the commission soon will be given adequate office quarters and urged that 250,000 Chicagoans be enlisted in its defense work.

Meanwhile, the police were ordered to guard defense industry plants, transportation systems and public buildings 24 hours a day. The utility companies disclosed they are taking every precaution to prevent the paralyzing of power and communication systems. The Illinois Bell Telephone company revealed it has radio sets mounted on trucks to be sent to any community in Chicagoland in case saboteurs cut off telephone communication.

Kelly Summons Meeting.

Mayor Kelly, who is also coördinator of civilian defense for the Chicago metropolitan area, called a meeting of the public officials of all the communities in the area to plan the defense of Chicagoland in the council chamber Thursday.

Army officers, many of whom have been wearing civilian dress, appeared in uniform yesterday.

State and county highway police placed strict guard over defense industry plants of the Chicago region, even at the cost of slackening other duties. All days off for the state and county policemen were canceled until further notice. Suburban police gave special attention to factories engaged in defense work.

LINDBERGH DEMANDS UNITY; ASSERTS U. S. MUST RETURN BLOW

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh urged yesterday that the American people turn every effort to build the greatest and most efficient army, navy and air force in the world. In a statement released thru the America First committee, Lindbergh said:

"We have been stepping closer to war for many months. Now it has come and we must meet it as united Americans regardless of our attitude toward the policy our government has followed. Whether or not that policy has been wise, our country has been attacked by force of arms and we must retaliate.

"Our own defenses and our military position have already been neglected too long. We must now turn every effort to building the greatest and most efficient army, navy and air force in the world. When American soldiers go to war it must be with the best equipment that modern skill can design and that modern industry can build."

ELECTRIC ROASTER STOLEN.

Burglars yesterday broke into Louis Solar's music and electric appliance shop at 3215 26th street, and stole an electric roaster valued at $44.

KELLY AID SEEKS OPM HELP FOR SMALL BUSINESS

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that he has sent T. T. McCrosky to Washington, D. C., to confer with Office of Production Management officials on the mayor's effort to aid the small business men of Chicago whose businesses are being ruined by the national defense program.

McCrosky is executive director of the Chicago Plan commission.

The mayor acted after receiving a letter from Floyd B. Odlum, OPM director, in which Odlum thanked the mayor for his coöperation and assured him that efforts are being made to help the small business man who is having difficulty obtaining manufacturing materials because of the priorities system.

ALL JAP ASSETS, 736 NATIONALS ARE SEIZED IN U. S.

Forbid Any of Enemies to Leave Country.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—All Japanese banks and businesses in the United States were seized today, 736 or more Japanese nationals taken into custody, and the country's borders sealed against the departure of any person of Japanese extraction.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau disclosed that agents under his orders had taken custody of the banks and business enterprises. The agents, he said, caught Japanese trying to remove $40,000 of securities from one San Francisco company affected by the seizure order.

He gave no estimate of the total property seized but it was known that Japanese assets in this country, including business, governmental, and private, amounted to about 130 million dollars. American Investments in Japan are about 240 million dollars.

Risk 10 Years in Prison.

Morgenthau warned that any one hiding or destroying, or helping anybody else to hide or destroy, any of the Japanese property ordered seized would be risking 10 years in prison.

The office of export control barred all exports to Japan and its occupied territories by revoking all licenses for such shipments. In addition, the treasury banned transactions between Americans and nationals of Latin America or any other countries in cases where Japanese might benefit.

Disclosure that 736 Japanese aliens—391 in Hawaii and 345 in the United States—were seized within a few hours after the first bombing attacks in the Pacific was made by Attorney General Francis Biddle who said that the Federal Bureau of Investigation was continuing its program. It was estimated that fewer than 1,000 Japanese, about 1 in 100 within America, were marked for detention.

Those taken into custody were being turned over to the immigration service, which immediately established temporary detention stations, principally on the west coast. Some officials felt that later those held as "enemy aliens" would be turned over to the army for safe keeping.

Jap Cases to FBI Only.

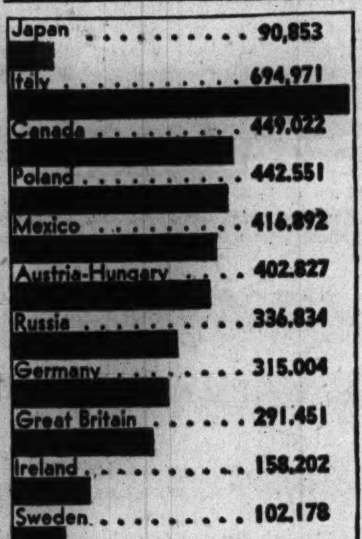
As the department disclosed its barriers at the border, approximately 2,000 immigration border patrolmen and special inspectors were ordered to constant duty. At the same time, all offices of United States attorneys were put on a 24 hour basis.

United States attorneys were instructed to advise state and local authorities that all complaints against Japanese nationals were to be handled only thru the FBI.

The FBI is acting under a Presidential proclamation calling for the arrest of Japanese aliens "who are dangerous to the peace and security of the country."

Meanwhile, over the country, and particularly in Washington, wartime safeguards against sabotage and espionage were put into effect.

Aliens in America



The number of Japanese citizens residing in the United States (solid black) and in Hawaii (shaded) compared with nationals of other countries living in America.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The justice department's alien registration showed 50,853 Japanese citizens residing in continental United States, 40,000 in Hawaii, and "a few" in Alaska. Italy topped the list of aliens in America with 694,971, followed by Canada with 449,022; Poland, 442,551; Mexico, 416,892; Austria-Hungary, 402,827; Russia, 366,834; Germany, 315,004; Great Britain, 291,451; Ireland, 158,202, and Sweden, 102,178.

U. S. PARALYZES ALL JAP TRADE IN MIDDLE WEST

Moves Swiftly to Thwart Transfer of Assets.

Government orders banning all Japanese financial transactions were executed swiftly and with paralyzing effect yesterday in the middle west after two divisions of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, the treasury's fiscal agency, had worked all Sunday night preparing the way.

Treasury guards, acting in some instances before dawn, took over six Japanese places of business in Chicago to prevent the owners from moving in or out. Thruout the five state 7th federal reserve district, as well as the rest of the nation, no Japanese could pay a bill or a debt by check, make a bank deposit, open a safety deposit box, deliver or receive any financial document or otherwise engage in monetary transactions.

Young Given Instructions.

At 5 p. m. Sunday, Clifford S. Young, president of the Chicago reserve bank, received his first message of instruction while 36 guests were being entertained at his home.

Young left immediately for the bank. The foreign funds control division, headed by Neil Dawes and his assistant, Leland Foster, and the code division, headed by Ralph Huntington, hurried to the bank to relay instructions to commercial banks in the district and to the other federal reserve banks in districts west of Chicago.

Bankers in principal cities and in university towns where there are Japanese students were called during the night and warned not to permit Japanese to make transactions of any kind.

Jap Assets Substantial.

The amount of Japanese assets in this reserve district is not known but is "substantial," bank officials said. In Chicago, they said, the Japanese businesses affected are mostly food processing houses and art stores.

Japanese assets were frozen earlier in the year in an order which, however, affected only Japanese nationals who had not been residents of America prior to June, 1940.

Reserve bank officials indicated they expected that the treasury later will issue specific licenses under which Japanese individuals will be permitted to obtain funds for necessities. Until Sunday, Japanese individuals and firms had been permitted to engage in limited transactions under a general license. The new orders revoked these general licenses.

TELLS WHAT IT TAKES TO BE A GOOD AVIATOR

A good airplane pilot should be able to see objects at night with one-half the light necessary to the average person and should have a sufficiently large field of vision to catch the tiniest gleam in a darkened visual field.

This opinion was given yesterday by Dr. Charles Sheard, director of the division of biophysical research at the Mayo Foundation in Rochester, Minn., in a paper presented to the annual meeting of the American Academy of Optometry in the Morrison hotel.

Night blindness is caused in many cases, Dr. Sheard said, by nutritional factors forcing the retina of the eye to operate less efficiently due to a decreased amount of vitamin A. This vitamin may be supplied, he said, thru milk, eggs, cream, carrots, all fresh vegetables, and thick steaks.

STUDENT, SLATED TO JOIN NAVY AIR ARM, KILLS SELF

Robert Allman, 22 years old, student aeronautical engineer who was scheduled to enter the naval air service in five days, was found shot to death in his bedroom last night by his father, who went in to call him to dinner. The family home is at 5555 Everett avenue and the father is a cold storage executive and member of the board of trade.

Young Allman had registered in the draft and was deferred as a student at the Aeronautical University, Inc., 1338 South Michigan avenue. He was to have completed his course Dec. 13 and planned to enter the navy at once, his father, George Dudley Allman, told police.

The elder Allman said his son had been seriously depressed four years ago by the death of his mother. His maternal grandmother visited him yesterday, Allman said, and the son had been moody and depressed afterward. Allman is general manager or a director of a number of cold storage companies in Chicago, Michigan, and Missouri.

HAWAII OFFICIAL HERE, IS SHOCKED BY WAR ON ISLES

Joseph V. Hodgson, attorney general of Hawaii since 1938, stopped briefly at the Chicago airport last night on his way to San Francisco by United Air Lines plane, where he plans to catch the Clipper to Honolulu.

The Japanese attack on Hawaii "is a terrible blow—incredible, inconceivable!" he told reporters. "There was tension there several weeks ago when I left on my vacation, but no hint of the tragedy that has struck."

Hodgson, a resident of the islands for 16 years, said he talked to officials in Honolulu by telephone, but that the conversations were censored and he was unable to learn any details of the bombing.

SAN FRANCISCO GETS A SERIES OF AIR RAID SCARES

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 8 [Special].—Residents of several Pacific coast cities, particularly San Francisco, were subjected tonight to a surprise air raid test that simulated with terrifying nearness a night attack on continental United States.

After cities had been blacked out, radio stations silenced and interceptor planes sent up to race across the searchlight pierced sky; after police and air raid wardens had sped from house to house ordering lights turned off, and telephone communications between San Francisco and other cities had been cut off, and fears had been heightened by the continuous deafening scream of scores of fire sirens—the war department announced it was only a test.

Then a Second Alarm.

Forty minutes after an "all clear" signal had concluded the army's test, there came a second alarm, involving reports that enemy aircraft were approaching San Francisco from over the ocean. Brig. Gen. William Ord Ryan of the 4th Interceptor command, said a large number of unidentified planes came toward the Golden Gate and were sighted and driven back to sea.

He refused to say they were Japanese planes, but he asserted they were not army, navy or civilian craft. He said the navy had sent out three vessels to find out where they came from.

Mayor Angelo J. Rossi tonight said that Maj. Gen. John L. De Witt, commander of the 4th army, had confirmed to him personally that planes, supposedly enemy craft, had tried to approach the city.

[In Washington early today the war department said it had no information enemy planes had attempted an attack on the west coast.]

Citizens Easily Aroused.

For several reasons it was not difficult to rouse folks during these alarms to the belief that they faced actual attack. The whole Pacific coast, determined not to be caught napping, was strengthening its defenses against sabotage and the possibility of aerial attack. The army's test came in the midst of rumors that enemy aircraft carriers were lurking off the west coast.

Only a few hours before Mayor Angelo Rossi of San Francisco had announced that in spite of a blackout order issued for the Pacific northwest, none was contemplated for this area.

There was no hint of a practice warning in the announcement of Chief of Police Charles W. Dullea's office that it had been informed by the army air corps interceptor group's office at 6:20 p. m. [PST] that 50 unidentified planes were approaching San Francisco from the southwest. A short time later came a report that one or more vessels of undetermined origin also were approaching.

All radios in this area and in Los Angeles immediately went off the air. The bay area, particularly all bridges, was blacked out. Street lights in downtown San Francisco were turned off. Police officers ordered motorists to turn off their lights. Fire sirens sounded.

Mrs. Marie Sayre, 27 years old, was shot and wounded by a home guardsman during the blackout when a car in which she was riding did not stop at the Bay bridge at the guard's signal.

At Los Angeles, where radio stations were silenced, the police department reported receipt of a communication from the air raid warning service declaring "attacks from enemy planes, surface vessels, and submarines are imminent tonight."

The commandant of the 11th naval district tonight advised that it might be advisable to blackout San Diego "at any moment" and urged citizens to stay at home.

The warning extended up the coastline to Victoria, British Columbia, where a complete blackout of coastal British Columbia and the lower mainland was ordered.

ROBBED OF $80 COLLECTIONS.

Isadore Spiegel, 5323 Cottage Grove avenue, complained to police last night that two men held him up for $80 at 13518 Avenue M, which he had collected earlier for an insurance company.

HALT SALE OF GAS FOR PRIVATE USE IN NEW ZEALAND

War Cabinet Takes Step in Buying Stampede.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Dec. 8.—New Zealand's first reaction to the Japanese declaration of war on Great Britain and the United States was to stampede gasoline stations, with the result that the government at 2 p. m. halted the sale of gasoline to private vehicles.

The move to conserve fuel was the first action taken by the war cabinet, which was in session all day considering precautionary measures.

"Fooling Too Long."

The man in the street greeted the Japanese war declarations almost with relief. Crowds around bulletin boards outside newspaper offices said: "Well, at least now we know where we stand. We have been fooling around with the Japs too long, anyway."

Aside from the rush for gasoline, there seemed to be little excitement here. The New Zealander has the feeling that his Uncle Sam is going to take care of the Japanese, and he needn't worry too much.

Parliament Session Likely.

Among the precautionary measures expected is the introduction of the complete blackout instead of the semi-blackout now in force.

Opposition members have asked the government to summon parliament, and it is expected that the decision to do so will be announced shortly.

YANKS IN THE RAF ANXIOUS TO GET INTO U. S. ARMY

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Many Americans serving with the British forces, including members of the Eagle squadron of the Royal Air force, are eager to get into the United States fighting forces and if their transfer can be effected they will offer themselves to Uncle Sam.

Less than 24 hours after Japan struck a number of Americans inquired at the embassy whether it would be possible for them to fight under the Stars and Stripes. Embassy officials could only reply that they had no instructions. A British spokesman said "there has hardly been time to think of such matters."

Between 15,000 and 20,000 Americans are in this country or the middle east, most of them serving with the Canadians. It is believed at least 10,000 more are in training in Canada.

EXPECT BRITAIN TO CALL UP HER SUBJECTS IN U. S.

Hollywood Stars Will Be Included, Report.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 8.—Following Britain's declaration of war upon Japan, voted unanimously by parliament today after a dramatic speech by Prime Minister Winston Churchill, it was reported that all British subjects of military age in the United States will be called to the colors.

This will include Hollywood actors and actresses, according to the Evening Standard political correspondent. They may be allowed the choice of enlisting in the American or British armies. Those preferring the forces of their homeland will be sent to Canada, it is suggested.

Altho the liability of women to serve will become the same as that of men when the new conscription bill is passed in parliament this week, the Standard correspondent adds that British girls in the United States may not be called up immediately.

Embassy Puts On War Paint.

American authorities and British diplomatic representatives are said to be coöperating in arrangements for calling up British subjects of military age.

The American embassy in London put on war paint today and for the first time all military and naval attachés and observers wore uniforms. They received orders not to wear civilian clothes.

For the first time, also, American marines were on guard at the entrances of the embassy in Grosvenor square. Even United States Ambassador John G. Winant had to show credentials before he was permitted to enter. Hitherto, the marines had only done night duty.

Churchill Tells of F. D. R. Talk.

In his speech to parliament Prime Minister Churchill said that as soon as he had heard of the Japanese attacks he "spoke to Roosevelt on the Atlantic telephone with a view to arranging a time for our respective declarations."

Then, after reviewing what the British government and the Dutch East Indies already had done in preparation for war in the far east, he said amid cheers:

"We can only feel that Hitler's madness has infected Japanese minds and that the root of the evil and its branch must be extirpated together."

Talks to World by Radio.

The prime minister said tonight in a radio address to the world that "we are fighting for maintenance of the parliamentary system." He said that, therefore, his first thought after hearing of Japan's attacks in the Pacific was to call the house of commons. The prime minister followed the same general lines of his speech to the house of commons.

He recalled Mr. Roosevelt's personal appeal to Emperor Hirohito—and how that appeal had been answered.

"Now that the issue is joined, and in the most direct manner," he went on, "it only remains for two great democracies to face their task with whatever strength God may give them.

"We may hold ourselves very fortunate, and I think we may rate our affairs not wholly ill-guided, that we were not attacked alone by Japan in our period of weakness after Dunkirk."

Then, in a confident conclusion, Churchill thus predicted triumph:

"We have no need to doubt the justice of our cause or that our strength and willpower will be sufficient to sustain it. We have four-fifths of the population of the world on our side.

"In the past, our light has flickered; today it flames; in the future there will be a light that shines over all lands and seas."

House of Lords Crowded.

Churchill's statement, followed by two short speeches from party leaders, was among the great solemn proceedings of this body.

Sir Percy Harris, speaking for the Liberals, in approving the prime minister's declaration, remarked that many believed that since the United States is now "in a shooting war, our obligations and dangers are lessened," whereas "of course, the exact contrary is the case."

In contrast to the house of commons, which had many empty seats, the red benches of the house of lords were crowded when Lord Moyne, secretary of state for the colonies, made the government's statement of the declaration of war. Moyne drew cheers when he stated baldly:

"Parliament has merely to take note of the fact that a state of war now exists."

Forty Japs Are Interned.

Scotland Yard officers arrested and interned 40 Japanese subjects in London today. Other aliens who have had the prefix "enemy" attached to their classification are 3,000 Hungarians, 1,500 Rumanians, and 450 Finns.

A home office announcement made it obligatory for every Japanese subject over 16 years of age in this country to report immediately at the nearest police station. Beside embassy and consular staffs the majority are attached either to two banks or Japanese commercial concerns.

The Japanese club in Cavendish square was locked and no one answered the door bell. The doors of the Yokohama specie bank at Bishopsgate were closed, and a notice was posted saying "This bank will not open pending clarification of the situation."

F. D. R., LITVINOV CONFER ON REDS' ROLE IN PACIFIC

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—Maxim Litvinov, newly arrived soviet ambassador, today called at the state department to arrange presentation of his credentials to Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

Late in the afternoon the chunky soviet envoy presented the credentials at the White House and conferred for 40 minutes with President Roosevelt on the rôle Russia will play in the Pacific theater of the war. Litvinov, who arranged United States recognition of Russia with the President in 1933, said the talk was informal and covered the political situation as a whole as well as the Pacific crisis.

The soviets are reported to have about 100 submarines and an unknown number of aircraft based at Vladivostok. It also has naval and air bases in eastern Siberia.

ONLY DRIVE THAT DOES ALL OF YOUR SHIFTING, ALL OF THE TIME, THROUGH FOUR FORWARD SPEEDS

No half-way measures about Hydra-Matic! It's the world's only combination of liquid coupling and four-forward-speed automatic transmission. It's the only drive that completely eliminates conventional clutch, clutch pedal and all manual gear shifting. Come, try it in the Oldsmobile B-44—a car that's stamina-styled to stay young and stamina-built to give extra years and extra thousands of miles of fine, dependable performance.

"Trade-ins" apply on down payments. Monthly payments are available.

DEFENSE COMES FIRST AT OLDSMOBILE!
Production is now going full speed ahead on high-caliber artillery shell and automatic airplane cannon. Other defense projects are on the way. With remaining facilities, Oldsmobile is building cars in limited quantity.

Compare—
ANY OTHER DRIVE WITH HYDRA-MATIC*

☐ Does It Provide Fully Automatic Shifting?
Hydra-Matic is the only drive on the market that gives completely automatic shifting through four forward speeds.

☐ Does It Eliminate the Clutch Pedal?
Hydra-Matic is the original "no-clutch" drive—you never push a clutch because there's no clutch pedal at all in the car.

☐ Does It Eliminate the Conventional Clutch Mechanism?
Hydra-Matic is the only drive on the market that completely eliminates the old, conventional clutch mechanism!

☐ Does It Save Substantially on Gasoline?
Actual engineering tests prove that Hydra-Matic saves 10 to 15 per cent on gas over a standard transmission.

☐ Does It Save Wear on the Engine?
Hydra-Matic's fourth gear gives direct drive with 25% fewer engine revolutions per mile than a standard transmission, thus definitely reducing engine wear.

☐ Can It Be Locked in Gear on Hills?
Hydra-Matic can be locked by leaving control lever in reverse. It is the only new drive with this safety feature.

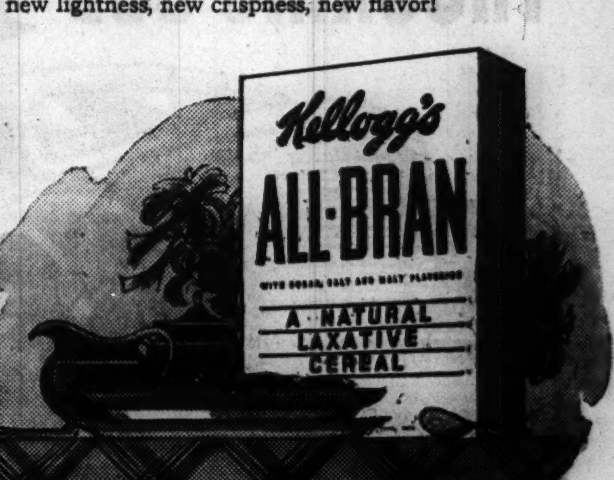
It's an Old American Custom

Remember the first movies? They flickered and jumped all over the screen. But we thought they were wonderful! No one could imagine, then, the technicolor talkies of 1941.

We dare say folks were thrilled when Dobbin first drew a horse-car. But transportation didn't stop improving. Think of the sleek buses today.

Making a good thing better is an old American custom! And it's an old custom of KELLOGG'S, world-famous makers of cereals. Over the last 25 years untold Americans have praised the goodness of KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. But now a marvelous bran from one of the world's softest wheats gives ALL-BRAN new lightness, new crispness, new flavor!



Your grocer now has the improved "golden soft" ALL-BRAN. You'll find it just as effective and twice as delicious as any ALL-BRAN you've ever tasted. If you'd like to ward off constipation due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, eat ALL-BRAN every day, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars"!

ARGENTINE PORTS OFFERED TO U. S. FOR USE IN WAR

Uruguay and Colombia Plan Similar Action.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 8 (AP).—Argentina announced tonight a plan to permit the United States to use Argentine ports in the war against Japan, as other Latin American nations quickly rallied to the side of the United States either with outright war declarations or with firm pledges of loyalty.

Uruguay and Colombia planned to take the same action as Argentina, that is, to consider the United States a nonbelligerent and open their harbors to the United States fleet in line with Pan-American mutual defense obligations under the Havana accord of 1940.

Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu of Argentina said the cabinet would consider the nonbelligerency resolution tomorrow and abstain from the "customary declaration of neutrality" in this war.

"Argentina," he said, "is ready to support the United States in reciprocal defensive coöperation."

Foreign Ministers to Meet.

Chile announced the United States had accepted her suggestion for a conference of the foreign ministers of the 21 American republics to confront the grave new challenge of Japan in the Pacific.

Oswaldo Aranha, Brazilian foreign minister, also had suggested the conference.

When asked if Brazil planned a declaration of war against Japan, Aranha said, "No," adding that "our attitude is one of full coöperation in the Pan-American system and fulfilment of our agreements. The United States can count on Brazil to do her part."

Eight Nations Declare War.

Eight countries—Costa Rica, Honduras, Guatemala, El Salvador, Haiti, Nicaragua, Panama, and the Dominican Republic—declared war on Japan.

Colombia and Mexico broke off diplomatic relations with Japan. In Mexico City the Japanese legation staff was reported burning its secret documents.

Strong infantry and cavalry forces were ordered tonight to strategic points on the Pacific and Gulf of Mexico coasts. All naval leaves were canceled.

Chile ordered naval measures to protect her coast and the Magellan straits, and notified the United States that her action was in line with hemisphere defense.

Peru promptly froze Japanese funds, and President Jorge Prado Ugarteche met his cabinet and declared Peru's solidarity with the United States.

Colombians Seize 2 Ships.

Colombia also seized two Italian tankers at Cartagena, the Rapallo, 5,812 tons, and the Anteo, 6,972 tons. They had been refuged in the port since Italy entered the war.

Colombians with placards demanding "war against Japan" demonstrated before the United States embassy in Bogota, and an informant said there would be a declaration of solidarity with Washington. A platoon of police was assigned to the embassy.

President Batista of Cuba and his cabinet both asked the national congress to declare war on Japan and both houses will act on the proposals tomorrow.

The liberal leader in the Cuban house of representatives told a rally of 50,000 persons tonight that congress will declare war on Japan, Italy, and Germany within 48 hours.

DOCTORS DEFER OPERATION TO AID PARALYZED MAN

The unusual operation scheduled for yesterday to save John Tauber, 26 years old, from being hospitalized for the rest of his life, has been postponed indefinitly because of the illness of the donor who was to contribute tissue for the operation.

Dr. Ole C. Nelson, assistant warden of County hospital, where the operation was to be performed, said the donor developed a fever. A strip of tissue about 10 inches long and one and one-half inches wide will be taken from the donor's thigh and used to rebuild Tauber's elbow joint.

Tauber's back and right arm were crushed in an automobile accident two years ago and he is paralyzed from his chest to his toes. Because of the paralysis, his tissue cannot be used to repair the elbow. It is believed the operation will give him the use of his right arm and enable him to get around on crutches.

Censors Shut Off News to Axis; U.S. Papers Get Restrictions

Alien Press Hit

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—Naval censors today formally prohibited sending of news to Germany, Italy, Finland and Japan. This confirmed an emergency order to all communication companies yesterday afternoon which halted all wireless and telephone traffic with Berlin and Rome except press association messages to their correspondents.

Both Domei [Japanese news agency] and DNB [Deutsches Nachrichtenburo, official German agency] ceased sending news to their countries yesterday afternoon as soon as censors could act after the United States government announced Japan had attacked Hawaii.

The Domei office was closed last night and police took possession of it this morning.

Germans Hoped to Reopen.

The DNB office remained open, expecting that the interruption of service to Germany would be temporary.

Announcement of the ban on news to Germany, Italy, Japan, and Finland was made by Radio Corporation of America which handles most of the traffic to those countries. Officials of RCA said their instructions were formal and ordered cancelation of news dispatches previously accepted and awaiting the censors' approval for transmission.

News continued to come normally today from Berlin, Rome and Helsingfors to the Associated Press and there was no indication that there would be any restrictions on that news. The Associated Press could send messages freely to its correspondents in those capitals.

Tokio News by Radio.

From Tokio there have come only official Japanese broadcasts picked up here by the Associated Press radio listening post. The Associated Press correspondents in Tokio apparently have not been allowed to file dispatches since some time before Japan began the war.

Imposition of the United States naval censorship on all news and messages coming into the United States or going out completed a network of official control that covers the world.

Germany remains the principal country where there is no physical censorship, where a correspondent may send what he wishes but is held strictly responsible for it.

Army and Navy Act

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—Wartime bans on disclosure of information deemed of possible value to the enemy were invoked today by the navy and army.

The navy disclosed it would enforce the espionage act of 1918 providing heavy penalties for willful disclosure of such information.

The war department extended its ban on military information to include information relating to the routes, schedules, and destinations of troop movements within or without the continental United States.

In a memorandum to the press, the department said:

"Information tending to disclose the number of troops, designation of units and disposition of forces overseas is restricted.

"Information as to movements of transports within or without territorial waters is restricted.

"Casualty lists will, if possible, include home addresses, but will not include designation of units."

Withhold News on Contracts.

Jesse Jones, federal loan administrator, today said his agency would discontinue releasing information on all defense subjects, including contracts for new defense plants in this country.

Such information, he said, might be useful to enemies.

The maritime commission asked that nothing be published or disseminated "concerning the movement, position, cargo, or destination of any merchant vessel in any waters."

Rear Adm. Arthur J. Hepburn, chief of the navy's bureau of public relations, said news coverage would proceed on the voluntary censorship basis adopted after the outbreak of hostilities in Europe but would be backed up with enforcement under the espionage law.

All outgoing cables, he said, were under censorship and cables from Hawaii and the Philippines were being censored at the source.

Explains Delay in Islands.

He attributed delay in delivery of cable news dispatches from Honolulu and Manila to the heavy movement of messages and to new personnel handling such messages. Hepburn said, however, this situation would be straightened out in a short time by increasing the personnel in the office of navy intelligence.

Adm. Hepburn said the navy would not release any list of navy casualties until relatives had been notified and names had been carefully checked and certified by the bureau of navigation.

He requested American newspapers to refrain from publishing, without clearance by the navy, stories from members of crews or their families. He said the navy would ask that the use of the names of ships or naval units be withheld because they would identify naval movements.

LONDON PAPERS INSIST U. S. FIGHTS THE ENTIRE AXIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 9 [Tuesday].—Despite the fact that President Roosevelt omitted Germany and Italy from his appeal to congress for a declaration of war, at least three London dailies take it for granted this morning that America is in the war against the entire axis.

The United States "must not imagine herself even temporarily at war against Japan alone," states the Daily Herald. "America is at war with Germany, without whose encouragement Japan would never have contemplated this challenge, without whose orders the challenge would never have been uttered."

"Inside Information," widely quoted column of the Daily Sketch, announces that a "full military and naval alliance between Britain and the United States will be announced shortly." The writer adds, "A joint war committee on which all the fighting services of both countries will be represented, will be formed to coördinate the action against the Japanese."

U. S. MUST FIGHT WITH ALL IT HAS, HOOVER ASSERTS

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—Former President Herbert Hoover issued the following statement tonight regarding the war situation:

"American soil has been treacherously attacked by Japan. Our decision is clear. It is forced upon us. We must fight with everything we have. I have opposed the foreign policies of our government. I have believed alternative policies would have been better. But whatever our differences of view may be as to the causes which led to this situation, those are matters to be threshed out by history.

"Today there is just one job before the American people. We must defeat this invasion by Japan and we must fight it in any place that will defeat it. Upon this job we must have and will have unity in America. We must have and will have support for the President of the United States in this war to defend America. We will have victory."

ASKS SEPARATION FROM DIRECTOR OF WATCH FIRM

Suit for separate maintenance was filed in the Lake county Circuit court at Waukegan yesterday by Mrs. Mary Lillian Laflin, 27 years old, against her husband, Lloyd Alan Laflin, 38, a director of the Elgin Watch company.

The Laflins were married in May, 1939, and separated last July 15 because, Mrs. Laflin's suit charges, the husband was guilty of continuous abuse and personal violence toward her thruout their married life.

The bill states he is wealthy, has three homes—one at 1448 Lake Shore drive—maintains three automobiles and three airplanes, a seaplane base at Fox Lake, belongs to six expensive clubs, and has so large an income from stocks and bonds that he doesn't have to work. Mrs. Laflin is staying with friends at 434 North Washington road, Lake Forest.

U. S. CENSORS ALL MESSAGES TO WAR ZONES

Cable companies were accepting messages yesterday, subject to government censorship, and reported a capacity business to the Philippines and Hawaii. The wires of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, however, had been commandeered for telephone calls to the war zone.

Censorship required that all messages be written in English, fully addressed and signed, and with the text fully understandable. Code signatures and addresses were taboo, and all messages were accepted at the risk of the sender.

Censors in San Francisco.

Officials of Western Union said they were swamped with messages bound for the war zone and could not estimate how many they had piled up for transmission. They said that messages were being moved to San Francisco, where the censors are located, and they did not know whether they were getting thru.

Thomas E. Manning, traffic manager of Postal Telegraph company, reported a heavy file and said cables were going to the headquarters on the west coast. It was reported few messages were getting thru to Guam, and none to Wake and Midway Islands, said to be in the hands of the invaders.

Messages to Manila.

James Chatterton, manager of Mackay Radio, said the company is accepting messages to and from Manila by radio, and to Honolulu. The radio, however, is down in Honolulu, he reported, and the company is getting confirmation by cable of radio messages sent.

Jack Kaufman, executive vice president of Globe Wireless, and W. V. Moore, manager of RCA Communications, Inc., said they were accepting messages subject to censorship and were getting thru except to Midway and Wake Islands.

Radio Service Intact.

A. T. and T. officials said government messages were going thru over telephone wires to Hawaii and the Philippines. From San Francisco the messages are being moved by radio to the Mutual Telephone company in Hawaii and to the Philippine Long Distance Telephone company in the Philippines.

Rates for all companies are 21 cents a cable word to Honolulu; 10½ cents a word for deferred messages which are sent when wires are clear, and 75 cents for 2 5words or less night letter.

SPEAKERS TELL WHAT U.S. SHOULD HAVE AFTER WAR

Fifteen organizations which, until America was attacked on Sunday, had represented all shades of opinion on American foreign policy met last night in Orchestra hall to hear three speakers discuss the things they think America should demand when the new World war is over. All three speakers were Methodist ministers, but they represented the extremes of pacifism to war against all totalitarianism.

Dr. Ernest Fremont Tittle of the First Methodist church, Evanston, gave the pacifist view. Some months ago Dr. Tittle had pronounced "I will not support any kind of war by the United States." He refused last night to say whether he had changed his mind.

Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk of the Federal Council of Churches, supposed to be a middle of the roader, urged revival of the league of nations. Dr. Frank Kingdon of the New York Committee to Defend America and Fight for Freedom, pooh-poohed both the other speakers and asked: "A peace conference with whom?"

The meeting passed a resolution calling upon President Roosevelt to name a commission to study an equitable world peace.

—Stephen Decatur.

JAPAN'S PERFIDY UNITES THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

prolonged American interposition in the affairs of Asia, beginning when Manchuria was invaded, there has been divided opinion in the United States.

Sentiment ran strongly against the Japanese because to most Americans they seemed to be using their superior military strength to devastate lands and destroy people who had committed no other offense than to desire to form their own government and lead their own lives.

The ruthlessness with which the Japanese used this superior strength was offensive to people who may not have grasped all the realities of Asiatic problems. Nevertheless, there was a body of opinion in this country which held that it was not the province of the United States to extend itself as a crusader for better ideals and more humane treatment of remote peoples.

Detestable as some of the enterprises seemed, it did not appear to all Americans that they should make a supreme sacrifice to correct what they thought was evil wherever it stuck up its ugly head. These differences of opinion prevailed up until the moment when the startled American nation discovered that while Mr. Hull was talking to the Japanese ambassador and the special peace missionary the Japanese were bombing American possessions and killing American soldiers, sailors, and civilians, sinking American ships, and inviting this country to a war of extermination.

This initial tactical success of the Japanese united the American people as nothing else could have done. They have sunk all their differences of opinion. They are now firmly united to prosecute the war which the Japanese had begun by a piece of characteristic perfidy.

If Japan had broken off negotiations and had sent the United States an ultimatum demanding that its economic warfare stop, with the alternative of a declared war, Americans might have thought that there had been injudicious diplomacy in Washington which had brought this about. They might have continued to disagree as to the wisdom of their government's far eastern policy. But Japan itself eliminated that question. The treachery of the whole proceeding, the duplicity and bad faith have erased all dispute in the United States as to the foreign policy in the far east. The American losses in this unexpected attack, which will dishonor Japan in the opinion of all Americans, unites and solidifies the people of this country in support of a conflict in which it will be determined to win. The Japanese high command has outwitted itself. Its slant-eyed scrutiny of American psychology will prove to be very costly to the military government which sought a military advantage without counting the ultimate cost.

We do not expect that final success will be an easy one to accomplish. Thoughtful people have no vainglorious ideas about the situation into which we have been so precipitately plunged. Ideas regarding Japanese vulnerability will be entertained only by foolish minds. But we think that Japan will pay for its mistake and we know that America is now as one. Its task is before it and from the demands of that task the American people will not turn back. The morale of the United States is made perfect and an undivided people will go forward until they have not only avenged the perfidy but have made Japan feel the consequences of what it has permitted its insane militarists to do.

CHICAGO'S TAXES.

Ever since the country began to feel the financial burden of rearmament, the lesson has been dinned home to state and local officials that they must cut their expenditures. Only so can additional taxpaying capacity be created for the essential purpose of defense. War, of course, must inevitably make the defense burden heavier, thus increasing the necessity for local economy. It is to be hoped that some of the urgency of the war situation will communicate itself to state and local officials. So far they have done more talking than acting.

Chicago faces this imperative duty with an advantage that most other communities lack. It is an advantage that until now has been a liability —Cook county's mountain of delinquent taxes. Collection of these taxes will make it easier for the great majority of Chicago taxpayers to meet the necessary federal imposts that are coming. It will level off the taxpaying burden as the law has always contemplated that it should be equalized, forcing contributions from those who until now have evaded their responsibility.

The county government is going to make a budget this year that in all probability will be balanced in name only, using fictitious bookkeeping to postpone the day of reckoning. The city has millions in unpaid bills and in consequence a wretched credit rating that boosts prices of all it buys. School finances are a mess, with no hope of restoring teachers' pay cuts. The sanitary district is slipping into debt after a decade of creditable financial administration. Even well administered governments in many of the suburbs are feeling the financial pinch keenly.

All of these governments must reduce their expenditures. They must abandon many of their services to the public and operate the remaining, most essential ones, with greater efficiency. But there is a limit to what can be accomplished by economy. The big task of Chicago local governments, the biggest task the community of Chicago faces today within its own gates, is the collection of the delinquent taxes.

George O. Fairweather and C. L. Perkins published last week in the Real Estate Magazine a study of the delinquent tax problem. They find that of every $100 billed to taxpayers, and every $100 paid by taxpayers who meet their bills in full, only $79 goes for the purposes for which they are taxed.

The remaining $21 is lost as follows: For collection costs, $2; for reduction of tax bills by the courts, of which two-thirds can be eliminated by better tax administration, $6; for the failure of public officials to do their duty in the collection of taxes, $13. Of this last sum, the writers estimate that at least $8, and probably more, could be collected if officers were on their toes.

That is the picture as reflected by a $100 tax bill. In total, the figures are fantastic. During the last 13 years we have been losing an average of $30,000,000 a year thru collection failures, and an additional $13,000,000 a year in assessment reductions. The total of delinquent taxes still legally collectible is more than $379,000,000.

Mr. Perkins charges that "local government officials do not have any intelligent concern for real estate . . . have a sloppy, careless revenue administration . . . their books of account have been inadequate . . . their system of collection leaves a wide open door for all manner of abuses . . . their performances in revenue administration are a disgrace."

We agree. We have been saying the same thing for years. The cleaning up of Chicago's tax mess, which has been a matter of intelligent self-interest to Chicago for more than a decade, now becomes a patriotic duty as well.

THE FIRST ROUND.

The first engagement in this war has gone against us. Details remain to be filled in, but already it is certain that many hundreds of American soldiers, sailors, and civilians have been killed and wounded; that we have lost ships, including a major battleship; that many of our planes were destroyed.

We have lost the first round, but we shall not lose the fight. When this war is ended, whether it takes 10 months or 10 years, the Japanese military and naval power will be broken. The humiliation of her war lords will be complete. Her mikado, the Son of Heaven, will sue for peace on his knees. To that result the will of this, the strongest nation the world has ever seen, is now irrevocably committed.

Americans can take a first round defeat in their stride. That is an old story in our military history. The first years of our first war were dark ones. Washington lost Long Island. The expedition against Quebec failed. Reverses succeeded each other until the world marveled that the Revolutionary war could go on. Supplies were lacking. Recruitment was always a grave problem, matched only by the problem of holding men in the ranks. Our forefathers knew the bitter winter of Valley Forge. But in the end came Yorktown and the recognition of American independence.

We saw the same thing happen in the War of 1812. It started with the ignominious surrender of Detroit, a position of immense strategic importance. Fort Dearborn was abandoned and the little garrison at Chicago was massacred. The city of Washington was put to the torch. New England was rebellious. In spite of all this and much more the tide turned. We won the battle of Lake Erie and the battle of Lake Champlain. Our frigates and privateers on the high seas made naval history. We won the war.

The Civil war saw the repetition of the story in a new setting. Fort Sumter was surrendered. The Union lost at Bull Run and that was only the beginning of a long series of bloody and humiliating reverses. Lincoln couldn't find a general. McClellan, Pope, Burnside, Hooker all failed. Our army had Richmond almost in its possession when the disheartening retreat was ordered. We lost at Bull Run again; we lost major battles at Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville. For two years the tide ran heavily against us. With difficulty we blocked the invasions of the north at the battles of Antietam and Gettysburg, and both times allowed the defeated enemy to escape. The Merrimac won a great sea victory for the Confederates and came within a hair's breadth of destroying the Union's sea power and breaking the blockade. Thruout the early years of the war we suffered diplomatic reverses which were almost as severe in their consequences as military defeats. Nevertheless, the Union forces kept on fighting and in the end found Appomattox and complete victory.

The Japanese are no doubt rejoicing over their victory at Pearl Harbor. Let them celebrate while they can. Americans are not disheartened or dismayed. This time, as so often before, we shall win the last battle. If mistakes were made at Pearl Harbor, they will not be repeated. This nation has never lost a war. We bury our dead and go forward to victory.

THE STOCK MARKET.

The stock market has again given proof of its efficiency as a weather vane. For, altho stocks dropped 4 points on the average yesterday, this was of very slight proportions in view of the shocking events of the week-end. Some had thought that an avalanche of selling would close the market when war came to us. There was nothing to suggest panic yesterday. The trading at all times was orderly. It seems probable that if the Japs had only declared war upon us and had not destroyed part of our fleet, the market might have held at Saturday's prices.

The reason that the market didn't drop severely yesterday is that it had already gone down. On Monday of last week, before a mild recovery set in, industrial stocks as measured by THE TRIBUNE's average were the lowest since the middle of June, 1938, which was not long after the culmination of the decline which had set in just after Labor day in 1937. The Dow-Jones industrial averages did not go down so far last week at the low, but held just above the June 10, 1940, mark. That was the day Premier Mussolini, taking account of the French 10-mile a day retreat toward Paris, had hastened to cut himself in on the kill by declaring war over the radio. Yesterday the Dow-Jones also reached a minimum since June, 1938.

It was evident last week that the market had something on its mind. It was clear that what was eating at prices was neither a low state of business as in 1938 nor a bad turn in the war for the allies as in 1940. Industry had reached the highest level of all time and was continuing to expand where capacity permitted, and trade was heavy. Moreover, the war news, both from the south of Russia and Africa was better than in a long time.

The market gave no indication of what it was discounting. But it was clearly something adverse to American interests while not harmful to the British. This was shown by the fact that stock prices in London hit the highest level of the war, at the same time that stock prices in New York sank to the lowest of the war. Now we know what was sending stocks down early last week.

The movements of the stock market are meaningful. It must know sumpthin' but doan' say nuthin'. All of which suggests that in the combined judgment of the millions of thrifty Americans seeking to protect their savings there is great wisdom.

THE DAY IT HAPPENED.

We were Sundaying at home; Monday's column had been done in advance. We remembered that last Friday we had published a jingle in the form of a Japanese "haiku," called "Poem for the Mikado." It invited him to ponder upon the scattered bones of Nippon's war dead. Close timing.

"Buy all the papers for 9 cents," urged a newsboy. "They're historic, and will be worth money 20 years from now."

"We'll invest in one," was our answer. "The same old one." Thus we obeyed the radio announcer who had told us to keep cool in the crisis.

We went to Chinatown on a Christmas errand. The shops were open; the inhabitants were wearing their best suits; radios were pouring out war bulletins in the tong meeting places; the street life was animated. . . . "Perhaps you might be interested in this porcelain figurine," said the clerk in a shop. "It is the last of its kind; we have not been able to get them for months. It is called the Goddess of Mercy."

* * *

We remembered a character seen in the Chinatown of Los Angeles last summer. He was a little old fellow with the face of a frog and a rapid line of comic patter to ballyhoo a trivial lottery. "A Chinese Will Rogers," we thought. . . . He made a merry reference to Japanese victories, and added, "Pretty soon all Japanese dead."

* * *

Too many years will pass, we fear, before there is an American revival of "The Mikado."

SALVATION ARMY KETTLE.

So many things speak Christmas—
But none more surely tell
Than tripod, and kettle,
And small, insistent bell.

You find them at a corner
Upon the busy street;
That straight-walled city canyon
Where sidewalk currents meet.

A large bell, distance softened,
Possesses lovely charm,
But this one shames a telephone
Or five A. M. alarm,

Because it has a mission
And those who eddy round
Must, willy nilly, listen
And translate its sound.

It says: "Come, give—give gladly,
Give something, be it small,
For charity and in the name
Of Him who once gave all."

Decline and Fall of Barbershops.

Now that the price of haircuts has gone up to 85 cents on Saturdays and the days before holidays, and shaves are 35 cents every day, let's remember when haircuts were 25 cents and shaves 10 cents, any day.

No one thought it strange then to wait three hours in a barbershop, and did not consider the time wasted. A barbershop in those days was a public forum on culture, politics, philosophy, and art. Stories were told, too, but they died out when women invaded barbershops for their semi-monthly "bobs."

Some of the patrons had their own shaving cups with their names emblazoned in flowery gold lettering, and a few distinguished customers had their trade-mark added. The veterinarian's cup had the profile of a horse; the telegrapher's, a telegraph instrument; the mason's, a trowel, and the apothecary a mortar and pestle.

In large rural families there was often one member who cut hair. Frequently a member of the family would become so proficient in haircutting that his fame would spread thruout the countryside, and he would be obliged to set aside an afternoon every week to cut the hair of his clientèle, charging 15 cents a head.

LETTER TO SANTA.

There are so many things I yearn for (I get things I don't give a durn for),
So will you hear my plan and try it?
I'd like some pearls and a brand new ring,
A '42 Packard, too, you might bring.
I want some flowers and candy, too,
A closet of dresses all brand-spanking new,
A bright love, a light love to keep me amused,
Renewal of friendships I've badly abused,
A best seller book (let it be writ by me,
And bring with that wish, please, a very fat fee).

Resurrection in the Desert.

A long freight train was busily puffing up a gentle grade on the burning, barren desert not far from Ludlow, Cal. Several short whistle blasts brought the Skipper up to the Angel's seat in the crummy, and far ahead he could see the Eagle-eye pointing to the right. As the caboose passed the spot indicated by the engineer, the conductor and rear brakeman saw a man lying in the sand near a telegraph pole. He seemed to be dead, so at the next station the Skipper threw off a message to that effect.

The operator wired the sheriff's office 100 miles away and a deputy sheriff was sent by car halfway across the largest county in the world. The highway was just a few hundred feet from the rails, so at the appointed mile post the deputy turned off into the sand and rocks and quickly found his "corpse," who sat up as he arrived.

The deputy told the wanderer he was supposed to be dead, and the weary traveler replied, "Hell, I was sleepy, and that telegraph pole made the only shade I've seen in 75 miles."

CONSTANT RACKET DULLS HEARING.

We have all experienced temporary deafness. There may be a few drops of water in the ear canal, a plug of wax, a stopped up Eustachian tube—the aftermath of a cold. As a rule, these episodes need not give rise to undue concern. On the other hand, when sound perception lessens suddenly or becomes progressively more difficult the situation deserves investigation.

As we realize, any process that harms the delicate hearing machinery may be compared to a burned out tube in the radio. In consequence, the vibrations cannot be transmitted with the facility which nature intended.

In seeking the cause, we must not forget that we are children of our parents. Heredity plays a part particularly in otosclerosis [bony deposits where the area should be springy] or paralysis of the auditory nerve. Unfortunately, these conditions grow worse gradually unless something can be accomplished by treatment. In this connection, Julius Lempert recently devised an operation which is reported to be of value when bone formation is responsible.

The influence of noise and the ensuing strain is overlooked all too often. We can injure the voice by uttering notes far higher than one's usual register. After a season of shrieking the vocal cords will swell, tiny nodules will develop, and actual hemorrhage may occur. Unless rest permits the structures to recover, permanent damage may be expected. In like manner, we can insult the auditory apparatus so that certain tones cannot be heard. Here, too, time is a factor. Continue the blatant assaults and conversation may need to be carried on by shouting and bellowing.

The repeated reverberations of air hammers, the continuous honk of automobile horns, the rattle and rumble of traffic, and the operations involved in construction, constitute serious hazards. We cannot read the biblical tale of the erection of the temple of Solomon without paying tribute to his wisdom. We read, "And the house, when it was in building, was built of stone made ready at the quarry; and there was neither hammer nor ax nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building." [I. Kings, 6, 7.]

There is something devastating about the regularity of blows. Pile driving creates nervous tension quite apart from the attack upon the ear-drums. Then, we have the tooting of whistles, ringing of bells, and other types of racket which keep us in a dither. Shut off the radio after it has been "blatting" for an hour and every one will exclaim, "How restful is the silence." We distinguish likewise between voices of commentators. Some are pleasing, others annoying. One who emphasizes words out of their proper order and who raises the voice abruptly at the end of every sentence cannot fail to offend the auditory sense.

We are a wonderfully complacent people. In the name of progress and industry we put up with procedures that would be objected to strenuously by animals. Most of us can recall that when as youngsters we organized a comb band, the family pup howled in derision. In fact, any shrill sound either drove him away or he manifested his displeasure and discomfort with cries.

Quiet will help save hearing.

ENTERTAINING SOLDIERS.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—The eagerness of many Chicago citizens to entertain men who are enrolled in the military service is most commendable. Our Service Men's center and other centers and camps are eager, I am sure, to coöperate. There are practical difficulties—

The number of families desiring to provide such entertainment in a large city such as Chicago far exceeds the number of men who are available to receive it.

The number of men enrolling for such entertainment is limited. Most of the men stationed at camps in the vicinity of Chicago are here for only a few weeks or months. They come from all parts of the country. They come into Chicago over a holiday at their own expense, eager to see the sights of the great city. They prefer a free sandwich at the Service Men's center or to buy a sandwich at a quick restaurant rather than go to spend most of the day at some private home on the outskirts of the city. It is against the policy of the Service Men's center and other centers and camps to force or urge entertainment of any kind on the men against their wishes.

It is not the purpose of this letter to discourage invitations for home hospitality. Such hospitality in many cases is deeply appreciated both by the boys and their distant parents. But persons desiring to provide such entertainment should register at least 10 days in advance, giving the name, address and telephone number of their pastor, of social or civic clubs and organizations to which they belong, and other references.

Such registrants at the Service Men's center, after investigation, will be notified in writing if approved. Approved registrants may then come to the center in time to take the boys to church or for dinner or for a tour of the city or other form of entertainment which they wish to provide. They should go to the Travelers' Aid desk on the first floor.

They will be introduced to service men who may have registered for such entertainment, in so far as such men are available. They should assume that disappointments may be inevitable.

FRANK D. LOOMIS.
Chairman, Chicago Service Men's Center.

LET THE CAROLERS SING.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—Could there be a more beautiful custom than the singing of Christmas carols? There are always objectors, but I think they are in the minority.

The carols give us a lift from the material things to the spiritual. They remind us that in this ravaged world there is hope of Peace on Earth and Good Will Toward Men. Let the bells ring and the carolers sing.

THE GAME OF TRAILS.

Rock Island, Ill., Dec. 4.—When our oldest daughter was 3 years old I invented the "Game of Trails" which served to enliven our Christmas seasons for several years. I had procured the usual candies, nuts, and presents, and after our baby girl had gone to sleep I unwrapped the presents and hid them behind the furniture in the living room and then took a bag of nuts and made a trail by placing the nuts about a foot apart, starting at her bedroom door and leading to the hidden treasure. She arose on Christmas morning and asked for her presents. I showed her the trails and told her she must follow the trail.

She took the basket offered her, went to work and picked up the nuts as fast as her little fingers could work. We were careful to see that she did not miss one, and sure enough, there in a dark corner she found a doll with candy and other things. She caught them up and danced about with eyes shining and face aglow.

And then we all had Christmas, thanks to good old Santa Claus.

When our youngest daughter came along and had reached the age of 3, the oldest daughter, then 6 years old, was permitted to help lay the trails and direct the search for treasures. Then we all enjoyed Christmas together. These daughters are both married and have children and they have practiced following trails with their little ones. It furnishes never ending fun for all concerned.

4-H BOYS AND GIRLS.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Being a city slicker myself and hardly knowing a horse from a cow, I cannot help feeling proud of those 4-H boys and girls to whom our city was host.

There is no hay sticking out of their hair—the girls are pretty and modish, the boys manly and upstanding. Altho they come from widely separated sections of the country and are of different nationalities, the indelible stamp of young America is on them all—intelligent, courageous and wholesome.

In this day and age where could we find their equal outside of our beloved America? May God keep it always safe and free and ever willing to extend a helping hand to those less fortunate.

PETS ON THE CHRISTMAS TREE.

Chicago, Dec. 6.—Once again Christmas is just around the corner, and many a child is hoping to find a live pet among the gifts grouped round the tree. All parents do not realize that such a gift is much more than a source of pleasure, as it brings personal responsibility and even sacrifice to the small owner.

When the first pride of possession has worn off the much wanted pet may come to be regarded as a nuisance, especially if lack of accommodation in a city home causes an animal to be in the way.

If a child is given an animal the important fact should be stressed that it should be treated kindly, fed and watered regularly, exercised, and that kittens, puppies, and other small animals must be handled gently. Children brought up to love animals and birds are safely on the way to good citizenship.

PROPERTY LINES.

Chicago, Dec. 4.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—According to the stake in our alley the foundation of the next garage is on my line, and the eaves hang over. The entire fence also seems to be definitely over the line.

1. Does this jeopardize my title?

2. Am I obliged to have the lot resurveyed, or if he contests the accuracy of the stake [3] does the burden of proof rest with him? The fence belongs to him.

4. Will the expense of moving it be his or mine?

M. M.

1. Yes, in the sense that after 20 years of such encroachment they might be entitled to continue the encroachment.

2. There is no absolute obligation on you to do this.

3. In general, the burden of proof rests on the plaintiff. If you bring a suit to force removal of the encroachment the burden would rest on you. If you removed it yourself and he sued you for damages, then the burden would rest on him.

4. If you bring suit to compel him to remove it, and you are successful, then presumably the cost will depend on him as to the removal. Each party will pay his own attorney's fees.

BRITISH REVEAL POWERFUL JAP 'HIDDEN FLEET'

Five Super Battleships Built in Secret.

Japanese naval secrets which show Nippon's fleet to be much more formidable than the world had suspected were disclosed last night in Chicago by Graham Hutton, director of the British Press Service here. At the same time he made public the opinion of British experts that the new war will be fought largely on the sea and by shipborne planes.

The naval information, contained in a London dispatch signed by Brig. Gen. H. S. Sewell, was gathered by British agencies in the years following 1934 when Japan suddenly cloaked in secrecy her shipbuilding program. It estimates the Japanese navy will grow in power until 1942.

Japs at Peak in 1942.

"Why has Japan selected this particular time to go to war?" wrote Gen. Sewell, who was commander of the 1st cavalry brigade of the BEF in World war I. "The chief reason is because the Japs believe their relative naval strength as against the United States will reach its peak in 1942. After 1942 their relative strength should decline rapidly owing to the blockade of raw materials.

"Despite their secrecy we know the Japanese have pushed on with a very large naval program. The signatories to the London naval treaty asked about this in 1938.

Refuse Straight Answer.

"They asked if she was not building five battleships, each of more than 35,000 tons stipulated in the treaty. The Japs refused to give a straight answer. There can be little doubt that each of the five ships is of 40,000 tons displacement, or more.

"Japan also is understood to have planned a surprise in the shape of four pocket battleships, modeled more or less after the German, but possessing greater speed and slightly better protection. Japan is understood to possess 13 aircraft carriers, such as already have played an important part in the war.

"Two others have been launched, it is understood, but not completed. Jap aircraft carriers are smaller but more numerous than those of the United States." [This information raises substantially previous estimates that the Japs have seven to nine carriers.]

Belief of British experts that it will be a sea-air war was broadcast by short wave from London last night and picked up by the listening post of the British Press association. Oliver Stewart, the commentator, asserted it is known that Japan built her large fleet of aircraft carriers specifically for the present type of aggression.

"The United States and Britain must rely extensively on this type of craft," Stewart asserted. "It is most fortunate that the American navy has developed these craft to a high state of efficiency."

Win Honors

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

A boy and girl, each 18 years old, each a June graduate of the Austin High school, were presented last night with a medal, a $300 college scholarship and the title, "Chicago's Most Outstanding," at the opening of the first annual Chicago Youth exposition in the Hotel Sherman.

They were selected from 150 candidates from 75 communities in the city. They are James A. Barrick Jr., 37½ North Waller avenue, and Dorothy Freitag, 910 North Parkside avenue.

The exposition which opened yesterday morning will continue thru Friday. Declaration of war, which officials said had some effect on lowering attendance figures, served to intensify interest in the exposition's defense exhibits.

Approximately 100 Chicago youth organizations were represented at the exposition. The exhibits are representative of the leisure time activities of the city's 500,000 teen age youth.

WAR VIRTUALLY ERASES LIMITS UPON PRESIDENT

Wide Powers Authorized by Statute.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—A state of war all but lifts the limit off Presidential powers.

Statutes which operate in such periods authorize the President to take over transportation systems, industrial plants, radio stations, power facilities and ships, and to place some controls on communication systems.

Many of these powers have been available to the President under his emergency proclamations and as commander in chief of the armed forces.

Authority Viewed as Wide.

One highly placed administration legal adviser said that in wartime the government has the power "to take what it needs to meet the emergency."

Here, in brief, are some of the other powers given to the President in times of war or great emergency:

Parts of the 1930 tariff act may be suspended to permit free entry of needed commodities.

Additional army officers may be commissioned and their rank may be raised; retired officers and nurses may be recalled to active service.

The coast guard operates as part of the navy [already ordered].

The army may take over lands for certain purposes.

Strategic Materials Affected.

Use may be made of strategic materials purchased for stockpiles.

The securities exchanges [there are 19 in 18 cities] may be closed, or trading in any selected securities may be suspended.

Restrictions may be placed against imports from countries found to be discriminating against United States products.

Labor laws providing for an eight hour working day may be suspended in connection with work on government contracts.

Some of the formalities in making purchases, such as advertising for bids, may be omitted.

PENSIONER, 82, BURNS TO DEATH.

Henry Mesler, 82 years old, pensioner, burned to death yesterday in his room at 1236 Adams street. Firemen said that ashes from a stove alongside his bed had caused the fire.

CHICAGO JAPS GLOOMY, HIDE BEHIND DOORS

Couple Have Sons in U.S. Draft.

Chicago's Japanese were gloomy yesterday as federal and local agents acted swiftly and secretly against their restaurants, gift shops, and business establishments. Few of those who could be found would talk and those who did affirmed their loyalty to this country and wanted to know when they could reopen their stores.

Officially it was not known last night whether any of the local Japanese had been taken into custody. Both A. H. Johnson, head of the local office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and J. Albert Woll, federal district attorney, responded to queries with a curt "no comment."

It was expected, however, in view of the announcement by Attorney General Francis Biddle of the arrest of 736 Japanese nationals thruout the country and in Hawaii, that such steps either have already been taken here or are impending.

Most bewildered of all were the owners and waiters of the city's 25 Japanese owned lunchrooms and eating places, closed down by Mayor Kelly a few hours after the outbreak of hostilities.

In the Tokyo lunch, one of the largest restaurants, at 551 South State street, a group of frightened Japanese huddled in a rear room. On the front door was a heavy lock and sign: "Closed for short duration by the mayor's order."

Behind the locked doors of his lunchroom at 1130 North Clark street, Goro Tsuchida, who came from Japan 30 years ago, and his wife, who was born in Kentucky of Japanese-American parents, sat glumly. Their two sons, Earl, 24 years old, and Max, 22, are awaiting draft call. "They'll be good American soldiers," Mrs. Tsuchida said.

Another popular Japanese eating place which was dark last night is Madame Shintani's, 743 North Rush street.

MOSCOW BEYOND REACH THIS YEAR, GERMANS ADMIT

Say Freezing Cold Stops Mechanized Forces.

BERLIN, Dec. 8 (AP).—Winter has stopped the Germans short of Moscow and the capture of the soviet capital is not expected this year, a military spokesman said tonight. It seemed likely from his statement that until spring there could be no further major German offensive except along the extreme southern Russia front.

This word reduced the Russian campaign to secondary interest for the Germans for the first time, and attention focused instead on Japan's war with the United States in the Pacific.

DNB, the official news agency, asserted that nearly 10,000,000 Russian troops had "been put out of action" since Germany invaded Russia last June 22.

Oil Freezes in Vehicles.

Explaining a statement by the high command that the conduct of the war in Russia "now is dictated by the setting in of winter," the spokesman said:

"The cold is so terrific that even the oil freezes in motorized vehicles. Soldiers and officers trying to take cover simply freeze to the ground.

"Fighting under these conditions is practically impossible. This does not mean, however, that the front will become stagnant or fixed. There will be local operations, local air attacks and local straightening out of our front in such a manner as either to shorten it advantageously or, as in the space between Taganrog and Rostov, to fix the front line so as to be most advantageous to us."

[The Russians have reported that their offensive past Rostov has driven the Germans west of Taganrog.]

Military sources said a soviet attempt to land forces on the west coast of the Crimea failed, but gave no exact information where the attempt was made.

Finns Claim Town Captured.

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Dec. 8 (AP).—The Finnish high command announced today its forces had captured Povenets, at the Lake Onega mouth of the Stalin canal, Russia's waterway connecting with the White sea.

Thrown Back at Moscow.

MOSCOW, Dec. 8 (AP).—Tank led Red armies have thrown the Germans out of numerous additional villages on both ends of the Moscow front and pursuit of the backtracking Nazis continues, the Moscow radio announced tonight in dispatches from the front.

The fighting took place in temperatures ranging down to 17 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, and Russians commented wryly: "Wait, this is nothing."

A correspondent of the newspaper Pravda said the soviet gains were registered in the Kalinin sector, 95 miles northwest of Moscow, and along the highway leading to Tula, 100 miles south of the capital. It was said the highway now is clear of Germans.

Kuibyshev dispatches declared the Russians had advanced from 50 to 75 miles in the three week old Rostov-Mariupol counteroffensive. Cossack cavalrymen were said to be slashing down Germans seeking to escape across the Mius river near Taganrog while Red army planes bombed their clogged routes of retreat.

Bermuda Assembly Meets Secretly on U. S.-Jap War

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Dec. 8.—The assembly went into secret session today, but no details were revealed, altho it was known to have been connected with American-Japanese hostilities. The lease agreement for the United States bases provides that when the United States is engaged in a war it may exercise such authority as may be necessary for the conduct of military operations.

HAROLD TEEN—"HE FLIES THRU THE AIR"

U. S.-JAPAN WAR STUNS BERLIN'S MAN IN STREET

Quick Official Reaction Is Predicted.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 8.—The sensation created today in Berlin by the news that war had broken out between the United States and Japan was probably even greater than that caused by the actual beginning of the present European war on Sept. 1, 1939.

Usually indifferent to what is printed in the newspapers, Berliners gathered to read the latest news and discuss it. It is not enough to say that the attack on Hawaii excited the people. It stupefied them.

Official comment is extremely guarded as to how Germany would identify herself with Japan's war on the United States. One authorized spokesman said, however: "We are not in a hurry to make our decisions. Suffice it to say that Japan and we are allies."

Action Promised Soon.

The authoritative Dienst au Deutschland commented: "It won't be long until the official German reaction is made public." The commentary said official circles were impressed by the speed and proportions of the Japanese attack.

Newspapers which, editorially, express a quasi-official point of view, took exactly the same stand as has been taken for months concerning all of President Roosevelt's actions.

"Roosevelt has got his war," is the main headline in the intellectual Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. There is nowhere a suggestion that the Japanese had anything to do with starting the war.

Call Roosevelt Misinformed.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung probably is the calmest in tone. According to this paper President Roosevelt's policy toward Japan has been based on information given to him by business men—presumably Japanese—who were badly hit by Roosevelt's economic war against Japan. These people gave him the impression that Japan would yield to economic pressure, the paper said.

According to this source, light as to the real situation dawned on Roosevelt first on Saturday, when he sent his solemn appeal to the emperor of Japan.

Was the German government aware of Japanese plans? There is good reason for thinking that about a week ago Germans were fully informed by the Japanese that the negotiations with the United States had reached the hopeless stage and that hostilities might break out at any moment.

People Seem Bewildered.

What the man in the street here thinks about this latest staggering development in the war is different from official opinion. From the few people willing to talk, I got the first impression that they are completely bewildered. The war in Russia has been staggering enough to the prosaic imagination of the average German.

Some pessimists see nothing ahead but world-wide convulsions with a permanent and endemic state of war and revolution in which all the treasures and values of present civilization will be swept away.

The more sardonic took some grim comfort from the reflection that America, too, would go into revolution and have to endure the same woes as all European peoples everywhere have endured.

BRITISH CLAIM NAZIS PULL OUT OF BATTLE IN THE LIBYAN DESERT

CAIRO, Egypt., Dec. 8 (AP).—Small, fast armored British columns have destroyed a third of the German tanks engaged in battle since Saturday between Tobruk and Bir El Gobi, a British spokesman said today.

The Germans finally pulled their bested fighters westward to end the battle, a British spokesman said. The German general, Erwin Rommel, entered the fight with 30 tanks and 500 motor vehicles, the spokesman said.

Other axis forces were said to remain caught in pockets along the frontier line south of Halfaya [Hellfire] pass, completely cut off from Rommel's main force. The British said the outcome of the battle has left the British in control of much of the territory around Tobruk.

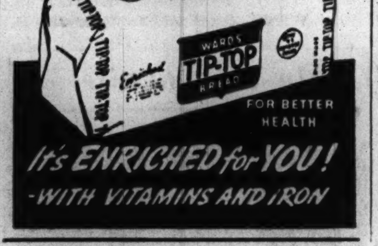
90,000 FLYERS TO FORM CIVIL AERIAL PATROL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—A program calling for enlistment of 90,000 licensed pilots and 90,000 student pilots in a civil air patrol was announced tonight by Fiorello La Guardia, director of civilian defense. He said the objective would be enlistment, training, and disciplining of civil flying aviation personnel and material "so that their potential value to defense may be made available immediately."

The army has assigned Maj. Gen. John F. Curry of the air corps to become national commander of the civil air patrol.



ORDERED TO TELL SLUGGER STORY TO GRAND JURORS

James Kochi, who last week told the state's attorney's office that he had been hired as a slugger by the Wagner Dairy Products company to discredit members of the milk wagon drivers' union engaged in picketing the dairy's service stores, was ordered yesterday to repeat his story before the grand jury on Thursday. Capt. Daniel Gilbert expressed doubt about Kochi's story at the time. Kochi was questioned again yesterday, and Assistant State's Attorney Leslie Curtis described his answers as "unclear."

ONE BANDIT + 4 BLOCKS = 4 STOPS AND 2 HOLDUPS

A holdup man made four stops in as many blocks yesterday on South Ashland avenue, starting at the cleaning establishment at 7756 South Ashland, from which he took a coat and $2. He was frightened out of the drug store at 7901 when the cashier fainted; took $40 from the restaurant at 7959 and failed in his attempt to rob the liquor store at 8001 when angry customers threatened to ignore his revolver and capture him.

One Killed, Five Missing as RCAF Plane Crashes

HALIFAX, N. S., Dec. 8 (AP).—One man was killed, five were missing and five injured today in the crash of a royal Canadian air force flying boat into the sea off Halifax.

Manchukuans Declare War on U. S. and Britain

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—The German radio today announced that Manchukuo had declared war on the United States and Great Britain.

CITIZENS URGED TO WATCH OUT FOR SABOTAGE

Gen. Cummins Tells How to Co-operate with Army.

Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins, commanding the 6th corps area, yesterday requested that citizens cooperate with the army by reporting any information pertaining to possible sabotage or subversive activities. Making his first public utterance since the crisis developed, Gen. Cummins spoke over W-G-N and a nation-wide Mutual Broadcasting system hookup.

Maj. Gen. Cummins.

"I say—and this cannot be overemphasized—now is the time to forget all personal matters," Gen. Cummins told the radio audience. "Every American citizen—all of us—have but one task: to win this war with as much dispatch as is within our power. Unity of American spirit is today no idle phrase. We are working together, and we will continue to work together."

No Reason for Fear.

He assured the residents of the 6th corps area, made up of Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, that there is no reason for undue alarm or fear. He added, however, that citizens must leave no avenue open whereby saboteurs and subversive propagandists may do their work.

"I again repeat my request made last night that all manufacturers who are working on defense material make particular efforts to protect their plants and supplies against sabotage. I would strongly suggest to the governing bodies of all our cities that they likewise take precautions regarding their public utilities such as their waterworks and power plants.

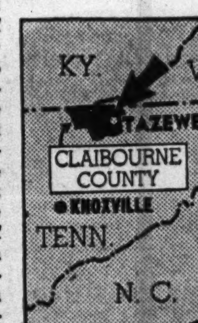
Team Play is Necessary.

"I urge all owners of power houses and of bridges, tunnels and other connecting links in our transportation system to assure the uninterrupted functioning of these installations. It is futile to think that precautions are unnecessary. We must not be taken by surprise and we must never for a moment relax our vigilance or neglect in the slightest manner our protective measures. This is the time that coördinated team play between the American civilians and our armed forces is vitally necessary."

PICK FIVE JURORS FROM 200 IN MINE MURDER TRIAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Tazewell, Tenn., Dec. 8.—The complicated business of discovering 12 impartial residents of Claibourne county to try 14 members of the United Mine Workers for the murder last April of the president of a nonunion mining company began before Circuit Judge Jesse L. Rogers today.



Arrow locates Tazewell.

Six hundred prospective jurors, about one-third of all the eligible jurors in the county, were summoned because of a well founded suspicion that picking a jury would be a tough job. When court was adjourned a total of five jurors had been chosen from 200 persons examined.

The winnowing process began at 11 a. m. and when Judge Rogers adjourned for lunch promptly at noon, only one juror had been found acceptable to both sides. By that time 69 names had been drawn from Judge Rogers' old felt hat.

Some of the jurors today were excused because of scruples against capital punishment, or because of old age, sickness, or previously formed opinions. One juror said: "What I heard might have some bearing. Besides, my grandmother was a Robinson."

DANDY 1ST VETS STEAL SHOW AT ARMORY REVIEW

Veterans of the old Dandy 1st, now the 131st infantry, stole the show last night at the 67th anniversary formation of Chicago's famous regiment, which was combined with a review of the 1st infantry, Illinois Reserve Militia, in the armory at Kedzie and North avenues.

A drum corps of Dandy 1st veterans, led by a soldier of 73 years, was applauded by the 1,500 spectators. Twenty veterans of the Spanish-American war, armed with their obsolete Krags, went thru the manual of arms of 40 years ago.

Spectators held that the drill of the reserve militia, which has met only once a week since its formation when the 33d division was called into active service, was well done. A formation under complete blackout was a feature.

Clear State Street of Last of Subway Obstructions

Removal of the last of the subway construction equipment from State street for the benefit of Christmas shoppers was observed yesterday by Elmer T. Stevens, president of the State street council, along with Philip Harrington, subway commissioner, and L. M. Johnson, commissioner of streets. Subway construction work is being virtually suspended along State street until after the holidays.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY FREIDA ZYLSTRA.

THE QUESTION.

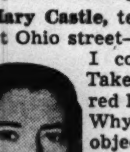
What do you do when you reach the point where you feel you would like to scream or throw something?

WHERE ASKED.

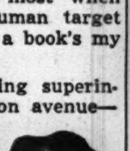
Michigan Square building, 540 N. Michigan avenue.

THE ANSWERS.

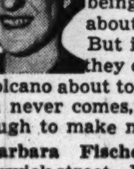
Charles Bernard, actor, Lawson YMCA, 30 West Chicago avenue—My first impulse is to let the words fly left and right in a blue streak, until I feel there's nothing left for anybody's imagination. But I control that impulse because what I say at those times doesn't mean much anyway. It takes much less energy just to walk away from the aggravation.



Mary Castle, teacher of drama, 162 East Ohio street—What do I do when I come to that point? Take a look at this bright red hair and guess again. Why I pick up any old object that happens to be in reach and sling it. I enjoy it most when there's a human target around and a book's my favorite missile.

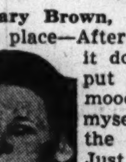


Anthony Smith, building superintendent, 7206 South Union avenue—When I reach that breaking point I always think the best solution is just to drop everything and forget it. By the time I've spent five minutes on another job I'm as calm as a cucumber. Then it's perfectly safe for me to go back to what was irking me and it doesn't seem half bad.



Mrs. A. P. Charlebois, saleslady, 2613 Lunt avenue—I guess I'm an introvert when it comes to expressing myself like that. Any one around me would think I was perfectly composed and being very pleasant about the whole thing. But if they only knew it they could compare me to a volcano about to explode. The explosion never comes, tho the reaction is enough to make me lose my appetite.

Barbara Fischer, secretary, 1858 Sedgwick street—I often think it would make me feel wonderful to pick up something and throw it at something else, so the combination would make a terrific lot of noise. Instead, I just leave the aggravating situation and take off 10 minutes to smoke a couple of cigarets. All's quiet on the western front by then.



Mary Brown, saleslady, 1528 East 67th place—After a long day at work it doesn't take much to put me in the pitching mood. But I restrain myself. If I'm at home the solution is simple. Just fill the tub with tepid water and plunge in. Everything looks different after I've spent a few minutes in that hydrotherapy.

GOOD FELLOWS ALL-IN MOTOR CLUB! GIVE $500

Employes Again Make 100% Contribution.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Employés of the Chicago Motor club again will coöperate in the 33d annual Good Fellow campaign, sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. J. J. Cavanaugh, vice president and general manager, yesterday presented a check for $500 to John Gillespie, manager of the Good Fellow bureau, at THE TRIBUNE'S Public Service office located at 1 South Dearborn street.

With the check, Cavanaugh brought this message from Charles M. Hayes, president of the club: "We have always been grateful for the opportunity afforded by the Good Fellow campaign of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to make it a Merry Christmas for many Chicago families. The continued success that has been enjoyed by this campaign year after year shows that our citizens want to help.

"THE TRIBUNE has provided the organization and the means whereby this help can be directed to fruitful channels. Our employés have been 100 per cent contributors in previous years. It is my great pleasure to announce that we have done so again this Christmas."

The money will be used to buy about 100 heaping baskets of food, toys, and candy. The baskets will be delivered to distribution headquarters set up by the Chicago Motor club and then taken by members to the homes on Christmas eve.

Folks who wish to do kindly deeds at Christmas time are finding that the Good Fellow bureau fills a great need. Charity workers point out that it is better to deal with an organized charity than to respond to numerous letters which some families send out.

Altho it is the exception, there are those who will send pleas to many people, thereby accumulating gifts while others go hungry. The Good Fellow bureau eliminates this possibility.

CHURCH STANDS 'ABOVE BATTLE,' LEADERS ASSERT

Million Christians Live in Enemy's Land.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

As churchmen we stand with our country now that war has been declared, but let the church, which knows neither race nor national barrier, "stand above the battle."

This sentence summarized comments in several Chicago ministers' meetings yesterday, and last night the same thought was given different words before 1,200 Congregationalists meeting as the 59th annual session of the Chicago Congregational union in the Palmer House. Dr. Ernest Graham Guthrie, general superintendent of the union, said:

"While nothing now can go on as usual, the business of Christ's church must go on at deeper depths and more heroic heights. Particularly there must arise from the hearts of those who know and love the Christian leaders and the people of Japan a prayer that the mighty arms of Christ will be around these countless Christian men and women for whom this war will bring unspeakable sorrow."

Million Christians in Japan.

A study of Japan missions last night showed about 1 million Christians in the enemy's empire. Of these about 350,000 are Roman Catholics, 50,000 are Russian Orthodox, and 10,000 are members of the Holy Catholic church of Japan, which is Anglican and Episcopal. Protestant groups recently forged into the United Church of Christ of Japan account for the balance.

The Roman Catholic church, the Holy Catholic church of Japan, and the United Church of Christ have been recognized by the Japanese ministry of education.

Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk of the federal council commission on world friendship, in an interview last night, coined the phrase "keep the church above the battle." Dr. Georgia Harkness of Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, told Congregational pastors at 19 South La Salle street yesterday morning that "the church must continue its task no matter what happens, must maintain a fellowship between Christians across all national lines and continue its missionary program."

Spiritual Mission Continues.

Lutheran pastors, meeting in the Lawson YMCA, informally agreed that nothing must be permitted to halt the spiritual mission of the church in its preaching and teaching. Dr. Charles F. Boss Jr. of the Methodist Peace commission and secretary of the Ministers' No War committee, referred to the official position of the Methodist church on war, adopted by the 1940 general conference.

"We insist," this statement declared, "that the agencies of the church shall not be used in the preparation for war but in the promulgation of peace." He added that "the character of war has not been changed by the fact that we are in it, and the church, as such, must adhere to its basic position and not bless war on call it holy."

Dr. Boss said that the Ministers' No War committee probably will continue to function in the interest of Christian good will under another name. Obviously, he said, the name "No War committee" now has no meaning.

SEN. CONNORS GETS PUNCHED IN LOOP HOTEL

State Senator William J. Connors of the 29th district encountered an acquaintance in a loop hotel dining room last night and reproached him about certain stories Connors said had been circulated. The acquaintance remarked he suspected the senator of putting two thugs on his trial.

"I haven't got any thugs," said Connors, "but I do have friends who are sensitive."

When the other man continued to give mild answers, Connors is reported to have struck him. The acquaintance sprang from his chair and fetched the senator a wallop that sent him down amid a crash of chairs and cries of women diners.

For several minutes, until Rudy Dusek, the wrestler, separated them, the other man made a punching bag of Sen. Connors, who also is Democratic committeeman of the 42d ward. As the turmoil in the dining room quieted, Connors was led to a washroom. The victor shrugged and walked out.

In Chicago, Christmas and the Linebook go together with all the traditional inseparability of ham and eggs, Damon and Pythias, holly and ivy. Like Christmas, the Linebook is dedicated to good cheer, to healthy, robust fun—to making people feel better, brighter and happier.

As did all of its seventeen predecessors, the new 1941 Linebook does a bangup job as running mate for Chicago's Christmas—some Linebook experts say that the 1941 edition is the best yet!

The 1941 Linebook is just the thing to make Christmas still merrier for you—and for your friends. Sixty-four pages of happiness bound in covers as colorful as they are gay. It contains 168 items in prose and 93 in verse —261 separate and distinct contributions which appeared in the Chicago Tribune column, "A Line o'Type or Two," during the last year.

Get your Linebook today! And remember to get some extra copies to send your friends. Price, 10 cents; by postpaid mail, 13 cents. On sale at newsstands, bookstores, and the Chicago Tribune Public Service offices.

America First Is Slogan Now for Chicago War Relief Groups

Bundles for Britain, so far as Chicago is concerned, became yesterday Bundles for Bluejackets. Many other chapters thruout the country were reported last night changing over to get behind all-out aid to the United States.

Mrs. Wales Latham telephoned the local chapter yesterday from New York and directed the change, but added that those who wish to continue the Bundles for Britain idea may do so thru her office.

Red Cross offices in Chicago were flooded by phone calls from women offering help in the new war.

A knitting program for the United States navy, initiated Dec. 1, is expected to be increased vastly. Helmets, watch caps, sweaters, and socks are being sent to men in the Atlantic patrol. A portion now is to be diverted to the Pacific forces.

Christmas packages were sent out yesterday, each containing a notebook, envelopes, a diary, pencil, jackknife, comb, shaving cream, playing cards, a sewing kit, and postcards.

Various foreign aid groups were asked what they planned to do now that America has entered the conflict. "We will do whatever the American Red Cross asks us to do," said James Pope, Chicago secretary of the British War relief.

American Friends of Poland will continue to work for Polish and American solidarity, said Col. George T. Langhorne, president. France Forever, said Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, membership chairman, realizes that America comes first.

The Help Finland fund is already working with the Red Cross, Mrs. J. P. Varkala, president, said last night.

Art Association Exhibit Is One of Rare Beauty

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

For an hour of sheer delight the exhibition by association artist members which has just opened at the Chicago galleries, 215 North Michigan avenue, is heartily recommended. Rarely has so beautiful a show been seen in Chicago.

There was a time when controversy ran high between the moderns and nonmoderns, the radicals and the conservatives. Thru it all this group of serious painters kept their heads and went steadily about their business of painting good pictures. Year after year the Chicago Galleries association has been responsible for many of the most important exhibits held in town, and season after season an appreciative public has followed them. The current show caps a series of brilliant exhibitions.

The paintings are beautiful and cheerful, two qualities which are frequently lacking in contemporary work. They are decorative, colorful, sane, and possessed of fine quality. Outstanding among them are Julius Moessel's "Mexican Still Life" [a gorgeous canvas], Nina K. Griffin's "Fall Flowers," Charles P. Killgore's "Sycamores" [against a background of mountain], and Karl Ouren's "October Morning."

There are a number of unusually well painted portraits in the show. Oskar Gross, Frank I. Johnson, Richard Chase, Othmar Hoffler, F. R. Harper, and Elmer A. Forsberg are the painters responsible for several of the finest, altho others by Claude Buck, Shirley Friend [a charming pastel], and Antonin Sterba [who shows an excellent self-portrait] should not be overlooked. Leo Marzola, Anna Lynch, Jessie Arms Botke, Harriet Krawiec, Gasper J. Ruffolo, Tunis Ponsen, Anthony Buchta, Marvin Cone, Leslie Buck, and Frederic Tellander contribute landscapes and still life.

The Arts club has opened a gay and colorful exhibit with its comprehensive showing of oils and water colors by Raoul Dufy. The entire run of galleries is given over to the one man exhibit, and the result is more than pleasing. Dufy has always been one of the most amusing of the modernists, and here we see his fancy at its full. Now and then a picture reminds one strongly of Matisse, but for the most part the show is pure Dufy. There is a world of enjoyment in his brilliant studies of London and Venice, of Nice, Deauville, and Paris.

Both exhibitions will run thru December.

Infant's Crocheted Jacket

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

This is a cunning, crocheted jacket for the newest member of the family. It is created in a shell stitch in either pink or blue baby wool. The cap and bootees are matching items which may be crocheted quickly. These clothes for infants may be trimmed with white angora or baby wool, and there never are too many in any layette.

For instructions in crocheting the jacket, cap, and bootees, No. 1030, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

Red Cross to Start $50,000,000 Drive for Armed Forces

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—Norman Davis, Red Cross chairman, announced today after a conference with President Roosevelt that a drive would be launched immediately for $50,000,000 to be used for "our own armed forces." Davis said the Red Cross had spent a great deal of money in Hawaii yesterday as a result of the Japanese attack there, adding that "we were all set for it." The Red Cross had sent six representatives over some time ago, Davis asserted, and likewise strengthened its staff in two centers in the Philippines.

'The Barber of Seville' Goes His Merry Way

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Rossini's "The Barber of Seville," which for 125 years now has been leaving trails of laughter thru the world and which has lived to see nearly all of its more pretentious contemporaries buried, was given a sprightly performance in the Civic Opera house last night by the Chicago Opera company.

The privilege of having seen Vittorio Trevisan and Virgilio Lazzari appear together as Bartolo and Basilio is something which we will some day be boasting about to our grandchildren. It is almost inconceivable that another pair could arise capable of giving the immortal slapstick of "The Barber's" second scene such impact.

What they achieve is something more than mere Keystone cop hilarity. They understand the ancient art of caricature, they realize that they are here dealing with timeless types, and they give us what we will stubbornly continue to regard as definitive, unimprovable characterizations.

And it will be almost equally hard to convince us that the upstart Berthas of the future can equal Ada Paggi. Her mournful mien, her incredible walk, her demented screams—and her very capable handling of the music—are going to be very difficult to duplicate.

Figaro's sunny garrulity was beautifully caught last night by Richard Bonelli. Beaumarchais' lovable busybody dominated the production. Even when he was not on the stage the other characters moved to steps of his devising.

Josephine Antoine was as merry and youthful a Rosina as the composer himself could have desired. What is more, her singing had a glorious sparkle. By the way, those were exquisitely calculated contrasts of light and dark which she used in the aria from "The Pearl of Brazil" [her choice for the lesson scene].

Nino Martini, as Almaviva, seemed freer and more confident vocally than he did in the season's first "Barber" and he achieved a tone of great purity in his two first act airs. His coloratura was fluent, and some of the more florid passages had a type of languishing grace that was extraordinarily effective. Emile Cooper conducted with affectionate regard for the music's every expressive possibility.

The Swiss Have No Name for It.

A young man in Switzerland who wished to come to Chicago was sent a copy of a Chicago paper. Apparently he studied the want ads carefully, for he wrote in quick perplexity, "Will you be kind enough to tell me the meaning of loop experience?"

Farewell to the Lilliputians or Only a Collector Can Sense the Soul of a Collector.

News that Mrs. James Ward Thorne is closing the workroom in which her fabulous miniature rooms are made is saddening. Is this concession to the psychology of a world in which things must always get bigger to be better? Mrs. Thorne says no. Her decision came, a necessary one, when the draft took two of her best craftsmen.

This was learned last week when Jack Norworth, the celebrated comedian and composer who has a $50,000 miniature collection of his own, asked to see the workroom, already being dismantled. But in compensation, or in tribute, Mrs. Thorne gave him one of her smallest and dearest treasures—a microscopic 1,000 page Montgomery Ward catalog. When she made her early American kitchen, her first tiny room, she made two catalogs, perfect in every detail. The other now hangs beside the fireplace in the kitchen.

Open Sesame.

Doodling, one of the more widely practiced occupations of leisure time America, now has come into its own. Sam Nopar, a north side restaurateur, has endorsed it in an effort to save his tablecloths. Not only does he give diners pads on which they may scrawl, but he offers prizes for the most artistic results. Last week's prize went for a creation entitled Checker Bored. It looks like a bit of Salvador Dali, a bit of its name, a bit of lead marks, a bit of paper. Well, the typewriter was a splendid invention.

No Time for Music.

Vladimir Golschmann, conductor of the St. Louis Symphony, bows low at the altar of modern art. In town last week to conduct at Orchestra hall, he bolted from the train to Katharine Kuh's gallery where, he heard, a Picasso show was opening, only to find that the pictures had just arrived and were not unpacked. Nothing dismayed, he set to work to uncrate them, spending eager hours laboriously peeling paper off their glass frames to get a peep at the pictures. Miss Kuh had to remind him of his 4 p. m. rehearsal and reluctantly he left. To her surprise he was back again at 5.

Little Grains of Extraordinary Knowledge.

The most popular book in Braille for the blind is one on astronomy. . . . A Chicagoan who prides himself on his antique collection has, as a pipe rack, a tiny drawer from the desk Tony Cermak used when bailiff and clerk at the Desplaines street police station on his onward and upward path to the mayoralty. . . . Mrs. Sadie Pelton, a deaf woman who founded the Victory workshop for the deaf, has managed to incarcerate a red pickle in a jar; she thinks she is the first to achieve such a victory. . . . Every clock at Wilson Junior college (we give this on the authority of Jeanne Coyne, a pupil) tells a different time, none correctly. . . . The Field museum now tells where one can get a bride on the instalment plan—in the Kei Islands in the Netherland East Indies; it is wise, of course, to establish good credit first. . . . The most baffling of official weeks to come to the attention of America during the 52 weeks of the year is approaching. This is Butter Baked Turkey week, which will begin Dec. 15 if Gov. Green comes thru with the necessary proclamation.

The Fifth Column of 1863.

It seems to be a hobby with opera stars to have a hobby. The latest to come to our attention is that of Giuseppe Cavadore and his wife, formerly Hazel Sanborn, who collect the letters of Civil war generals. Cavadore's favorite is a note from the war department to Maj. Gen. George L. Hartsuff, assuring him he would be repaid the $3,325 he had advanced to hire spies.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

A bad choice of suits for the original bid can be responsible for all sorts of catastrophes. In today's hand [as in most cases involving huge penalties] both partners erred, but it was North who started the ball rolling and who, therefore, had to assume the major part of the blame.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 club	Pass	1 heart	Pass
1 spade	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
2 spades	Pass	3 hearts	Double
Pass	Pass	Pass

As may be seen, the bidding was a tragedy of errors on the parts of both North and South. First, North should have started with a spade, the longer and higher ranking suit. South's first two responses were correct, but when North rebid his spade suit, South should have lost his fear of a four card spade suit and promptly should have retired from the bidding. Two spades would have been an excellent contract. South had an opportunity to save himself many points by returning to three spades, after having been doubled at three hearts, but apparently was confused by the order in which North had bid his suits.

The slaughter was terrible. West hit upon an excellent opening lead, namely, his top spade. East won and, instead of continuing spades and being satisfied to give West a ruff, instituted a cross-ruff by laying down the king and the low diamond. West won the second diamond lead with the queen and played the ace, intending to lead a fourth round so that East could overruff dummy's heart seven. East, however, knowing that he could not overruff even that low card, deliberately ruffed his partner's diamond ace, to lay down the ace and another spade. West ruffed the latter and still had left the Q-10-5-4 of hearts. He exited with a club. Dummy's ace won, and at this point declarer could have saved a trick by ruffing a club, ruffing his last diamond with dummy's seven spot, and then ruffing another club with the nine. West, reduced to trumps, would have had to overruff and return a trump to the A-K-J. Even this saving was lost, however, when declarer discarded his remaining diamond on dummy's club king and then led hearts.

The 1,100 point penalty was fitting punishment for the atrocious bidding of the North-South pair.

Here's a grand suggestion for a Christmas gift for that friend of yours who is an epicure and a cook. It's a little case of cardboard filled with 8 bottles of various flavors of cooking salt. It comes from England and is part of a famous line of delicacies. There are two shakers of celery salt, and the rest are tarragon salt, onion salt, basil salt, thyme salt, savory salt, and garlic salt. These seasonings will impart to roasts and fowl and casseroles a subtle taste that is delicious.

Many Yuletide Parties Planned for Young Folk

BY JUDITH CASS.

IT'S pleasant to be able to report something cheerful and gay this morning, so we're announcing some of the many parties for the school girls and boys that have been planned for the Christmas holiday season. War or no war, elders always feel that their children must have as much carefree fun and pleasure as possible, for all too soon they will be plunged into the serious realities that make life so grim today. It is difficult for those who remember the last war to pull themselves out of the somber state of mind that we all are in these days, but, fortunately, youth is effervescent and volatile and laughter comes easily.

The subdebs and their beaux are in receipt of invitations to the annual Junior Assembly dance, which always is given on New Year's eve at the Casino. This year Mrs. T. Philip Swift is chairman of the committee that has made the arrangements for the party and Mrs. Darrow B. Fulton is treasurer. Mrs. Thomas A. Connors and Mrs. Mason Phelps are co-chairmen of ushers. Mrs. Champ Carry, Mrs. Kent Clow, Mrs. John L. Cochran, Mrs. Henry Faurot Jr., Mrs. William B. Hale, Mrs. George F. McLaughlin, Mrs. James H. Mitchell, Mrs. Bryan S. Reid, Mrs. Laurence Robbins, Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, Mrs. Clive Runnells, Mrs. Gilbert H. Scribner, Mrs. Hempstead Washburne, Mrs. Jay Whipple, Mrs. Charles D. Wiman, and Mrs. Farwell Winston are others on the committee.

Dinner Party Is Arranged for Miss Margo Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Williams Reynolds of 1420 Lake Shore drive have cards out for a dinner party at the Pump room before the Junior Assembly. They are giving the party for their daughter, Margo, who is a student at the Mount Vernon seminary in Washington, D. C., this winter. She arrives at home on Dec. 18.

The Saddle and Cycle club last week sent out invitations to a Christmas dinner-dance on Monday, Dec. 22, for the subdeb set. Mrs. John Clay heads the group of mothers who have planned the party. The Christmas party of the Dinner-Dance club will be given the next night, Dec. 23, and since this club meets at the Saddle, many of the same young people who go there on Monday will be there on Tuesday, too.

Another teen-age party for Dec. 23 is on the holiday calendar of the Woman's Athletic club. The event, a dance, is being planned by Mrs. Nicholas Starosselsky. The hours will be from 4 to 7 o'clock.

Fortnightly to Be Given Night After Christmas.

Mrs. Waldo Logan and her pets, Sunny and Torchlight Cloudy. Poor Sunny, a Sealyham, has had his nose put badly out of joint by the recent acquisition of Cloudy, and he begs touchingly every time Mrs. Logan pays the slightest attention to the new poodle.

The Waldo Logans have proof that they are excellent judges of dogs, for 10 days ago at the dog show at the Coliseum they saw a handsome black standard poodle on the bench. They decided that they must own him, so right then and there they telephoned to the owner in Lansing, Mich., and completed the transaction. About an hour later the poodle was taken into the ring and won a ribbon as best American bred standard poodle and also was reserve winning dog. Mrs. Logan plans to take lessons on how to trim the poodle and otherwise keep him in show condition. Mr. and Mrs. Logan, who live in Pierre Morel's charming house at 1250 North State street, are having a difficult time getting Cloudy, the poodle, acquainted with Sunny, their Sealyham, which they have had for some time.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

Scented soap molded in the form of wasp-waisted corsets might be too daredevilish a gift for one's prim friends, but lots of other women who like the amusing will be enchanted with it. It really is rather fun, and the fragrance is delightful.

The soap is just one item in a new bath sequence that's causing considerable excitement around the cosmetic counters. It's the gay scent that started it all.

College girls will love it; it has the nonchalance and lilt that they like, and it isn't nearly as daring as its name or its packaging might suggest. It's a little sophisticated, completely whimsical, and somehow charming in a rather naive fashion.

Every box and bottle in the sequence is decorated with the figure of a gaminlike soubrette poised in a wide skirted ballet gown. When the cover is slipped off the bottle or box the same girl stands revealed in a black, gay '90s front lace corset! It's silly as anything—and not at all shocking. It's the kind of thing that gets laughs instead of leers, hitting most deftly that fine point that makes all the difference between humor and vulgarity. The packages, like the perfume that scents all the items, are actually pretty and gay.

Every member of this blithe family of bath trimmings is inexpensive. You can get the things singly or in combination sets that make attractive gifts. Each item of soap, cologne, talc dusting powder, or bubbling bath bouquet is a "conversation piece," and the sets are striking.

Engagement

Mrs. Buettner Dillon of Crandon avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Margaret, to James Starrett, son of Mr. and Mrs. James William Starrett of Elgin, Ill. The wedding will take place in February. Miss Dillon studied at the University of Chicago. Mr. Starrett was graduated from the University of Illinois.

Glee Club of College Club to Present Musical Farce

The glee club of the Chicago College club will present a musical farce, "Omelet and Oatmelia," at 8 o'clock tonight, following dinner at the club.

BY CECIL SMITH.

After an evening with "Let's Have a Baby" the Great Northern theater's previous attraction, a labored farce called "Village Green," almost seems in retrospect to have been as great a dramatic masterpiece as "King Lear." My own experience with the Chicago stage goes back 25 years, and "Let's Have a Baby" is, as nearly as I can remember, the least meritorious professional offering I have seen during that entire quarter century.

Its appeal, if so misleading a word may be used, rests on the assumption that every aspect of motherhood and fatherhood and every intimate detail of prenatal and postnatal care is good for a coarse guffaw.

William Edward Barry, the author, trades on the American public's sentimental willingness to pardon vulgarity and dirt on the stage as long as the principal proponents are legally married. In its most active passages, the dialog is usually as leering as possible; and these sections of pruriency are at least a relief from the dull repetitiousness of the rest of the patter.

The most prominent character in the whole repugnant list of dramatis personae is a father possessed of an abnormal urge to take over all the functions of motherhood, and the relentless treatment of his Freudian inversion becomes unbearable, especially in the tawdry vaudevillian technique employed by John Effrat.

Since the play does not dream of developing any noticeable suggestion of plot until it is nearly three-fourths over, Mr. Effrat is undoubtedly burdened by the knowledge that somebody ought to be doing something, and consequently he does everything he can think of.

I sat thru the whole abysmal display mourning the wasted talents of such capable actresses as Jeanne Dixon and Jean Arden Cobb, and marveling that any single living human being—to say nothing of a pair of producers—should have ventured to invest a farthing in such unregenerate drivel.

Men in Uniform Get Free Theater Tickets at Center

Uniformed men who stopped in at the Service Men's center at 176 West Washington street yesterday were served with theater tickets with their coffee and doughnuts. One hundred free tickets to loop movie houses, theaters, and the opera were distributed by the amusement division of the Chicago Commission on National Defense. Free tickets are to be given daily to men in uniform.

Woman, 101, Starts Over; Only One Candle on Cake

There was only one candle on the birthday cake of Mrs. Marthe Jordan Mullen, who celebrated her 101st birthday yesterday. "I'm starting over," she explained to her guests. Mrs. Mullen, who lives with one of her six grandchildren, Mrs. Aubrey Norwood, at 5947 Race street, has 21 great-grandchildren.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY.

Math for the Millions.

The welfare nurse climbed the back stairs to the third floor rear. She had been there often before and each time found some extra task which seemed a far cry from teaching the young mother how to care for her newborn baby. Once, she had settled a mother-in-law argument. Another time, she helped fix the stove. This time there was a new problem.

"Please, could the nice lady help Benito with his homework. The teacher say he no good." [Benito, age 9, stood by helplessly.]

The nurse settled herself at the kitchen table with a mathematics book before her.

"I," she commented afterward, "who quit a commercial course because I couldn't add!"

Trains Then and Now.

Career girls of yesterday had an uncomfortable time of it on trains, altho the B. & O. did its best for them by putting on a special sleeping car for women in 1848. There were six long bunks divided into two tiers of three bunks each . . . no curtains between. . . . Quite a contrast to the de luxe trains which buyers and assistant buyers will board immediately after the first of the year.

Wedded to a Career.

"The Russian peasants have a proverb which says, 'Labor is the house that love lives in.' By this they mean that no two people can come into affectionate relationship with each other unless they carry on a mutual task."—Jane Addams.

This raises the question: do marriages based on a mutual task have a better chance to succeed? Does the doctor who marries the head nurse, the scientist who marries his laboratory assistant, the advertising man who weds the commercial artist, the business man who marries his secretary—have a head start in the race to the flower decked altar?

A Girl Life Guard.

Add new occupations for women: An exclusive club with a swimming pool for women members has engaged a girl lifeguard.

A Fact Test.

A girl graduate of a business college was abruptly dismissed from her first job which had come to her thru the school. The reason for the dismissal was insufficient tact to deal with the clients in the office.

The number of words per minute in dictation isn't everything. Intelligence isn't everything. The wheels of business, like other machinery, must be kept oiled . . . oiled with tact. Give yourself this Tact Test:

Can you overlook politely—

Marital difficulties of your coworkers?

"A dressing down" in the office?

Financial embarrassment of any one with whom you come in contact?

DAILY DO: Drink a full glass of milk every day if only for the sake of your teeth. More than 1,000 glasses of milk are served daily in a restaurant popular among working girls.

Dr. Wilfred H. Osgood Receives Museum Gift on His Birthday

As a gift from the Field Museum on his 66th birthday, Dr. Wilfred Hudson Osgood, curator emeritus of the zoölogy department, yesterday was presented with testimonial volume containing 400 pages. The book, entitled "Papers on Mammalogy," contains 11 zoölogical articles and is one of the most elaborate volumes printed by the Field Museum press. The gift was presented by Stanley Field, museum president. Dr. Osgood has been a member of the museum staff for 32 years and is internationally known as a zoölogist, tropical explorer and lexicographer.

Music Notes

The Glee club of the School of the Art institute of Chicago will give the second and last of its Christmas concerts in Blackstone hall at 3:45 p. m. tomorrow. Charles Fabens Kelley will conduct and Guy Mitchell will play the organ accompaniments.

Bizet's "Carmen" will be presented by the Illini Theater guild at the University of Illinois next Friday and Saturday. The entire production, even to the designing of the sets, is the work of students.

INSTALMENT XXVI.

CAPTURE.

Jack ran to his car, got in, and started the engine.

"Wish I could go along," Fallon called after him as the wheels began to move down the road.

Waugh drove fast. He ought to be in time if he hurried. It was not likely that he would get a better opportunity than this to unmask his enemies. He had brought with him Fallon's rifle as well as his own revolver. They would not be expecting him, and if there was not a slip-up somewhere he would have the advantage of the surprise.

At the junction of the roads he took the dirt cutoff and followed it for another mile until he struck a fence. Here he left the car and deflected to the left, using the barb wire as a guide. It was rough going, with plenty of cholla and prickly pear in the way to force short detours. But he traveled as rapidly as possible, for if he did not reach the pasture gate before the horsemen he had wasted his effort in coming. A wash ran close to the fence for several hundred yards and parallel to it. By taking the sandy bed of it he could make better progress.

When at last he came to the gate he stopped to listen but heard no sound of approaching horses. He struck matches and examined the ground in front of the gate. There were tracks of horses coming out of the pasture, but no recent one entering it. If the night riders were returning by this route he was in time to intercept them.

Jack chose a position back of a clump of cholla. Nearly a quarter of an hour later he heard the faint clop-clop of hoofs. Billowy clouds had been obscuring the moon, but at that moment it rode out from behind them. The sound of voices drifted to Waugh. Presently from the shadows of night emerged three horses. They came to the barbwire fence.

"Open the gate, Clem," one of the riders ordered.

Jack recognized the voice. He had heard it at Jim Fallon's cabin. There was a nasty rasp to it. The owner of it was Warren Tracy.

Peake opened the gate, grumbling the while. "I'm not yore slave, Tracy," he snarled. From back of the cholla came a curt order. "Get your hands up, all three of you. We have you surrounded on all sides."

There was a dead silence. None of the men moved. Waugh's crisp command rang out again. "Get 'em up—quick. Or we'll drill you." Then, apparently to his own men: "Cut 'em down, boys, if they make a suspicious move—any one of 'em."

Slowly Peake's hands wavered into the air. The fingers of Tracy dropped the bridle reins and went up. Parker sat motionless.

"What is this — a holdup?" he asked.

"Call it that—and stick 'em up, fellow."

Reluctantly the hands of Parker reached skyward.

"Get down from your horse, but don't drop your hands," Waugh ordered.

Tracy swung heavily from the saddle. The little gunman joined him.

"What's the big idea?" Parker asked. "We haven't $10 among us."

"Keep them covered, boys, every second. If they try any funny business, pump lead into them." Jack's next order was to Peake. "You, fellow at the gate, unbuckle your belt and let it drop."

Peake obeyed sullenly. "You've got the drop on me, fellow, with a bunch of other guys at yore back, or I'd smoke this out with you," he growled.

Jack lined them up with their faces toward the barbwire and made Peake disarm the others. He backed away to Tracy's horse, unfastened the rope at the saddle horn, and tossed it to Peake.

"Cut the rope and tie their hands behind them," he told the man.

"I haven't got a knife," growled Clem.

Obligingly Waugh threw him his.

"A posse. Don't worry about that, Tracy. You'll know all about it as soon as necessary."

Under Jack's supervision Peake tied the foreman's hands behind him. Parker slewed around his head.

"It's that fellow Waugh," he told his fellow victims out of the corner of his mouth. "And I don't believe he has got any posse. I think he's alone."

"Goddlemighty, it can't be Waugh," Tracy bleated. "I saw him crumple up when——"

He pulled his sentence up in the middle of it. The shock had almost shaken a confession out of him.

"——when you shot him, Tracy," Jack finished for the foreman. "Yet here I am good as new. I told you once that you had overrated yourself." He dismissed the bully from the picture and spoke curtly to Parker. "Start acting on any notions you have, Parker, and you'll be rubbed out before you lift a finger."

Waugh did not like the way Peake was tying the hands of Parker. He made him do it over. "Draw that rope tight when you pull it over," he ordered, "unless you want me to slam the barrel of his rifle down on your head."

"I'm doing the best I can," the man with the bandaged head complained. But it was noticeable that he did better the second time. He had met the Texan in action once and did not care for a repeat.

Jack mounted one of the horses. The revolvers of the captives he draped from the saddlehorn. Obeying instructions, Peake tied the reins of the other two animals together.

"We are on our way, gentlemen," Waugh informed the A C men. "Peake will lead the procession with the remuda. Tracy next, Parker third. I'll bring up the drag."

Tracy looked at him, hatred in his malignant eyes. "Where you taking us?" he demanded sulkily.

"Be patient, and eventually you will find out," Jack told him cheerfully. "On your way, please."

"Yeah!" Parker said, his lip lifting in a sneer. "You've got us tied up, but you can't make us walk if we don't want to go."

"You think of everything, Mr. Parker," Jack retorted, a grin on his brown face. "Quite right, I can't. But I can rope you and drag you back of your horse. Or I can rifle-whip you, toss you across the saddle and carry you as freight. I'll not be unreasonable. Take your choice. You have three options. Which shall it be?"

Parker elected to walk. The man on horseback had a rifle resting on his thighs. The smile that showed his strong ivory teeth was not reassuring. In spite of the whimsical cock of the eyebrow there was a hard and confident wariness in his gaze that repressed any insurgent impulses.

They followed the fence to the dirt road. The car was still where Jack had left it, and for the present it would have to remain there. Prisoners and captor moved down the road at a walk. The clouds had cleared and the moon shone down from a sky of stars.

"A nice night for a walk," Jack said with genial mockery. "By the way, how far is it to the Three Prongs?"

"About six miles by the road," Peake answered. "What's the point in taking us there? No sense in that. You've not got a thing against us anyhow. You find us riding peaceably back from town to the ranch. You're going to get into a lot of trouble for this, fellow."

"O, I like trouble. It's worth some to have the company of nice peaceable boys like you." The Texan laughed cheerfully." And think what a pleasure it will be to the Three Prongs lads to have a visit from you."

"Keep right on laughing," Parker said. "As long as you can."

"That's right," Tracy growled. "We'll do ours after they have patted the sod down on you."

"You're certainly an optimist," Jack told him. "After you have had so many cracks at me. Some fellows would get discouraged, but you and friend Parker keep plugging away. You ought to get A for effort, anyhow."

It took them an hour and 20 minutes to reach the Three Prongs cutoff from the main road. The ranch house was two miles farther.

Newspapers Telling War Put in Base of New Chicago Statue

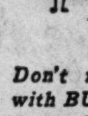
Copies of yesterday's newspapers which told the start of the United States-Japanese war were placed in a box for future historians in the base of the recently completed George Washington-Robert Morris-Haym Salomon statue at Wacker drive and Wabash avenue.

The statue was set on its marble base and will be unveiled next Monday as part of the program of Bill of Rights day. Into the box in the base also went the names of hundreds of persons who had contributed to the $50,000 fund for the monument.

The box was sealed permanently by Barnet Hodes, co-chairman of the Patriotic Foundation, and Leonard Crunelle, Chicago sculptor who completed the bronze figures after a design by the late Lorado Taft.

THE Kitchen Kibitzer

by MARIAN CARTER



A look over the shoulder of the kitchen manager in an attempt to speed, lighten, and add some novelty to her daily routine.

Don't make that pie crust with BUTTER! Butter's best for cakes and cookies, but not for pie crust. You want lard or a vegetable shortening there, for perfection. You can roll a bit of butter into the pastry if you like—but not much.

Never boil an egg. Just simmer it. Keep it in hot water until it's as firm as you want it, but remember the old adage, "a boiled egg is a tough egg." (That may not be an "old adage," exactly, but it's worth remembering.)

Unless that's one of those very old fashioned strong-cured hams (and it doesn't look that way to me, dear lady) you won't need to soak it or simmer it. Just pop it into a 325 degree oven and bake it until done, 15 minutes to the pound if it's a new, tender ham, longer if it hasn't been tenderized by the packer. Look on the wrapping for directions, or ask your dealer, if there wasn't a wrapper.

* * *

Nothing but butter will do for real, old fashioned hard sauce to go with that steamed plum pudding. Butter, lots of it, confectioners' sugar and vanilla make the orthodox hard sauce. But how about rum or brandy flavoring for Christmas menus? Orange and lemon are good, too.

Let Tidbits Go to Waste, Not to Waist!

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Don't let that solitary doughnut left over on the plate touch you with its loneliness, or let the theory that it will be thrown out if you don't eat it influence you. Sheer waste, say you! Sheer WAIST, says Donald G. Cooley, diet and food expert, in his book, "The New Way to Eat and Get Slim" [Wilfred Funk].

"That single doughnut is a treacherous, subversive influence," we're told. "It packs a 200 calorie punch. It boosts your daily intake 200 degrees above par."

The doughnut is more or less a symbol of all those extra calories you don't need and that keep you from getting slim. The doughnut, or its calorie counterpart, may have its rightful place in the sum total of the day's intake, but not as an extra item.

"In practical terms," warns Cooley, "a daily intake of 200 to 300 calories in excess of needs results in a weight increase of 8 to 10 pounds a year."

One investigator, with a diabolically mathetical turn of mind, our authority tells, has calculated that one extra pat of butter a day beyond one's needs will add 165 pounds to one's weight in 20 years.

It is possible to take extra exercise to prevent that extra food from turning into fat, Cooley concedes, but it takes more exercise than we think. For instance, for one ice cream cone [taken as an extra] you'd have to do as much exercise as is represented by washing dishes for two and three-quarter hours. For one extra peanut bar [350 calories] you'd wash clothes three hours. For one chocolate ice cream soda [400 calories] sawing wood for 55 minutes would be required. This is why exercise, altho a splendid accessory, is not practical as a sole method of reducing.

Thomas J. Thomas Heads Wesley Hospital Trustees

Thomas J. Thomas, assistant to the president of the Burlington railroad, was elected president of the board of trustees of the new Wesley Memorial hospital yesterday. He fills the vacancy recently caused by the death of Frederick Thielbar. Thomas also is president of the Valier Coal company. At the same election, Walker O. Lewis, former treasurer of Sears, Roebuck & Co., was elected vice president of the board.

Looking at Hollywood by John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 8.—It's the rich wot gets the pleasure and the poor wot gets the blime, as the old song indicates. In commercial aviation it takes eight or a dozen men on the ground for every snappily dressed pilot in the air. And in Hollywood it takes hundreds to maintain a star in the luxury he rarely deserves.

Take an assistant director, for example. On any picture there will be anywhere from one to several assistant directors, none of whom attains any fame in the job. It's only when an assistant director becomes a director that his name gets in the papers and his wages go up.

He can be, and usually is, a man with profound knowledge of movie making. He can also be, and quite frequently is, the young relative of a big city exhibitor, who, when asked what he is going to do wtih his life now that he looks as tho he were grown up, replies that he thinks it would be nice to go into the movie business.

The uninitiated visitor to a set finds it hard to identify anybody except the actors. The cameraman is not the guy who sits on the stool on the dolly and squints thru the finder; that's the assistant. The cameraman, whose union insists that he be called director of photography in the screen credits, just stands near the camera and masterminds

The director can be definitely identified only when a camera is rolling. He is the chap who sits in a chair below and slightly to the left of the camera, watching what goes on as nearly as possible from the same angle at which the lens is taking things in.

When a scene is set up, lighted and rehearsed, somebody yells "quiet!" in an imperious voice and the film begins rolling. This Capt. Bligh who has demanded quiet is not the director, but his assistant. Most directors—Gregory La Cava, William Keighley, Frank Capra, Alfred Hitchcock, Norman McLeod, and dozens more—are soft voiced and gentle. Only first liner I can think of who bellers a lot is Cecil B. De Mille.

Good men such as Red Golden, or William Tummel and William McGarry, who are Ernst Lubitsch's assistants on "To Be or Not To Be," do a great amount of skilled work. Their jobs:

They don't tell Spencer Tracy and Hedy LaMarr, or Jack Benny and Carole Lombard, what to do. They don't assist the directors in directing. Only time they do that sort of work is in mob scenes, where the assistant instructs the supers and times their movement while the director handles the principals.

But they do work. An assistant director, as Alexander Korda's historian, Jerry Dale, puts it, must be a walking encyclopedia; trouble shooter, mind reader, alarm clock for the stars, peacemaker between the director and the front office, fo'c'sle lawyer, casting expert, diplomat, and goat.

Weeks before shooting started on "To Be or Not to Be," Tummel and McGarry read the script until they knew it almost by heart. Then they broke it down, scene for scene, and outlined a shooting schedule. They charted scenes, estimated the time to be used in each, noted the number and type of extras needed, listed properties and costumes to be used. If the script said "townspeople in background," they'd have to visualize the scene and decide how many townspeople.

On the basis of their breakdown and shooting plan the budget was set. Conferences among Lubitsch, the production department, and the front office determined how many days must be allowed and how much money should be spent.

Once a picture gets going, the assistant director's job becomes one of human relations. He must see to it that players are warned of their work schedule for each following day—and that they get in on time.

The assistant director must know the myriad laws and union rules governing the employment of actors. For instance, he must know that an extra, called for an interview for a possible job, can't be held for more than an hour and a half. After that, even tho he isn't chosen for a picture, the extra begins drawing pay. The assistant frequently okays daily pay vouchers for lesser actors and decides what wage scale classification they fall in.

On location, where every hour of daylight is used, the director may sleep until 6:30 or 7—but his assistant is usually up at 4, checking government and air line weather reports, getting crews and equipment transported and ready to shoot. And he's the last to bed, his final duty being to notify everybody of the next day's plan. If the director gets a notion that he should have 10 white horses next morning, it's the assistant's job to dig them up.

It's hard, patient work at a modest salary—but it's the best of all spots for picking up overall knowledge of how to make a movie. Sixty-two per cent of Hollywood's directors came up from the assistants' ranks. Fifty-six per cent of them have worked in movies 15 years or more. There are no overnight Cinderellas in the directing business.

Love Affairs Cause End of Double Dates

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Two girls have been friends for 10 years, pals since grade school days. When they grew older and "blind dates" were in order, each would try to arrange a partner for the other. They had many double dates. It so happened that one of the girls fell in love with one of her escorts, during which period not once, the second girl complains, did she ever try to get a "double" for her. So, for seven months, the duration of the first girl's romance, our second young woman was out on a limb with no date of her own.

Now, the tables are turned. Our second girl is in the throes of a divine passion and girl No. 1 is on the limb. And her indignation is great because No. 2 girl isn't arranging any double dates for her. She's taking a mean revenge, too, by spreading stories about No. 2's boy friend.

"It is most unjust," confides No. 2, "because people are beginning to believe her, and the young man is a fine person. The whole thing has made a great difference in a long term friendship, which I regret because our families, too, are all bound up in this neighborhood relationship. What can be done to retain the girl's friendship?"

Some girls, unfortunately, are like that. Perfectly good sports when everything goes well with them, but let the tables turn, and they suddenly begin to show their talons when a man enters upon the scene. We think, however, we wouldn't give undue consideration to the young woman's feelings.

Time to Forget.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am very much in love with him. He has told me over and over to try to forget him. I tried, but can't. What can I do? HEARTBROKEN."

As he's made that statement, you'd better pretend you're forgetting him by going out with others. In time, the pain of parting will grow less severe, honey.

Her First Date.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am a girl, 14, and am going on my first date. I am afraid, I will not know how to act. Please advise. FRIGHTENED."

Try to think he may be as frightened as you are, and put him at his ease by being sweet and encourage him to talk about his various interests.

Shiny orange persimmons and deep, dull red pomegranates are two of the fruits which make December's fruit markets more than usually beautiful. "But how do we use these fruits except as part of a table centerpiece?" women are inclined to ask.

Both fruits are usable in salads or as a dessert. Pomegranate "on the half shell" is beautiful to look upon, and the seeds are scooped out and eaten with a spoon. Not everybody cares for pomegranate seeds, however, so for the most popular salads and desserts the ruby juice is extracted.

The persimmon also is eaten plain, as dessert, but here again there isn't a universal appeal. Persimmons sliced into salad, or baked into persimmon pudding, find more enthusiasts at dinner.

A persimmon at its prettiest is not pleasing to the palate. One must wait until the fruit softens almost to a mushy consistency before eating it. There is an astringency about a firm-fleshed persimmon. It coats your teeth and tongue. But fully ripe, the soft pulp is mellow and fruity. It reminds you somewhat of the apricot.

I gathered several good recipes for persimmon pudding from friends while visiting in California, where this dessert is dearly loved. This is one of them. Sometimes persimmon pudding is baked, sometimes it is steamed. And it may be served with whipped cream, lemon sauce, or hard sauce.

Persimmon Pudding.

¾ cup sugar
1½ cups sifted flour.
½ cup raisins
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup persimmon pulp
½ cup milk
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 egg, well beaten

Sift flour, sugar, spices, and soda together. Add raisins and nuts. Combine milk, butter, vanilla and egg with persimmon pulp. Stir into dry ingredients. Mix well and fill greased mold two thirds full. Cover tightly and steam for an hour or more. Or bake in a greased pan with a cover.

SAUCE: Mix 1 cup sugar, ½ cup butter, 2 eggs, 4 tablespoons water and the juice of a lemon in the top of a double boiler. Cook and stir over hot water until custardy. This is a very rich sauce and should be served in small portions.

Pomegranate juice [extract it as you would orange juice, but don't let those seeds spatter] combines so well with the flavor of orange that the two juices are used together for a cocktail or for jellied salad. Here's a good base for an excellent jellied salad, with a beautiful color: 1 package orange gelatin, 1 cup hot orange juice, 1 cup pomegranate juice. Add any combination of fruits you like. Orange segments, slices of pear and avocado make an attractive and Christmasy assortment.

New Assistant Chaplain Arrives at Fort Sheridan

First Lieut. Eric J. Cleary, new assistant post chaplain at Fort Sheridan, arrived yesterday to take up his duties. Father Cleary was formerly assigned to Camp Grant, near Rockford. The new post chaplain, Lieut. Col. Arthur F. Ewert, arrived several days ago from Camp Forrest, Tenn. There are now seven chaplains at Fort Sheridan.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Spanish corn is the favorite recipe of Mrs. R. O. Walkenhorst of Arthur, Ill. She says she doubles the recipe for pot luck suppers and church luncheons. Mrs. Walkenhorst wins $5 with this recipe contest entry.

There's a prize every day for some good cook's favorite recipe. Send your entry to Recipe Contest, Chicago Tribune.

SPANISH CORN.
[Serves four or five.]

1 cup whole grain corn
1½ cups canned tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons quick cooking tapioca

Sauté pepper and onion in melted butter. Combine with other ingredients and bake in a casserole at 375 degrees for 1¼ hours.

Christmas Toys for Child

CHRISTMAS TOY IDEAS.

Children dearly love toys, and they're the logical articles to bear in mind for Christmas gifts. Today's two patterns make a saucy looking terrier, a pair of grinning monkeys, and a tailored ensemble for Cissy's favorite doll.

Style No. 3314. Dog 10 inches tall requires ⅜ yard of 35 inch material for body, ⅜ yard contrasting; monkey, 14 inches tall, requires ½ yard of 35 inch material for body, ¼ yard for hat, jacket, and ¼ yard for skirt.

Style No. 3076 is designed for 14, 16, 18, and 20 inch dolls. Blouse requires ¼ yard of 35 inch material; suspender skirt, ½ yard of 35 inch; jacket, ¼ yard of 35 inch; beanie, ⅛ yard of 35 inch. All these requirements for 18 inch doll.

Each pattern costs 10 cents.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired and write your name and address plainly. The fall and winter pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

War Casts Its Shadows Over Opera Patrons

BY INDIA MOFFETT.

There was more than one reason why the crowd that filled the Civic Opera house last night was not as gay in spirit as those that had assembled there on the four preceding Mondays.

The war was the chief reason, of course, for every one's depression, but, also, it was the last Monday night of the season, so all regular operagoers were sad because of that.

The management had provided the gayest opera, perhaps, in the repertoire, and the singers did their part to provide plenty of comic relief, but, even so, it was not a gay evening.

The appearance of the audience was definitely gala, however, a fact which surprised a young man who has been in our diplomatic service, for he relayed the information that Europeans, Englishmen, and even Canadians consider white ties and tails bad form when one's country is in a state of war. Americans haven't learned this point of etiquette yet, but, after all, we are very newly in such a tragic state. Give us time!

A few of the many in the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holloway and their sons, John W. and Larz, and the former's wife and the latter's fiancée, Miss Ursula Kellner; Mrs. James Shakman, Mrs. Hugo Dalmar, Mrs. George T. Buckingham, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hargrave, the Weymouth Kirklands, the Howard Ellises, Mrs. Frank Fuller, Robert H. McCormick, Miss Anna Fitzu, Mrs. Ernest R. Graham, Miss Elizabeth McCormick and the James G. McMillans. Mr. McMillan, with a shock of snow-white hair, again was mistaken for Giovanni Martinelli, popular tenor and artistic director of the opera company, by some autograph seekers.

Fortune Gallo, general director, always stands in the lobby as the opera goers enter, a nice custom and one that makes every one feel as if he being personally welcomed.

Others there last night were Mr. and Mrs. William A. Nitze, the Paul Chittendens, Mrs. John R. Howland and her sister, Mrs. Joseph Gazzam Jr. of Baltimore and Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Hinckley, Mr. and Mrs. George Traver, Mr. and Mrs. Barnett Faroll, Mrs. Charles C. Renshaw, Mr. and Mrs. M. Lee Alberts, Dr. and Mrs. William M. McGovern, Mrs. Eugene Howard, Mr. and Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins, Mrs. Charles Wrigley, the William D. Saltiels, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. Otho F. Ball, Mrs. Arnold Kirkeby, and the James C. Thompsons.

Franco Autori Introduces Two Works to City

Franco Autori, who regularly conducts the Buffalo Philharmonic orchestra, returned last night to direct the weekly concert in the Civic theater of the Illinois WPA symphony, an ensemble which he has led in past seasons. In the course of a well planned program he introduced two works to Chicago, the Symphony No. 1 in B flat by the 18th century English composer, William Boyce, and an Essay for Orchestra by the contemporary American, Samuel Barber.

The Boyce Symphony is basically Handelian in style, as one might expect, but it is not too imitative, boasting a hearty, Anglo-Saxon vigor and extroversion of its own. Whether its movements are primarily contrapuntal or melodic, the phrases are often refreshingly turned and the rhythms neatly asserted. With the seven other symphonies that Boyce wrote, which have been resurrected by Constant Lambert, as this one was, it should be make a good addition to the répertoire of small orchestras.

Mr. Barber's work is skilfully planned, intriguingly orchestrated, and full of well contrived music, the succinct development of a few germinal ideas. It fails to impress, however, because almost all the devices in it were used just as skilfully a decade before when Shostakovich wrote his first symphony.

These compositions and Paul Hindemith's magnificent "Mathis der Maler" Symphony—an undisputed 20th century masterpiece—were given careful, competent readings by Mr. Autori. The conductor obviously knows his scores well, but a lack of cohesion in the performance creates a static feeling and occasional want in logic. Altho the orchestra played well, it had to struggle with the abnormal difficulties of the Hindemith piece and this added to the imperfection of the performance.

Sidney Foster, a very young pianist, made his Chicago debut, playing the Beethoven Third Concerto with the orchestra. His pianism has a gratifying youth and healthiness that in the concerto's rondo amounted almost to pugnacity. He used a rather dry tone that suited the work nicely.

Christmas, and, as usual, all those who went to the "Fort" before going away to school will be invited. Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson is giving a dinner before the dance for her daughter, Anne Wilson, who is at Dobbs Ferry this winter. The orchestra that will play for this dance is of especial interest to the young people, for it is George Foster's band and George used to go to the "Fort." He is the son of Mrs. George B. Foster of Astor street.

The Indian Hill club will have a dinner-dance for young people on Dec. 20, and on Christmas night a group of 10 north shore subdebs will give a dancing party at the same club.

The Exmoor club will be the setting for the Dinner club's Christmas party which will be given on Tuesday, Dec. 30. Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Ball III., Mr. and Mrs. William Telford Jones, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Zischka will act as hosts.

Mrs. Alfred H. Gross of Evanston is giving a tea on Dec. 30 for her subdeb granddaughter, Sallie-Ann Thomas, who will return from the San Luis school in Colorado Springs to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Rene P. Travelletti, in Winnetka.

Charles Edward Browns' Daughter to Wed in East.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edward Brown of Lake View avenue will be making a trip to New York later this month, for their daughter, Betty Brown Whitman, is to be married there to Ensign Wagner Mahlon Dickerson. Their engagement was announced yesterday afternoon at a cocktail party in the home of Ensign Dickerson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stiles Dickerson Jr. of New York City, and if present plans are carried out the wedding will take place on Dec. 22.

Young Mrs. Whitman, who has been living recently in New York, attended the Fermata school, Les Fougeres, in Lausanne, Switzerland, and Miss Nixon's in Florence, Italy. She made her debut in 1930 and is a member of the Junior League of New York and of the Daughters of the Cincinnati. Her marriage to Allen Earle Whitman, which took place in 1933, ended in divorce three years ago.

Ensign Dickerson was graduated in 1932 from Princeton university, where he was a member of the Cottage club, and in 1935 from the Harvard law school. In 1936 he became assistant United States attorney for the southern district of New York, a post which he held until resigning in 1939 to go into private practice.

Ensign Dickerson's Post at Brooklyn Navy Yard.

Since enlisting in the navy Ensign Dickerson has been assigned to the Brooklyn naval yard as aide to Adm. Edward J. Marquart. His brother, John Stiles Dickerson III., also is in the service and it was he who gave the cocktail party yesterday during a brief leave from the coast guards. Their grandfather, John Stiles Dickerson, defended the America cup in 1876 in his yacht, the Madeline. Ensign Dickerson was named for his great-uncle, Mahlon Dickerson, who was United States senator from New Jersey, governor of New Jersey, first ambassador to Russia, and secretary of the navy.

After a short wedding trip Ensign Dickerson and his bride will be at home at 150 East 73d street, New York.

The war, which will cause many changes in the plans of numerous people, already has been responsible for the cancelation or postponement of the painting of a portrait of one of Lake Forest's pretty, young matrons. Mrs. Peter Moon was to have left today for New York to sit for Pavel Tchelichew, but she has decided not to go in the face of the grave situation.

The many friends that Rose and Peter Gallienne made when he was here with the British consulate 10 or 12 years ago will be delighted to learn that the Galliennes, formally known as Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gallienne, are returning to Chicago. He will take the place of Robert Ross, who is going to Iceland as consul. Since leaving Chicago Mr. Gallienne has been in Santa Domingo, Estonia, and New York.

Your Handwriting

BY SHIRLEY SPENCER.

Vilhajalmur Stefansson, the arctic explorer, whose many observations on Iceland and its climatic conditions are now proving interesting and valuable, has a handwriting which might surprise most people, it is so small, light, and delicate in appearance. Those who have seen this imposing Scandanavian Viking can vouch for the fact that physically he does not resemble his dainty and fastidious script. But when we check back on Mr. Stefansson's predominating contribution as an arctic explorer, we find that it is his accurate, scientific observations which have been important and are especially so now. It is his marvelous powers of observation which are so accurately reflected in his precise script.

When I met Mr. Stefansson many years ago he immediately said he was going to test my powers of observation and so he deliberately misspelling. However, I told him that when I failed to notice the misspelling. However, Itold him that wasn't a fair test because I was interested in and trained to notice how the letters were made and not what they spelled. But under any circumstances I wouldn't think of trying to compete with his trained mind. The discipline and patience necessary to attain such accuracy represent a rare combination in a person who also has the physical traits and attributes of an arctic explorer.

Be Practical About Child's Card Material

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

Here are some helpful, practical suggestions about the children making Christmas cards.

There are various sorts of supplies you can buy for this jolly pre-Christmas occupation. A visit to a good art supply shop, or such a department in the big store where you shop, will timulate ideas you have, and give you others. Large sheets of paper, for instance, may be bought in colors, and in gold and silver. Bristol board or similar cardboard also may be bought in color in large sizes. These you or the children will need to cut to size.

Since mailing is the usual fate of Christmas cards, it is well to exercise a little foresight in the matter of envelopes that will carry the finished Christmas greeting. Of course, if only a few cards are made, an envelope may be cut and pasted by the child, but what a chore that is, we discovered in our family! So try to get for the purpose square or oblong envelopes larger than an ordinary envelope, then cut the paper or card that is to be decorated so that it will fit the envelope.

Most children who are encouraged to use their hands, own paints and crayons. If water colors are to be used in making designs, it is often best to mix the paint thick, not as one would for a "wash." Tempera or poster colors which ordinarily come in small jars are very practical for children, especially if they are working on a large scale. Brushes that point up are a necessity. A camel's hair brush does this.

Another way of achieving a design, if a boy or girl has no facility in drawing, is to trace the design selected. You know, I suppose, after the tracing is done, the tracing paper then is turned face down on the paper or card to be used, and the reverse side of the lines is gone over with a pencil. Carbon paper, too, may be used, but carefully.

If you have not a supply of your own Christmas cards from other seasons to let the children have for cutouts, they may make use of old magazines for cutting out colored pictures of holly wreaths, candles, Christmas trees, reindeer, religious pictures, and bells. The resulting pasted design may not be as artistic, but it may be good, and lots of fun.

How can you amuse the convalescent child? What is the most difficult age? How may stubbornness be prevented? These and other problems are discussed in "You and Your Young Child," Mrs. Gladys Bevans' latest booklet, on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 S. Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price, 15 cents; postpaid, 18 cents.

Your Stars ★ Today ★

By WYNN

Tuesday, Dec. 9.

Some days we find it more than usually difficult to see the fruits of our past and present good works—today is like that. But we shouldn't lose faith, for this isn't the sort of day for that sort of thing; rather it shows up our errors.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead from anniversary today demands ability to share, cooperate, justly but not to excess—avoid gullibility, over generosity, care with law; especially from mid-July. Danger: March 21-April 6; Aug. 21-30.

Handkerchiefs Scarce; Buyers Snap Them Up

BY REA SEEGER.

At the handkerchief counters they will smile and warn you that linen supplies are limited. Sometimes a couple of dozen is all they have and all they could get of a particular style. Those who heed the warning snap at the present supplies, especially the 18 inch handkerchiefs spartanly decorated with appliqued borders. These are the particular choice of the smart woman who prefers expensive looking simplicity.

Others will beam over the lace edged trifles which are scarcely a foot square, including the val lace frills along the outer edge and the narrow band insertion sewed to the inside linen square. Others will appreciate exquisitely fine embroidered handkerchiefs with designs so decoratively feminine that they are the essence of sheer beauty. Embroidered initials in huge flowing script are embellished with tiny flowerets, bowknots and birds and leaves.

Handkerchiefs with real lace make ideal gifts for the spring bride. Some are almost entirely of lace around a microscopic square of fine linen, others have deep edging, still others a corner of lace. These are more expensive, but moderate considering that they have heirloom qualities.

All-white handkerchiefs as feminine accents are fashion spotlight stealers this year, but you can find many others which make attractive use of color. Among these are the white affairs with a dramatic corner initial in color. The usual supply of bold prints is better and more varied than has been unpacked for some time.

Evening handkerchiefs made of gigantic squares of chiffon come in bright colors, pastels and white or black. The best of these are printed with a single American beauty rose in a diagonal line from one corner to the opposite.

STOCKINGS GO FURTHER

How's 340 hours of wear from one pair of pretty silk sheers?

Meet Wanda Meade, Fashion Show Model. She's so pleased! . . . "What a test! What wear! Seems to me that's the longest I've ever had a pair of stockings wear! Now I wash out my stockings with Ivory Flakes as soon as I take them off instead of sticking them in the laundry bag." Yes, prompt Ivory Flakes care pays!

. . . Betty Anne Burke's nylons stayed color-fresh and strong through 56 days of wear

Business-girl and flyer, too! Thrilled Betty Anne Burke reports: "I wore this pair of beautiful nylons every day at work in a brokerage office, and wore them flying, too. Each night I washed them with New Ivory Flakes. It paid me well to treat my nylons just as carefully as my silk stockings. Ivory Flakes are tops with me."

Make the stockings you have seem like more!

THEY'RE NOT THE ONLY GIRLS who are thanking Ivory Flakes these days—when longer stocking wear is more important than ever! Hundreds of busy women like these have taken Ivory Flakes "one-pair tests." And their testimony has shown millions this easy way to help stockings go further!

TRY IVORY FLAKES 4 RULES for stocking success! They're easy! They're practical! They work! And the New Double-Quick Ivory Flakes dissolve twice as fast—even in lukewarm water! You get slews of silky-soft suds that freshen up your stockings in just 2 minutes!

GIVE YOUR STOCKINGS IVORY FLAKES CARE after every wearing! See how beautifully they wear. How well they fit. How pretty their color stays. Get Ivory Flakes today!

1. Wash your stockings with pure Ivory Flakes immediately after every wearing. Get rid of perspiration and soil that weaken the fibers.
2. Use lukewarm Ivory Flakes suds. (Strong soaps and hot water can cause fading.)
3. Don't rub. Gently squeeze pure Ivory Flakes suds through your stockings.
4. Dry away from heat and strong sunlight. Always let Ivory Flakes care help your stockings give longer wear. (A pure, gentle soap is kind to delicate hosiery threads and colors.)

MIZE-CAMILLI TRADE BREWS AT BASEBALL MEETING

MOON MULLINS—A PASSING FANCY

Tigers Bid Highest for Bill Lee.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Gossip of the possible trading of Dolph Camilli, first baseman of the champion Brooklyn Dodgers and the winner of the National league's most valuable player award this year, for Johnny Mize, heavyweight slugger of the St. Louis Cardinals, persevered in competition with war talk yesterday.

Most of the major league baseball officials were on hand in the Palmer House for the three day convention which opens this morning, but many of the nabobs found it difficult to talk baseball swaps. They were talking patriotism in general, and when they did veer into baseball it was with a close scrutiny of the military status of the several athletes who will or will not play baseball come next summer.

Giants May Get Camilli.

Both Camilli and Mize are family men and for that reason are expected to be able to play major league baseball in 1942. So far no one has mentioned the possibility there may be no major league baseball in 1942.

If the Camilli-Mize trade does go thru it is probable that Mize will play first base for the Dodgers, but it is unlikely that Camilli will be at the same station for the Cards. Camilli would be sold to one of several bidders, among them the Giants. A triangular trade would take some heat off the Dodgers, such as would ensue were the Dodgers to send Camilli across the river to the despised Giants.

The reason that Camilli would not linger long on the Cardinal roster is because the St. Louis outfit is placing high stock in Ray Sanders, who starred with the pennant winning Columbus Red Birds last season. And if Sanders doesn't stack up the St. Louisans still will have the versatile Johnny Hopp, who filled in sensationally last season while Mize was out with a broken hand and a lame shoulder.

Tigers Lead Bidding for Lee.

The Cubs were at headquarters early but the day failed to move their most salable chattel, Bill Lee. General Manager James T. Gallagher announced several weeks ago that the big right hander would not be peddled to any National league team, but there are indications that he might be switching from that stand, altho the Detroit Tigers topped the list of five teams said to have made offers for Lee. The Tigers were the only American league team on the list.

Four National league clubs, all of which regularly have waived on Lee during the last year, were listed as among those willing to take Lee. Inasmuch as they all passed him on the waiver price of $7,500, it is assumed some of the National fellows are seeking to get him for something under that sum, which is ridiculous.

The National league will hold its first session this morning with President Ford Frick presiding. It has been indicated that the war situation will be one of the first subjects of discussion.

Patriotic Pledge from Ott.

Months ago baseball pledged itself to coöperate in every possible way with the defense program and the conduct of the organized sport has been consistent with that pledge. With the nation not at war, club owners had every confidence that schedules would go on, sans such personnel as joined the military service. There were some volunteers, but for the most part athletes awaited their call thru selective service.

Now, with the country actually at war many expressed views similar to

Gabby Hartnett Named Manager at Indianapolis

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 8 (AP).—Appointment of Leo [Gabby] Hartnett, veteran big league catcher, as manager of the Indianapolis American association baseball club for 1942 was announced today by Frank McKinney, one of the new owners of the club.

Gabby Hartnett.

Hartnett formerly managed the Chicago Cubs and last year served as coach of the New York Giants.

Terms of his contract with Indianapolis, which is for one year, were not made public. Hartnett and Donie Bush, co-owner of the team, now are in Chicago for the major league baseball meeting.

The Cleveland pitching star last night indicated he would be out of organized baseball next year and would announce his plans tonight. He is expected to enlist in the navy.

Dykes Confers with Tigers—Then Is Silent

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

James J. Dykes, the White Sox boss who is more or less frantic about obtaining outfield help, found himself in what little spotlight was turned on yesterday preliminary to the opening of the American league's annual business sessions this morning in the Palmer House.

Accompanied by Vice President Harry Grabiner, Dykes conferred with Del Baker, manager of the Tigers, talking trade. Dykes looked over the Tigers' ivory list and gave a similar summary of Sox names to Baker. He then announced nothing had happened. However, Dykes did manage to sputter to newspaper men that his sparring with Baker might be renewed.

Today Dykes may begin operations along a new line. The venerable Connie Mack of the Athletics will arrive and his former pupil intends to plead for the services of Outfielder Wally Moses.

Mr. Dykes Is Silent!

The Sox manager usually is a fellow of as many words as a dictionary. After talking with Baker, a man with whom he had previously declared he wouldn't deal because the Tigers have nothing he covets, Dykes became a fellow without a tongue. To the baseball writers he offered nothing beyond the fact that he really had seen Baker. He wouldn't mention what names entered into the conference, a close mouthed technique that made the reporters who know Dykes suspect that he had just about come to an agreement with the Tigers.

May Not Wait for Browns.

The presumption among the experts is that Dykes has asked the Tigers for Barney McCosky or Bruce Campbell, both fly chasers. Dykes, supposedly, is willing to give up a pitcher, possibly Eddie Smith, the rotund southpaw.

Dykes' willingness to go back to work on the Tigers may be accepted as proof that he isn't going to wait for the St. Louis Browns to make up their minds on his bids. By taking charge of the negotiations with Detroit Dykes also may have an idea he can break up the multi-manned swap the Tigers and Browns have been haggling over for more than a week. If Dykes can reach agreement with Detroit ahead of the Browns he may put them in a spot that will soften them up on his offer of a catcher for one of their fly chasers. In that event he would land two outfielders, which is his main order.

Dykes repeated he would not consider Rudy York, the Tiger slugger, who, after a fashion, plays either first base or the outfield. Dykes also declared he was not interested in Hank Greenberg.

Feller May Join Navy.

Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' pitching sensation came in from his Van Meter, Ia., home and suddenly vanished, much to the discomfiture of Lou Boudreau, his new boss. Feller couldn't be coaxed into a statement on his immediate plans, but it is expected he will enroll in the military forces within 24 hours. Feller is believed interested in the naval service and may enroll at Great Lakes station. Feller's draft number is slated to be included in the next quota from the Cleveland district in which he is registered.

NORTHWESTERN BEATS WESTERN MICHIGAN, 61-39

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Otto Graham, Northwestern's brilliant sophomore athlete, began last night on the basketball court at the same pace he performed this fall in Dyche stadium. Graham scored 11 field goals and four free throws to lead the Wildcats to their inaugural basketball victory in Evanston High school gymnasium over Western Michigan college, 61 to 39.

Graham hit five times from the field in the first half as the Wildcats piled up a 29 to 19 lead and thruout his term on the court, Graham was ably supported by Bob Jake, sophomore forward from Milwaukee, and Russ Wendland, one of the two veterans who started at the guard positions.

Show Smooth Floor Work.

While the Wildcats, as a group, had superior height and consequently controlled both backboards, smoother ball handling from the free throw line into the backboard was the key to Northwestern's scoring. Graham hit unusually well, but he did not demand more than his share of the attempts. In fact, Northwestern moved easily when Graham was the pivot man for the passing attack.

Jake was short on many of his shots after this passing combination penetrated Western Michigan's defense. If he had fulfilled expectations, the Wildcats' winning margin might have been astronomical. As it was, Northwestern last night topped its last year's scoring record.

Ted Esser started at center for Northwestern and played half of the game. Bud Hasse was his principal relief and the veteran center sparked the Wildcats in the second half after a nearly futile five minutes. Wendland gave the best exhibition from the free throw line with seven points in as many attempts. He also cut down the side lines and in toward the basket for three field goals.

N. U. Takes Early Lead.

Jake opened the scoring with a one handed shot but Northwestern trailed almost immediately, 3 to 2, on Del Loranger's penalty shot after Capt. Henry Clason's foul and Myron Ballard's basket. Northwestern then ran up a 10 to 3 lead. Western rallied to narrow the gap to 12 to 9 and again at 16 to 13 before Northwestern put the result beyond reach.

Western Michigan was behind only 34 to 23 after five minutes of the second half. Graham and Jake went to work and five minutes later the Wildcats were in front, 45 to 25. Harold Gensichen topped Western Michigan's attack with six field goals and three penalty shots.

Northwestern's next game will be played Dec. 20 against Pittsburgh in the Chicago Stadium.

PATTY BERG HURT IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH IN TEXAS

Corsicana, Tex., Dec. 8 (AP).—Patty Berg, Minneapolis golf star, suffered a fractured left knee cap and a lacerated jaw today in an automobile collision 17 miles southeast of here. Helen Dettweiler of Washington, D. C., also a golf star, escaped injury. Miss Berg was brought to a Corsicana hospital.

The two were on their way to Palestine, Tex., when their car and another collided.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

DISPROVING the old saying "He who hesitates is lost": Ten years ago next month, Mel Ott, the new manager of the Giants, and Bill Terry, who was promoted to the general managership to make room for Mel, were holding out for salary boosts. . . . The Wake's recent reference to the durability of soccer players seems to have started something. . . . The Chicago Schwabens want the world to know that their Ernie Schaff has been playing for 15 years; the Vikings' Gus Wihlborg has been around for 16, and the Swedes' Kid Johnson has been taking his Sunday bumps and bruises for 13. . . . Fritzie Zivic has stopped his share of punches in the ring, but that flat nose is a memento of his youthful baseball days on the Pittsburgh sandlots. . . . Fritz, it seems, forgot to duck when a flying bat came his way. . . . Babe Phelps declares he will quit baseball for good if the Dodgers exile him to the Phillies. . . . Most players would consider the move automatic retirement in itself. . . . So the modern football player hasn't the fortitude of his longhaired predecessors, eh? . . . The defense offers two examples in refutation of the charge: Frank Sinkwich, Georgia back, and Spencer Moseley, Yale center. . . . Both suffered fractured jaws early in the season and carried on with their faces wired together. . . . Sinkwich won national recognition with a strong team and Moseley the captaincy with a weak one. . . . Jimmy Conzelman, the Chicago Cardinals' coach, will be busy in Hollywood this winter writing movie shorts. . . . Five other baseball men are said to have refused the managership of the Phillies which finally went to Hans Lobert. . . .

The University of Maryland is justly proud of the fact that 95 per cent of its varsity athletes are successful students, too. . . . Cleveland baseball writers were a trifle disappointed when Manager Lou Boudreau appointed Burt Shotton and Oscar Melillo as coaches. . . . They had wanted to give one of the jobs to Willie Kamm. . . . This department feels that Lou took his first step along the road to managerial success when he chose two such talented veterans to assist him. . . . Ten of the football letter winners at the University of Missouri are from St. Louis. . . . The only three Yale graduates coaching major football teams are Alonzo Stagg, College of the Pacific; Ducky Pond, Bates, and Dr. Mal Stevens, New York university. . . . New York's De Witt Clinton High school, largest boys' school in the country, has been forced to drop baseball because of lack of an appropriation.

ROTTNER LEADS LOYOLA FIVE IN 64 TO 19 VICTORY

Rambler Captain Scores 25 Points.

Loyola university had little trouble scoring its second victory of the season last night, defeating Arkansas State, 64 to 19, at Loyola. Capt. Mickey Rottner made 12 baskets and a free throw, missing the Loyola record of 27 points by only one field goal.

The outcome was never in doubt from the time Mickey scored his first goal on a push shot in the first minute of play. Arkansas was held scoreless for the first seven minutes while Loyola ran up 13 points. By half time the score was 28 to 10, with Emmett Burke getting two of the three Arkansas baskets.

After Tom Penn scored in the second period Loyola went out ahead, 48 to 12, before Penn finally made another basket. The entire Loyola team saw action. The Ramblers meet Chicago in Bartlett gymnasium Wednesday night. Lineups:

Johnny Crimmins, the Detroit veteran, who surprised fans by rolling up a 1,006 score in the first five games bowled on the new alleys at the All-Star tournament in the Coliseum Sunday, demonstrated again last night that his game actually is at its best. Johnny totaled 1,014 in his second appearance and took the lead among the 70 stars competing in the event, with a 2,020 aggregate. The show is sponsored jointly by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Alley Proprietors of America.

Ned Day, national match game champion, turned in a spectacular 10 game average of 234 last night in winning nine games from Lowell Jackson of St. Louis, the challenger for his title. His high game was 288 and his low was 203. Jackson won the second game by shooting 252 to Day's 219. Day added 55.40 points to his match game score over Jackson, while the latter's 1,914 pins gave him 39.14 points. Day now has a total of 658.3 points to Jackson's 589.25. Last night's scores:

L. Jackson, 189, 252, 223, 181, 183, 210, 173, 183, 172, 147—1,914.

Winchester Rolls 1,037.

Second to Crimmins at the end of half the 20 game assignment the All-Stars are facing before the high 11 among their number go into match play was Frank Mataya of St. Louis. Mataya added 1,034 to 950 he rolled Sunday for a 1,984 count. His series was the day's second best, being three pins behind that of Edgar Winchester of Philadelphia who got 1,037 while crossing alleys with Mataya. Both Mataya and Winchester originally had been picked as alternates but were moved up into starting positions when other principals were forced to drop out.

Lausche Rolls 1,025.

Ray Newton of Memphis, Tenn., who tied for 15th place at the end of Sunday's opening day reckonings, knocked down 1,025 pins to bring his total to 1,962.

Newton's splurge raised him to fourth place, a few pins behind Joe Sinke of Chicago, Sunday's leader, who added a 941 to his opening 1,030 for a 1,971 total.

Two other bowlers who rolled over 1,000 were Charlie Lausche,

ST. PHILIP JUNIOR AND SENIOR FIVES DEFEAT ST. MEL'S

Former Triumphs, 43-21, for Six in Row.

St. Philip High's junior basketball team yesterday ran its string of victories to six as it defeated St. Mel, 43 to 21, in St. Philip gymnasium. Ed Kelly led the St. Philip attack, scoring seven field goals. Two dollar mutuels paid: Aldridge, $4.40 straight, $3.00 place, $2.40 show; Flag Etta, $4.40 place, $3.40 show; Apprehend, $4.40 show.

ALDRIDGE, in thick of contention from start, responded when shaken up and wore down FLAG ETTA to win going away. FLAG ETTA raced READY ABOUT into defeat to take command but could not resist winner. APPREHEND closed willingly after being unable to keep up early. WELSH LAD was squeezed back going to first turn and rallied mildly. BOB JUNIOR moved up menacingly then weakened. BALKANESE had early speed. READY-ABOUT came over on horses at first turn and quit after setting early pace. LITTLE RIPPER had early speed.

FOURTH RACE—Purse $600. Three year olds and up. Six and one-half furloongs. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 2:59. Off at 2:59¼. Winner, br. g., 3, by Chilhowee-Sea Saga, by Tryster. Owner-Trainer, J. Hartnett. Time, 1:21.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Indian Sea, $12.00 straight, $6.80 place, $3.20 show; Long Legs, $4.60 place, $2.80 show; Ring Up, $2.60 show.

INDIAN SEA blocked DUSTY DUNLIN directly after start, drew clear of LONG LEGS on backstretch and held sway thereafter. LONG LEGS was sent to contention early, moved up menacingly in early stages and held on gamely. RING UP, well placed thruout, came with good energy at end. DUSTY DUNLIN failed to rally after being shutoff early. STRUMMING closed some ground. CLOCK MOUSE had early speed.

FIFTH RACE—Purse $600. Three year olds. One mile and a sixteenth. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 3:27. Off at 3:27¼. Winner, ch. f., 3, by Omar Khayyam-Pennant Queen, by Pennant. Owner, Mrs. D. T. Dorner. Trainer, E. Brining. Time, 1:48 3-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Persian Queen, $9.40 straight, $6.00 place, $4.80 show; Pittsburgh, $12.80 place, $6.00 show; Feed Patch, $4.20 show.

PERSIAN QUEEN, steadied closest to pace of PITTSBURGH, responded when placed to drive, wore down leader and won easily. PITTSBURGH, first away, saved ground while setting pace and held on with good energy. FEED PATCH, well placed thruout, showed an even effort. ROUGH GOING made up some ground. PURPORT rallied mildly. JACOTTE had speed to midstretch then faltered. SUPPER SHOW and MAGIC HILL were thru early.

SIXTH RACE—Purse $1,000. Three year olds and up. About 7 furlongs. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 4:00. Off at 4:04. Winner, ch. g., 7, by Grand Time-Sand Trap, by Trap Rock. Owner, Mrs. J. Y. Christmas. Trainer, J. Y. Christmas. Time, 1:26 3-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Rough Time, $8.20 straight, $4.40 place, $3.20 show; Fritz, $7.40 place, $3.00 show; Imperial Impy, $2.20 show.

ROUGH TIME assumed command while under hard ride to first turn, was well rated while showing in front, bore out slightly entering stretch but held on gamely when placed to prsseure in last eighth. FRITZ, never far off pace, made bold bid in stretch and just got up for the place. IMPERIAL IMPY was unable to outrun winner in first eighth, faltered in final drive. SARAN lacked early speed, came well in last quarter while racing wide. BLUESTRING caught tired horses. DOCKET weakened after a half. REMOLEE and ENGLES charm stopped.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse $700. Four year olds and up. One mile and a sixteenth. Start good. Won handily, place easily. Went to post at 4:31. Off at 4:32. Winner, br. g., 4, by Sir James-Bay Ordy, by Light Brigade. Owner, Mrs. J. Y. Christmas. Trainer, J. Y. Christmas. Time, 1:47 4-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Rough Brigade, $3.60 straight, $2.40 place, $2.20 show; Centerville, $2.40 place, $2.40 show; Speed Ship, $3.60 show.

ROUGH BRIGADE, much the best, set pace under rating, drew out when asked and won with speed in reserve. CENTERVILLE was closest to pace from break, was hard ridden but was no match for winner. SPEED SHIP lugged into rail while making move on backstretch and weakened in final test. SCORIA had no excuse. LYCONNA and GOANTELL had early speed.

SCANLON IS NEW FOOTBALL COACH AT HOLY CROSS

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 8 (AP).—Anthony J. Scanlon, coach of St. Joseph's High school in Philadelphia for 14 years, tonight was appointed head football coach at Holy Cross college. He succeeded Joe Sheeketski, crusader coach for three years, who resigned earlier today, Athletic Director Thomas J. McCabe disclosed.

A graduate of St. Joseph's college in Philadelphia, where he was a half back and captain in 1923, the 35 year old Scanlon turned out six Catholic league champions at the Quaker city prep school. Length of his Holy Cross contract and terms were not disclosed.

FENGER ELEVEN, OAK PARK MAY PLAY NEXT YEAR

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

The question of Suburban league football supremacy over Public School league elevens may be given a direct answer next fall. Fenger High, representative in Mayor Kelly's All-City spectacle in 1938, 1939, and 1940, is negotiating for a game with Oak Park High, Suburban league champion, in 1942, provided the proposed new sectional setup is voted upon by the Public School league.

Fenger High this season played eight sectional games, but its schedule will be reduced if the league adds a new division. Thirty-four teams competed in the four sections of the league this season. Coaches Chuck Palmer of Fenger and Glenn [Pat] Holmes of Oak Park began negotiations for the game last Saturday night while attending the All-State banquet in Champaign.

Clare De Valk, Fenger's giant senior tackle, speaking: "My college selection? Well, I'd like to follow Don Griffin." . . . Don is at Illinois. . . . Preliminaries of the 20 yard pool swimming meet will be held at the University of Chicago today. . . . Lane Tech is defending champion in both the junior and senior divisions. . . . Forty Chicago schools have entered the University of Chicago holiday tournament opening on Dec. 27. . . . DuSable, led by Nat Clifton, won the meet last year by defeating Tuley, 50 to 38.

De Valk, Al Baffo, and Kimball Howes are the leading candidates for the annual trophy given by the Epsilon Nu Fraternity at Fenger. . . . Don Clemens, veteran backstroker, has been chosen as captain of the Morgan Park swimming squad. . . . Tony Rotunno, former Austin star, was one of the leaders in St. Ambrose's 19 to 6 victory over Loras college recently. . . . Ed Bernstein, Marshall guard and most valuable football player, plans to enter the University of Michigan. . . .

Hawks, Bruins Battle Tonight on Boston Ice

In Boston Town

CHICAGO.		BRUINS.

Two games in a row with the world's champions, the Stanley Cup holders and the 1940-'41 league leading scorers, the Boston Bruins—that's the task confronting the Blackhawks, who are traveling eastward to Boston, where they play the first of the two games tonight.

The Bruins have played five games on their home ice to date, have not been defeated, and have averaged over 4 goals per victory. However, Boston is not invincible, as was shown Sunday when the New York Rangers spotted the champions 2 goals and then went on to vanquish them, 5 to 4.

It's First in Boston.

In a previous meeting the Hawks downed Boston, 3 to 2. The clash tonight will be the teams' first meeting this season in Boston.

When the Bruins were establishing their unbeaten game record of 23 last season, the Hawks met them three times. Two of the games ended in 2 to 2 and 4 to 4 ties. The other went to the Bruins, 3 to 2. It was the best record of the six teams that met Boston during their phenomenal run, during which the Bruins' record against Detroit was two victories, two ties; Americans, four victories and one tie; Rangers, two victories and two ties; Canadiens, four victories; Toronto, two victories and one tie.

Play Here Sunday.

The second game of the two straight between the Bruins and Hawks will be played next Sunday in the Stadium.

Boston will be using all of its great power in tonight's game for it is tied with the Toronto Maple Leafs, a victory or a tie will give it undisputed possession of first place in the league.

The Hawks also need the game. A victory will tighten their hold on third place, for the Rangers who meet the lowly Americans Thursday while the Hawks are idle, would still be a half game behind the Chicago team in the event of defeating Red Dutton's squad.

The Hawks will leave Boston Wednesday, arriving in Chicago Thursday morning.

Rough Time Captures Charles Town Feature

Charles Town, W. Va., Dec. 8 (AP).—Mrs. J. Y. Christmas' Rough Time won the Rome Schwagel purse today by a length and a half over Fritz and an even greater margin over J. L. Friedman's Imperial Impy, the favorite who finished third. Rough Time, after holding up the start of the race with his actions, went the seven furlongs in 1:26 3-5 and paid $8.20 for each $2.

TURF WRITERS PICK WHIRLAWAY HORSE OF YEAR

Calumet Farm Star Beats Alsab, 96 to 90.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—In the tightest finish the race has ever boasted, Whirlaway nosed out Alsab today to become the horse of the year for 1941.

Balloting in the turf and sport Digest's annual poll, the nation's sports experts picked Warren Wright's long tailed three year old by six votes over the sensational two year old who was bid in as a $700 yearling bargain by Al Sabath last year.

For his performance in taking 13 of 20 races, earning $272,386, becoming the fifth triple crown winner in all racing history and boosting his money winnings to where he now stands as a distinct threat to the all time record, Whirlaway was named on 96 of 195 ballots. Alsab, flashing to victory in his last ten starts and piling up a bankroll of $110,600 in his first year of racing, drew 90 nominations. Not another galloper got more than three votes.

Big Pebble Tops Division.

Naturally, each was named to head his respective division by a lop sided margin, Whirlaway as king of the three year olds and Alsab as boss of the two year old colts. Petrify, a speedy miss who came home on top in six of her nine outings, easily gave Alf Vanderbilt the two year old filly championship for the second time in three years.

Mrs. E. S. Moore's Big Pebble, sturdy five year old winner of the Widener, the Hollywood Gold cup, and the Washington Park handicap, was tabbed best of the handicap horses in a somewhat closer race with Charley Howard's Mioland and George D. Widener's Eight Thirty.

For Whirlaway and Alsab it was strictly no contest in their divisions. Whirlaway ran the fastest Kentucky Derby in that classic's 67 year history, never finished out of the money during the year and now is at Santa Anita to shoot at the $100,000 handicap. He compiled 559 points to 318 for Market Wise, Lou Tufano's Bargain, and 224 for Sam Riddle's War Relic, a son of Man o' War.

Alsab Wins Easily.

Alsab, who equalled or smashed records in New England, Chicago, and New York, polled 584 points to 168 for another bargain buy, Requested.

FILM UPHOLDS UMPIRE'S RULING, HALAS REPORTS

The movie camera caught a clear shot of Sunday's "break of the game" between the Bears and Cardinals. This was the report last night of George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, after seeing the films in the Burgundy room of his loop headquarters.

The play in question was Sid Luckman's third down pass from the Bears' 49 yard line in the fourth quarter. Umpire John Schommer ruled that Frank Balazs of the Cardinals interfered with Hampton Pool as the Bears' end was about to catch the ball on the Cards' 41 yard line. On the next play Luckman passed to George McAfee for the touchdown which wiped out the Cardinals' 24 to 21 lead and clinched victory for the Bears. Coach Jim Conzelman of the Cardinals insisted that no foul was committed.

"The pictures show this was the grossest kind of interference," declared Halas. "The cameraman got a perfect shot in which only Pool, Balazs, and Schommer are shown. It shows that Schommer was within 15 feet of the play and that Balazs threw a block on Pool just as he reached for the ball."

HORLICK, BELOIT WIN IN BIG EIGHT LEAGUE STARTS

Racine, Wis., Dec. 8 [Special].—Horlick of Racine and Beloit, co-favorites for the 1941-'42 Big Eight High School conference basketball championship, opened their season auspiciously, while Racine Park, sharing the title last year with Beloit, also was impressive. Horlick beat Madison Central, 17 to 16; Beloit defeated Kenosha, 23 to 18; Park overpowered Madison East, 33-12, and Madison West checked Janesville, 26-15.

In Friday night's four games, Horlick and Park clash here, Beloit invades Janesville, West and Central meet in Madison, and East of Madison goes to Kenosha.

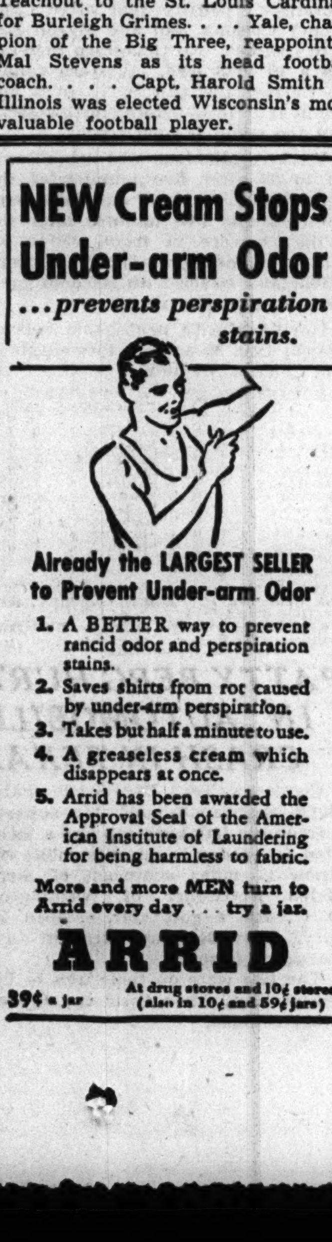
Iowa City, Ia., Dec. 8 [Special].—Wendell Winders of Montour, Ia., who was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1940, and a former Hawkeye baseball player, has been appointed athletic coach at Montour High school.



NED DAY TELLS WHAT MAKES A BOWLING STAR

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Among the first arrivals at yesterday afternoon's session of the All-Star bowling tournament in the Coliseum was a curly haired, clean cut young man who was right interested in the doings from the start. It was a sort of busman's holiday for the gent, since he does a bit of bowling himself. He was Edward [Ned] Day of West Allis, Wis.; Santa Monica, Cal., and way points, who is currently defending the world's match play championship in a special duel with Lowell Jackson of St. Louis.

Mr. Day wryly opined that he really had turned out in the hope of picking up enough pointers to redeem himself for Sunday night's opening performance, in which Jackson handed him a good trouncing. Ned was quite frank in stating that the Sabbath block was one of the worst, if not the worst, he ever had rolled.

Compares Bowling with Golf.

In the course of a conversation shortly after noon, Day brought out a sports twin of bowling—golf.

"The two games are practically identical," Ned said. "Both call for practice, concentration, timing, and grooving. Competitors in both games are subject to attacks of staleness and from spells in which a single fault will hamper their play. There's an analogy between golf and billiards also, but in the cue game the comparison is confined largely to the sense of touch that all of the great putters possess and the follow thru. In bowling, the similarity is projected even farther.

Day Gives His Three Points.

"I think that three factors are essential to bowling success. The first is the proper equipment, the same as in golf. The second is correct form. This involves such golfing phases as the proper footwork, the delivery, and the follow thru. The bowler must groove his action the same as a golfer grooves his swing. The factor of timing is a duplicate of that which all golf players seek.

"The third requisite is the ability to bowl a hook ball consistently. None of the top flight bowlers bowls a straight ball. You must have that hook, breaking from right to left at a sharp angle. A player will do well to practice on a single pin, notably the No. 10 pin, for that is one frequently left up and it's difficult to hold a hook and get that pin without sliding off into the gutter."

How a Champion Started.

Day, who has held the world's match championship since 1937 [he won it in a Cleveland elimination event that year, and when the rules were changed the following year, defended it successfully against Jackson] was enticed into taking up the game 14 years ago by the sight of a 300 game.

The then 18 year old Day and a friend walked into a West Allis bowling establishment. They were genuine tyros, never having seen a game before. They arrived in time to witness the late Henry Ganzel roll a perfect game of 300. This feat interested them enough to bowl a couple of lines with a view to duplicating that feat. Day's first effort was slightly short of the 300 mark, being a puny 63.

He stuck with the game, however, and five years ago decided to make it a full time profession. He now divides his time between Santa Monica, Cal., where he, Harold Lloyd of the films, and Hank Marino, Ned's predecessor as match play champion [Hank retired undefeated] operate 16 alleys, and West Allis, where Ned and Hank conduct an eight-lane room.

Spreads to College.

The growth of bowling in the colleges, Day said, has reached a point where a national intercollegiate tournament, similar to that conducted in billiards, is in immediate prospect. A number of universities have been sending teams to recent ABC tournaments, and there are annual telegraphic matches between such schools as Yale and Wisconsin.

Day himself played tennis and golf before he took up bowling in earnest. He dropped the former because of the chance that it might prove handicap to his bowling work, but still plays plenty of golf, and in the low 80s at that.

TRUDEL LEADS HOCKEY SCORING WITH 24 POINTS

New Haven, Conn., Dec. 8 (AP).—Lou Trudel of the Washington Lions who has scored three goals in a single game twice this season, leads the American Hockey league scoring today with 24 points, a gain of six over his total just one week ago.

Norm Calladine of the Providence Reds is right behind Trudel in the list released at league headquarters, with 23 points, and Adam Brown of Indianapolis and Ab Collings, Calladine's teammate, are tied for third place, each with 21 points.

During the past week Ed Bush of Providence spent 10 more minutes in the penalty box and his season total of 48 minutes gives him a wider margin than ever as the league's champion rule buster.

WAR CUTS DOWN COAST GUARD'S BAER RECEPTION

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—A coast guard band of six pieces greeted Buddy Baer today on his arrival from Chicago on his way to Lakewood, N. J., to train for a fight with Joe Louis Jan. 9 in Madison square garden. The band was there because the fight is a navy benefit show.

The six pieces did not make much noise. "I'm awfully sorry," a coast guardsman in charge of press relations said, "but the band had to be curtailed because of the crisis."

BRUINS CALL OFF HOME OPENER—NO PLACE TO PLAY

The Chicago Bruins last night were forced to postpone their National Basketball league home opener scheduled for tomorrow with Toledo. Because of the war, the 132d Regiment armory, which was to have been the Bruins' home arena, was closed to sports.

Instead, the Bruins will make their first Chicago start Dec. 17 against Oshkosh, which will give them time enough to find a new home. The Bruins lost their first game to Fort Wayne, 48 to 46, but whipped Sheboygan, 51 to 38.

MAKE PAIRINGS FOR PONTIAC'S BASKET TOURNEY

Pontiac, Ill., Dec. 8 (AP).—Pairings for the 16th annual Pontiac holiday basketball tournament were announced today. Centralia is the defending champion in the meet, which will be played Dec. 30, Dec. 31, and Jan. 1. The drawings:

Quincy vs. Clay City; Dwight vs. Eureka; East Moline vs. Normal Community; Peoria Woodruff vs. Urbana; Centralia vs. Rushville; West Aurora vs. Gibson City; Rock Island vs. Pontiac; Charleston vs. Fairbury.

Missouri to Prepare for Fordham Near Gulfport

Crimmins Rolls 2,020 to Take All-Star Lead

brother of Cleveland's mayor, who, like Newton, came up with a 1,025, and Tommy Brinovec, Peoria's campaigner, who came up with 1,005 after having seen a mere 751 marked up for him the opening day. Tommy ran into a series of disastrous railroads—bowling slang for splits—that first day.

Botten Victim of Splits.

Yesterday's chief victim of splits was Eddie Botten, the Union City, N. J., shooter, who held the crowd's interest in piling up 1,020 on Sunday. Eddie rolled 934 to take fifth place among the leaders yesterday, but his series was well nigh ruined when he wound up with a 139 game, and that 139 game was ruined when he wound up with four splits in a row. His fourth game was 223.

Ernie Soest, former Hollywood bowler now located in Detroit, went into sixth place with 1,947. He was the tournament's most consistent bowler, tacking a 986 yesterday onto Sunday's 961. Eddie Botten of Union City, N. J., was fourth with 1,954.

The Averages Go Up.

Bowlers on the first squad averaged 185 pins per game yesterday, five pins more than on Sunday. Their scores were remarkable in that they were shot on a first squad—the first group to go on the alleys after the lanes are polished, that is. Sunday this same group worked as the fifth squad on the afternoon program.

The second squad likewise stepped up its pace. Charles Butera, Philadelphia, who had compiled a mere 857 Sunday, poured in a 943 total yesterday. Billy Sixty, Milwaukee bowler and writer, moved up from 855 to 904; Peter Petersen of the Classic league jumped from 896 to 954, and Meryl Middaugh, Tulsa's star, came thru with 916, just 546 pins more than his Sunday score.

Faster and Better Bowling.

The program yesterday ran much more rapidly than on Sunday.

The bowlers have been instructed to work in tournament style by which both men bowling on a pair of lanes may be on the approaches at the same time. The opening squad needed less than an hour to complete its assignment.

Today's program and tomorrow's will be run in the same rapid fire manner. All seven squads of All-Stars will bowl their five games across ten alleys before Day and Jackson come on for their block. Five squads bowl in the afternoon, starting at noon and finishing at 6:40. Squad No. 6 comes on at 7:40 and No. 7 at 9 o'clock. Day and Jackson then start at about 10 o'clock.

BUDWEISER STAR GETS 791 TOTAL; BREAKS RECORD

George Calder of the Budweisers established a new record in the North End Traveling league last night when he bowled 255, 269, 237—791 in one of the three game victories the squad scored over the Chapin & Gore team. The league leading Gold Crowns took two out of three games from the Pepsi-Colas. Scores:

A Revolutionary Statement about Dry Shaving!

Chicago—December 9, 1941

THE statement I am about to make will cause no surprise among the hundreds of thousands of discriminating men throughout the country who are patrons of Terminal Barber Shops. They know we have pioneered each new barbering development as it appeared over a period of 34 years.

We adopted dry shaving a couple of years ago when we convinced ourselves that we could give as good a shave electrically as we could with a straight razor. Today we feel differently about that!

Now we're prepared to say that any Terminal Master Barber, because of the amazing technical improvement in the shaver we use, can give you a faster, a closer, a cleaner shave with his electric shaver than he can with a straight razor—and if you don't think so, by George, we'll refund your money.

This is easily understandable. With the REMINGTON FOURSOME—which, by the way, we use exclusively—we can draw the toughest beard taut, shave against the grain repeatedly thus cutting off each hair closer to the skin and do it without drawing blood—a feat we find absolutely impossible with the finest honed straight razor procurable.

Drop into a Terminal shop today and let us prove to you the truth of these statements. A dry shave with the amazing new Remington Foursome will leave you feeling better and looking better. It's only 35¢.

P.S. If you have a Christmas gift problem, ask our barbers about REMINGTON ELECTRIC SHAVERS. Any man would love one! We'll be glad to demonstrate it for you.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Professional football's first "sudden death" game, to be played Sunday in Wrigley field between the Chicago Bears and the Green Bay Packers, had a sudden death effect on the fans yesterday when a sellout was announced shortly after noon. Later in the day standing room tickets at $1.65 per copy were placed on sale.

Long lines formed at the Wrigley field ticket windows and at the Hub, where the sale started at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. Even field seats, to be placed on the west and south sides of the gridiron, found eager purchasers. The tremendous sale insures at least a crowd of 46,484, the record set when the Packers beat the Bears, 16 to 14, in the Cubs' park on Nov. 2.

May Sell Bleachers Tomorrow.

For other big games 5,000 bleacher seats have been placed on sale the morning of the contest, but it is likely these will be put up to the first bidders at the two ticket offices tomorrow. A field crowd, with the exception of the 800 field seats, will not be permitted, club officials said. The game will begin at 1:15 p. m.

Of his own volition Sunday night, when he held court with his Bear stars of other years, Owner-Coach George Halas admitted this has been his greatest season in more than two decades of professional football. It has had everything—the gorgeous spectacle of the College All-Star game, the majestic sweep over all opponents until the Packers stopped a 15-game winning streak, then a stirring comeback which reached its heights Sunday when a Cardinal team which fought with fury for 60 minutes finally was subdued.

Will Go to a Decision.

Today the Bears will start preparations for Green Bay's invasion, the game which will break the tie between the two teams for the Western division championship of the National Football league. The Packers, who looked down at Sunday's struggle from the second story of Comiskey park in front of the press box, likewise will begin preparations today. Bill Osmanski and Bob Snyder, of the Bears, who suffered minor leg injuries in the Cardinal battle, still were in Illinois Masonic hospital last night, but are expected to be released today.

The game with the Packers will be played to a decision. If there is a tie at the end of the regulation time, a fifth period will be started after a three-minute rest. As soon as one team scores the game will be over and the winner will have qualified to meet the New York Giants on a western gridiron for the league championship. The Giants are in the playoffs for the sixth time since the circuit was split into two divisions in 1933. They lost to the Bears in 1933, 23 to 21; beat the Bears, 30 to 13, the next year; lost to Detroit, 26 to 7, in 1935; defeated Green Bay, 23 to 17, in 1938, and lost to the same club, 27 to 0, in 1939.

47th Meeting of Teams.

On the basis of 1941 play, the Bears and Packers have the equipment to beat the New Yorkers, so to all intents and purposes Sunday's winner in Wrigley field will be a top-heavy favorite to go on and whip the Giants.

This is the 47th meeting coming up between the Bears and Packers. The Chicagoans probably will be a slight favorite to win by those who study the football form charts. The Bears rolled up the amazing total of 396 points in 11 league games, an average of 36 points per game. Their opponents scored 147 for an average slightly under 13 points. Green Bay made 258 points to its opponents' 120.

In their victory over the Cardinals, the Bears cracked four more league records, making 11 in all for the season. Their new marks follow: most yards gained in a season, 4,265; most yards gained passing in one season, 2,002; most yards penalized [tsh, tsh!] in one season, 676.5, and most first downs in one season, 181.

The Giants wound up their season with eight victories and three defeats. They scored 238 to 114 points for their opponents.

HONOR FOUR BEARS

The Chicago Bears, who captured high scoring honors in the National Football league, were awarded twice as many places on the 1941 Associated Press All-National league team as any other team. The team was announced yesterday. The Bears placed four men, Brooklyn Dodgers and Green Bay Packers two each, and the Washington Redskins, New York Giants and Chicago Cardinals one each.

Sid Luckman, quarter back; George McAfee, half back; Danny Fortmann, guard, and Clyde [Bulldog] Turner, center, are the Bears chosen as all-stars. Selections:

FIRST TEAM.		SECOND TEAM.

4 Sophomores Start Tonight for Illini Five

Champaign, Ill., Dec. 8 [Special].—The youngest and the tallest quintet in University of Illinois basketball history gets its first intercollegiate test here tomorrow night. Four sophomores and a junior probably will be in the starting lineup against Marquette in the season's opener for the Illini.

The four foremost newcomers of the squad are Ed Parker of Cicero, 6 foot 3 inch forward; Ken Menke of Dundee, 6 foot 2 inch forward; Andy Phillip of Granite City and Gene Vance of Clinton, both 6 foot 2½ inch guards. All were among the best prep stars of the state two years ago. They'll start with Art Mathiesen of Dwight, 6 foot 5 inch center, who was a star as a sophomore last season.

Captain Held in Reserve.

However, Capt. Bill Hocking, forward, and Vic Wukovits, guard, senior lettermen, who are battling their young rivals for positions, will perform against the Hilltoppers. Other leading candidates include Ray Bergeson, junior center, and three more sophomores, Chuck Fowler, forward, and Jack Smiley and Cliff Fulton, guards.

This will be the first appearance of Marquette on the Illinois floor. The Illini defeated the Hilltoppers, 40 to 32, in Milwaukee last season.

Marquette Young, Too.

Marquette also will depend primarily on sophomores, who lost by one point to Wisconsin last Saturday.

TECH VS. LAKE FOREST

The Illinois Tech basketball team will attempt to even their won and lost percentage when they invade Lake Forest college tonight. It will be the opening collegiate contest for the Jaybirds. The Techs won their opener against American college, but the Chicago Teachers' college followed and defeated the Engineers, 40 to 25. Saturday night's performance against the University of Chicago seemed to be a bad case of stage-fright. Even the veterans, and Tech has seven of them on the squad, were extremely jittery.

Lake Forest, coached by Evert Larson, will present a starting lineup composed entirely of returning letter men from last year's team, which won 14 while losing 3, to place second in the Illinois College conference.

MICHIGAN STATE FIVE WINS FROM CENTRAL, 29-23

Lansing, Mich., Dec. 8 [Special].—Paced by Guard Chet Aubuchon and Forward Dudley Jones with eight points each, Michigan State basketball team defeated Central Michigan tonight, 29 to 23, before 3,000 fans. State led, 13 to 12, at the half. Forward Chuck Smith led the losers with 11 points. It was State's second victory of the season and its 16th triumph in 16 games against Central Michigan. Lineup:

Bob Montgomery Stops Jimmy Garrison in 4th

Milwaukee, Savoy Boxers Meet Tonight

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Milwaukee will be seeking its second victory while the Savoy Athletic club will be after its first in a continuation of the battle for the Chicagoland Amateur Boxing league championship tonight in the Savoy arena, 47th street and South Park way.

Because of scoring one triumph and one draw, and due to suffering one defeat in three previous matches, the Milwaukee boxers are situated in sixth place in the league standings, three notches higher than the Savoy team, which has scored one deadlock decision and received one setback in its two earlier appearances.

Lost: One Forfeit.

Milwaukee's victory was registered against Fort Sheridan, 5 to 3, and its draw was chalked up against Camp Grant. The team's defeat was the result of Director Carl E. Behnke's decision to forfeit its scheduled match with the Catholic Youth organization because of previous commitments. Savoy gave a demonstration of strength when it held the league leading CYO color bearers to a 4 to 4 deadlock in the Savoy arena last Tuesday.

Clayton Worlds, heavyweight; John Johnson, middleweight; Horace Wilkins, welterweight, and Alvin Bevil, junior lightweight, were responsible for the Savoy club's points. Tonight all except Wilkins will return to action. Worlds is matched with Al Lach, Johnson with John Peranich, and Bevil with John Vukovich. Vukovich and Peranich came thru with victories against Camp Grant, the former stopping Ralph Lopez and Peranich conquering Pete Sickich.

Krulitz vs. Davis.

The best fight on the card likely will be the one between Joey Krulitz, 1941 Milwaukee Journal sectional Golden Gloves welterweight winner, and Sammy Davis. Krulitz won both his earlier league battles, defeating Eddie Coyle of Fort Sheridan and then stopping Arnold Thumlert of Camp Grant. Davis has not fought since losing to Bishop Edwards, also of the Savoy, in an intraclub contest a month ago.

Sammy, who is 18 years old, is a combination boxer and slugger. In approximately 30 bouts in which he has engaged during his two years of fighting for medals, Davis has won all except ten. He is a former student at Du Sable High school and now is employed in the Stockyards.

The pairings:

Robert Satterfield, Savoy A. C., vs. Lloyd [Rusty] Redden, Milwaukee, 160.
Johnny Johnson, Savoy A. C., vs. John Peranich, Milwaukee, 155.
Alvin Bevil, Savoy A. C., vs. John Vukovich, Milwaukee, 132.
Willie Jones, Savoy A. C., vs. Mert Holle, Milwaukee, 130.
James Calhoun, Savoy A. C., vs. Mike Barber, Milwaukee, 125.
Charles Rogers, Savoy A. C., vs. Joe Peranich, Milwaukee, 140.
Clayton Worlds, Savoy A. C., vs. Al Lach, Milwaukee, heavyweights.

There also will be league bouts between Fort Sheridan and CYO in CYO center gymnasium, 31 East Congress street, and Madison Athletic club and Ashland A. C. in Social Turner hall, Paulina street and Belmont avenue, tomorrow, and Illinois Athletic and Camp Grant in Service Men's club, Camp Grant, Friday.

WILSON COLLEGE BEATS AMERICAN QUINTET, 43-19

Capt. Bob Kulvin scored seven field goals and one free throw to lead Wilson Junior College to a 43 to 19 victory over the American College of Physical Education quintet yesterday on the Wilson court. The home team led, 18 to 6, at halftime. Lineup:

At Holyoke, Mass.—Harry Hurst beat Charley Varre [10].

At Philadelphia—Bob Montgomery stopped Jimmy Garrison [4].

At Portland, Me.—Coley Welch stopped Henry Cmielewski [10].

Harvey Dubs, Windsor, Ont., welterweight, who defeated Tito Taylor a month ago, last night gave a more convincing demonstration of his superiority by knocking out his rival from the south side in a return bout scheduled for 10 rounds in Marigold Gardens. The end came after 2 minutes 19 seconds of the sixth round. Taylor was floored for a seven count in the second round, but he came back strong to win the third. Before the finishing blow, Tito had bounced back up after taking a nine count.

Murczek Beats Feltes.

Stanley Murczek, former Catholic Youth organization boxer, pounded out a victory over George Feltes, sailor middlweight of Milwaukee, in a six round semi-windup. Bill Petersen, Indiana Harbor heavyweight, scored two knockdowns while beating Sam Morris in a five round event. In four round preliminary fights Johnny Dudley, Detroit junior welterweight, and Hymie Dabb battled to a draw, and Vito Rizzo, west side lightweight, defeated Jimmy Santora.

A near capacity crowd of 1,405 contributed to a gross gate of $2,001.

Willie Joyce, Gary lightweight, has been signed to meet Sammy Secreet, Pittsburgh welterweight, in a 10 round handicap bout in Marigold Gardens next Monday. . . . Buddy Paul, Philadelphia heavyweight, who recently placed himself under the direction of Issy Kline, yesterday was matched to face Lou Thomas in Indianapolis Dec. 19. Kline also said Bob Sikes, his heavyweight protégé from Pine Bluff, Ark., will meet Neville Beech in Memphis Dec. 17.

CYO HOLDS SHOW

Melvin Umenhofer, St. Clement's parish welterweight in the beginners' classification, came from behind to knock out Anthony Donatelli of Sacred Heart in an elimination bout in the 11th annual Catholic Youth organization amateur boxing tournament in CYO center gymnasium last night.

Fifteen bouts were held between boxers representing the middleweight, welterweight, and lightweight classes. Survivors will qualify for quarter-final round competition in the CYO gymnasium next Monday. Tonight approximately 20 contests will be offered between novice contestants. Results:

135 POUNDS—Al Kahler, St. Alphonsus, stopped Bill Falbo, Holy Rosary [2]; Leon Cimaroli, St. Anthony's, Cicero, beat Phil Simon, Our Lady of Mercy [3]; Joe Fleming, St. Barnabas, beat Charles Acosta, Notre Dame [3]; Don Misuraca, All Saints, beat James Scannell, St. Veronica [3].

147 POUNDS—Melvin Umenhofer, St. Clement's, stopped Anthony Donatelli, Sacred Heart [2]; John D'Amore, Our Lady of Pompeii, beat Joe Conte, Notre Dame [3]; Al Prislinger, St. Vincent, beat Mike Lattyak, St. Rita [3]; Dominick Pace, Our Lady of Pompeii, stopped Dan Erakowich, St. Mary's [1]; Clyde Myers, St. Anthony, Joliet, beat Emmet Olsen, St. Mary's [3].

NAME 10 IN GANG WHO SHARE VAST GAMBLING LOOT

Crime Commission Urges Mob Be Smashed.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

The Chicago Crime commission yesterday urged that the Guzik gambling syndicate be smashed and listed 10 public enemies as the principal participants in the gambling revenues.

Rudolph W. Dvorak, acting director of the commission, and his chief assistant, Fred Pretzy, cited records to show how the men named had been preying on Chicago for from 10 to 20 years. The December grand jury and succeeding juries will have the opportunity to put them out of the gambling business for all time, Dvorak declared.

Policemen William Lynch and William Clark, formerly of the morals squad, which was disbanded after the November grand jury declared it was conducting only sham battles against the syndicate, were witnesses before the grand jury yesterday.

The men named by the crime commission as members of the syndicate are:

Ralph Capone, brother of Alphonse Capone. Ralph served a prison sentence for evasion of income taxes. He was a partner in his brother's bootleg business and has looked after the Cicero end of the gambling racket for the mob.

Lawrence [Dago] Mangano, former west side brothel manager. He was arrested last week in a gambling "nerve center" operated by the syndicate at 51 East Chicago avenue. His connection with another of the big gambling clearing houses in the Blum building, 624 South Michigan avenue, was established by records found there, according to Prosecutor Wilbert F. Crowley Mangano has been accused of nearly every kind of crime but has not been successfully prosecuted.

Tony [Mops] Volpe, an alien once ordered deported but who was allowed to remain here when Premier Mussolini refused to permit him to be shipped to Italy.

Jack Guzik, ex-pander who was put in charge of the gambling syndicate 20 years ago by Capone. He served a prison sentence for failing to pay his income taxes. Papers taken from his room indicated he vas the head of the syndicate which collected more than $3,000,000 from Chicago's horse players and gambling room patrons.

Danny [Public Enemy] Stanton, a branch manager on the south side. Stanton has figured, one way or another, in 20 or more south side murders. He has operated a dozen or more taverns and was the main beneficiary of a half dozen handbooks.

Leo Mongoven, once a member of the Bugs Moran gang and now reported to be active in Lake county. Mongoven originally was a west side gunman and bootlegger who figured in numerous crimes and was accused of several kidnapings.

Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti, once the right hand man for Capone. Nitti served a prison sentence for income tax cheating. When freed, he took over the ruins of the gang as successor to Capone, who then was in Alcatraz. After considerable trouble recently, he stepped aside and allowed Guzik to become the active head of the gang.

Murray Humphreys, known as a kidnaper and generally considered a wicked operator of machine and other types of guns. Humphreys is one of the business brains of the gang.

John Moore, alias Claude Maddox, is now the real ruler of several west suburban unions, the crime commission asserted. Moore came here 15 years ago from St. Louis, where he was known as a killer, and took charge of a beer district for Capone.

Louis [Little New York] Campagna, originally a bodyguard for Capone and now a full fledged member of the gang. He has been arrested numerous times but managed to keep out of prison.

BREWERY SHORT $33,000; POLICE SEEK EMPLOYE

A warrant charging grand larceny was issued yesterday in Felony court for Felix Elbaum, 55 years old, 5302 Cornell avenue, who until last Saturday was a bookkeeper at the Prima Bismarck Brewing company, 2762 Archer avenue.

According to Ralph Heller, vice president of the brewery, who signed the complaint, Elbaum is short in his accounts more than $33,000. The warrant was sent to the Deering police who are searching for Elbaum.

The shortage came to light as an aftermath of the merger, Nov. 1, of the Prima and Bismarck Brewing companies. For five years prior to that time Elbaum had been assistant secretary and cashier of the Prima company.

After the merger he was retained by the new concern as bookkeeper.

U. S. HIGH COURT TO REVIEW DAIRY REGULATION SUIT

The United States Supreme court yesterday granted the department of agriculture a review of its case in which it attempted to force the Wrightwood Dairy company, 2942 North Ashland avenue, to submit to federal marketing regulations altho the company is not engaged in interstate commerce. The federal district court in Chicago and the United States Circuit Court of Appeals previously has upheld the dairy's contention that since it neither buys nor sells in interstate commerce the milk marketing administration has no jurisdiction over it.

Humboldt at North Ave. to Be Closed for Repairs

Humboldt boulevard at North avenue will be closed to traffic beginning this morning until Dec. 15. The intersection and its approaches are to be resurfaced.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Rousing Welcome

ONE KILLED, TWO INJURED AS AUTO AND TRAIN CRASH

Girl, 7, Dies When Hit by Car in Gary.

Miss Martha Beyer, 34 years old, 162 West Chicago avenue, was killed yesterday and her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Duncan, 30, and her father, John, were injured when the car in which they were riding crashed into a Nickel Plate freight train at Ridge road crossing in Gary, Ind.

Lillian Nobile, 7, of 553 Virginia avenue, Gary, was killed when she was struck by a car as she leaned over in a street near her home to buckle her boots. The driver was Ben Salven, 30, of 704 Virginia avenue.

Driver Held for Inquest.

Philip Litz, 37, of 3406 North Central Park avenue, was struck and killed by an auto yesterday as he alighted from a street car at Ashland avenue and Addison street. The driver, Joseph Daniels, 27, of 2336 Iowa street, was held for the inquest.

An unidentified man, believed to be a farmer, about 65 years old, was killed last night on the River road near Lawrence avenue when he was struck by the auto driven by Bernard C. Kemp of Fox River Grove, a subway employé.

Auto Tag Is Clew.

Peter Kennison, 23 years old, 8447 South Western avenue, manager of a riding stable, was arrested by Gresham police as an alleged hit and run driver yesterday. The clew leading to his arrest was a license plate of his car. Some time earlier James Riley, 26, of 8006 Throop street, a draftsman, was run down and seriously injured at 79th street and Ashland avenue. The driver sped away, but police found on the scene a license plate issued to Kennison. Police said he admitted hitting Riley, who is in a serious condition in St. George's hospital.

Fred Kushuba, 33, of Detroit, Mich., was killed, and Clarence Akerman, 30, 11829 Union avenue, was injured when their car overturned on a curve in Dolton road, near Stony Island avenue, Dolton. Akerman is in a serious condition in the Ingalls Memorial hospital at Harvey. He was the driver.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 890 were killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 624 were killed in Chicago, where 24,678 were injured in the same period.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

FIGHT ADMISSION OF CONFESSIONS IN BAT SLAYING

David Goldblatt, onetime prohibition hoodlum, who is charged with the ball bat murder of Anton Gorczak, went on trial for his life yesterday. Gorczak, a driver, was slain by goons in a cleaning house war last spring. The trial is being heard by a jury in the Criminal court of Judge U. S. Schwartz.

Gorczak's widow, Bernice, dressed in dark clothes, was the first witness. She sobbed out a few details of her husband's life, then broke down, and it was necessary to excuse her. Dr. S. S. Snyder described the cause of Gorczak's death—repeated blows on the head.

Then the prosecution sought to introduce two confessions, one oral, the other written, which were made and then repudiated by Goldblatt. Capt. Daniel A. Gilbert of the state's attorney's police was called, and the jury was excluded.

"When we accused him of the murder," said Capt. Gilbert, "Goldblatt remarked, 'I've thrown many sevens and elevens, but now it looks like I've thrown craps.' He then made his confessions, freely and voluntarily."

EVANSTON HIKES TAXICAB FARES; BEGIN IN 10 DAYS

Those Evanston taxicabs that have been such a boon to commuters' budgets jumped into the luxury class last night thru the action of the Evanston city council.

Heretofore the cabs have charged at the rate of 10 cents the first half mile and 5 cents for each half mile thereafter. Starting in 10 days, however, the ordinance passed last night will set the rate at 10 cents the first third of a mile and 5 cents for each subsequent third of a mile.

Ald. Clinton Merrick [2d] introduced the ordinance, which will be effective, unless the council changes it, until Dec. 31, 1946.

Pay Checks of 2,500 State Employes Are Released

A total of 2,500 state pay roll checks, mostly for Chicagoans, were released yesterday and sent to the state auditor for countersigning, State Treasurer Warren Wright announced. The checks were for employés of the unemployment division of the state labor department.

HUNT BANDIT-RAPIST AFTER HOTEL HOLDUP AND ATTACK ON GIRL

Police are searching for a gunman who early yesterday held up the Thorwin hotel, 5016 Winthrop avenue, and then raped a young woman resident.

The bandit first forced John Sering, the night clerk, to hand over $50. Sering recognized him as the same man who had held up the hotel twice before in recent weeks. Then the gunman asked, "Where is that red head?" He referred to a young woman, 25 years old, whom he had seen during a previous robbery.

Altho Sering professed not to know, the gunman compelled him to go with him to the third floor where he reached his victim's room. She was asleep with a roommate. The bandit menaced Sering and the roommate and then attacked the girl.

ILLINOIS ENTERS CONTEST TO TAX $1,000,000 ESTATE

A legal contest involving inheritance taxes on a million dollar estate began yesterday when the Cook county public administrator was given permission by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell to intervene in probate proceedings in Barnstable county, Massachusetts, where the will of Mrs. Susan J. Ulm has been filed.

Attorney Don Peebles, representing the public administrator, filed the petition with Judge O'Connell. The document stated that Mrs. Ulm has been a resident of Chicago since 1913, when she and her husband moved here from their Indiana estate. The petition said her last income tax return, March 10, 1941, was filed in Chicago and her will, dated Dec. 10, 1940, gave Chicago as her residence.

According to the petition, Mrs. Ulm committed suicide in Harwich, Mass., last Oct. 21. Her husband, John, a former Chicago real estate dealer, died Jan. 27, 1931. Mrs. Ulm's will lists three charitable bequests of $10,000 each and divides the rest of the estate among 33 relatives and friends.

FEDERAL BONDS RESIST DECLINES OF OTHER GROUPS

Big Buyers Support List Below the Market.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—The corporate bond market took a severe drubbing today. Prices yielded major fractions to 2 points as a rule with many individual issues losing considerably more.

Government issues lost an average of ½ to a point but thereafter held exceptionally steady. The foreign group gave up 1 to 8 points. Japanese bonds were suspended from trading pending clarification of their status.

Turnover reached $11,944,125, par value, compared with $7,580,800 last Friday. The Associated Press averages were down .3 of a point to 2 full points, the rails giving up the maximum.

Dealers Are Satisfied.

Government bond dealers expressed themselves well satisfied with the behavior of the federal list. There was a quick sell-off at the start on light offerings. Large institutional investors then came in promptly with big orders for specified maturities at prices slightly below the market but these went unsatisfied thruout the day as potential sellers caught the drift of things and remained aloof.

[Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said he was pleased with the behavior of government bonds and said no federal support in the market was needed. The secretary said he prefers a normal open market, and expressed the opinion that special controls will not be required.]

On the stock exchange, which closes at 3 p. m., 8 of the 18 federal issues traded lost a little more than a point.

Prices Recover During Hour.

Quotations on the over-the-counter market, which closes at 4 o'clock, recovered from the day's lows. Three issues were off a point or more and the others showed losses of 4/32 to 29/32 of a point.

Corporate loans giving up substantial amounts included Western Union 5s, Southern Railway 4s, Portland General Electric 4½s, New York Central 5s, and International Telephone 5s.

Stock exchange officials removed 13 Japanese issues from trading for the time being. The issues, government, municipal, and corporate, aggregated $296,663,455, par value, and had a market value, on the basis of Saturday's prices, of $119,136,795.

DISSOLUTION PLAN.

Has the United Light and Power company announced any plans for its liquidation under the holding company act? If so, what company would stand at the top of the system should the plan be carried out?—R. J. F.

Answer: Dissolution of the United Light and Power company, top holding company in the United Light system, has been ordered by the Securities and Exchange commission. The company's plan for its dissolution, filed with the SEC for approval on Nov. 24, involves the following:

1. The United Light and Railways company, at present an intermediate holding unit, will be placed at the top of the system. Its operating subsidiary will be the newly organized Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company. United Light and Railways will pay $13,375,000 to the new company, transfer to it all the securities of United Power Manufacturing company, a wholly owned subsidiary, and receive in exchange the entire capital stock of Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric.

2. The newly formed company will acquire from United Light and Power the securities and indebtedness of nine "first lien" subsidiaries, paying in exchange $13,375,000. Iowa-Illinois Gas will also assume $16,000,000 of first lien bonds of United Light and Power. The "first lien" companies and United Power Manufacturing will then be dissolved and their business, property, and assets will be acquired by Iowa-Illinois Gas.

3. The new company will issue a new series of bonds to refund at lower interest the assumed 5½ per cent first lien bonds amounting to $5,422,000. The 6 per cent bonds, amounting to $10,578,000, cannot be refunded immediately because they are noncallable until 1947.

4. United Light and Power will transfer to United Light and Railways a group of miscellaneous investments carried on the former's books at $1,744,000. These include debentures and preferred stock of United Light and Railways and Continental Gas and Electric corporation and all the capital stock of the United Light and Power Service company.

5. The La Porte Gas and Electric company will sell all its property and assets to outside interests. United Light and Power will receive the cash upon La Porte Gas's liquidation and dissolution.

6. United Light and Power, after being relieved of its first lien bond obligations and after paying its debentures and other obligations with the cash obtained as previously outlined, will have as its sole asset, in addition to residual cash, the common stock of United Light and Railways. With the approval of SEC, United Light and Power will distribute this common among its stockholders. This will effect its complete dissolution.

INSURANCE FIRMS WEIGH EFFECT ON WAR RISK 'RIDERS'

Changes, if Made, Will Not Be Drastic, View.

America's entry into war is not expected to result in drastic changes in war risk "riders" on new life insurance policies, a survey indicated yesterday. Chicago officials of some of the larger companies said that war risks were being discussed at their home offices, but that so far as they knew nothing had been decided.

Companies such as Metropolitan, Prudential, Equitable, Connecticut Mutual and Connecticut General said they already have war risk clauses in effect, some of them for as long as four months. It was emphasized that any changes made would affect only new policies.

Insurance men said that because most life companies already are geared for war risks, any changes that might be made will not be severe. The draft and the war in Europe caused most companies to insert riders in their policies, they said.

Released from Payment.

In general, a war risk clause releases the company from payment if the insured dies while fighting with armed forces in a "declared or undeclared war." As a rule, the beneficiaries receive any premiums that have been paid and interest or the policy's cash surrender value.

Currently, the larger companies will not issue policies without riders to members of the armed forces or to any one likely to be drafted. One company allows unmarried men between the ages of 28 and 35 to take out a maximum of $10,000 without the war clause and makes various provisions for married men and those in other age groups according to the probability of their being called into service.

It was predicted that any changes that might be made would be in the direction of lowering policy amount limits and lessening the number of groups eligible for insurance without the rider.

May Revive Practice.

It was also suggested that some companies might follow a general practice of the last war and permit full coverage regardless of war service if the insured paid an extra premium. These ranged to $100 for each $1,000 of insurance, but many companies voluntarily returned the extra premiums after the war was over. At present, none of the larger companies offers war death coverage at increased rates.

Paul F. Jones, Illinois insurance director, is attending a meeting of state insurance commissioners in New York City, it was learned at his office. The commissioners are discussing war risks and are expected to make recommendations to insurance companies, it was said. The meeting will continue today.

MEAT ANIMALS MOVE UP ON WAR INSPIRED BUYING

War news sent prices of all classes of meat animals to sharply higher levels at the stockyards yesterday. Influenced by the advances in grains and provisions, the hog market came suddenly to life after a slow steady opening, finishing fully 25 cents a hundredweight over last week's close, with some sales 35 cents higher.

Butcher shop owners found a sharply revised list of quotations for the various classes of meat in wholesale markets. Some of the biggest increases over last week's costs were in fresh cuts of pork, some of which rose 50 cents to $1 a hundred pounds.

Transition Is Eased Some Here Thru Arms Program.

Probable economic effects of the war on America and on Japan are discussed in the following two articles:

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Millions of Americans yesterday prepared to meet the changes affecting their business, their jobs, and their pocketbooks that will come as the country moves to a full war time economy.

In myriad ways will the economic changes involved affect the lives of individual citizens. For the most part the individual as yet has only an obscure notion as to the changes that are in store for him or his family. Nor can definite answers be given as to the effect of the war on particular lines of business. There is, however, universal recognition that the interests of individuals will be subordinated to the war aims of the nation.

Ample Food Assured.

Certain fundamental economic facts are of particular importance to the country at the present time. The supply of food in the nation's store houses is the largest in history. Abundant crops harvested this year coupled with the abnormally large reserves carried over from last year assure the nation of an adequate supply of foodstuffs. With the supplies exceeding domestic needs, the United States can continue its program of shipping needed foods to Britain.

The consensus is that the government will be able to prevent any runaway movement in prices. Because the government now controls a large part of the excess food supplies it is in an unusually favorable position to control market prices.

In the industrial field, those manufacturers who have been faced with critical material shortages are likely to find the going more difficult. Rationing of scarce raw materials will become stricter with even greater emphasis on the need of conserving for military needs.

Strict Price Rule Probable.

The fact that the United States has been engaged in a gigantic armament program for the last 18 months will make the transition to a war time economy less drastic in many lines.

The formal declaration of war is expected to hasten the adoption of strict government control over prices. The nature of the controls was indicated yesterday when the Commodity Exchange administration ordered the Chicago Board of Trade and the Chicago Mercantile exchange to prevent trading in futures contracts today at prices in excess of the closing price level yesterday.

Of immediate import to all is the prospect for much higher taxes. Higher income taxes have already been voted to be collected next year on 1941 incomes. With the United States actually in war, the treasury and congress may now reverse their earlier decision to wait until next year before seeking further increases in rates.

Profits to Be Shaved More.

Corporations doing far more business, but not earning corresponding profits, may be expected to see their profit margins shaved still more.

Unemployment, already near the vanishing point, will diminish more as industry intensifies its efforts to meet the war time production demands.

The outlook suggests that workers will be asked to share in the economic contribution to the war effort by ceasing their demands for wage increases. Further wage boosts are likely to be made in accordance with fluctuations in the cost of living, to be based perhaps on an index compiled by the government, rather than thru increases in basic rates.

Experts See Tokio Hit by Loss of Best Customer.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8.—The enemy stands to suffer far more drastic consequences economically than the United States, it was the consensus among economists today.

Japan has been heavily dependent upon the United States for vital supplies to wage warfare, but the only important import from Japan was raw silk, which this country has successfully done without since business relations with the Japanese were virtually severed last July 25 in freezing all their assets. Substitutes, including nylon, have replaced silk.

Of more importance is the possible cut-off of trade from the Netherlands East Indies and neighboring British possessions which supplied the United States with rubber, tin, and other strategic materials.

Trade Killed Last July.

Trade with Japan had virtually ceased prior to Tokio's attack upon the United States, and imposed serious consequences on Japan's internal economy. The freezing order of last July was preceded by restrictions on shipments of scrap iron and steel, copper, aviation gasoline, machine tools, airplanes, etc. Normally, Japan was the third largest importer of American goods, but the economic blockade by the United States, the British, and the Dutch had cut off Japan from nearly 75 per cent of normal supplies.

Of all United States exports to Japan in 1939 about 75 per cent consisted of petroleum, cotton, scrap iron and steel, copper and machinery—all war materials whose loss is extremely serious. In the case of petroleum, for example, Japan produces only about 3½ million barrels a year, or only 10 per cent of the normal annual consumption of 36 million barrels. Stock reserves of petroleum held by the Japanese have been estimated at 50 to 75 million barrels—perhaps enough for a year under wartime operations.

Japan Needs Many Materials.

Japan's natural resources are meager with serious deficiencies in virtually all war materials; material stock piles are not believed large. She is entirely or almost entirely dependent upon imports for cotton, rubber, wool, petroleum, aluminum, tin, zinc, nickel, lead, antimony, mercury, potash, and phosphates. Some of these are obtainable in controled territory but not in substantial quantity.

According to economists, Japan apparently reached her peak of production in 1939 and since then industrial output has declined, shortages of skilled labor, materials, fuel, and electric power being the primary causes. Her present production of military planes is estimated between 250 and 1,000 monthly. Nearly one-third of her industrial workers have been in the textile industries.

Japs Barely Self-sustaining.

Japan proper has a population of 73 million, packed into an area less than that of California, which compares with the United States population of 132 million. Thru intensive cultivation of agriculture and fishing Japan during peacetime was barely self-sustaining in foodstuffs. It might be able to subsist for a long time on reduced rations but supplies of other essential materials would not last long, according to the experts.

Debt and taxes have risen sharply in Japan, and debt service in the fiscal year ended last March absorbed about one-third of ordinary tax revenues. In the fiscal year, 1941, Japan's military expenditure represented about 70 per cent of the total national budget, compared with about 50 per cent in the United States.

Debt Up 200% in 5 Years.

In March the Japanese national debt stood at nearly 31 billion yen, an increase of 21 billion yen, or 200 per cent in five years. The American national debt, of course, is also at a new high of more than 55 billion dollars.

Japanese direct taxes have been increased about 600 per cent over a five year period, ended last October.

The department of commerce recently presented this comparison of national income and war expenditures per capita between the United States and Japan [for the period April, 1940, to March, 1941]: National income, the United States, $588, and Japan, $84 war expenditures, United States, $41, and Japan, $24; civilian consumption, United States, $547, and Japan, $60.

SLOAN URGES 40 BILLIONS IN ARMS OUTPUT FOR 1942

New York, Dec. 8 [Special].—Alfred P. Sloan Jr., chairman of the General Motors corporation, today declared that production of defense goods, estimated at 15 billion dollars this year, "must be boosted" to 40 billions in 1942. The war will be won on "the front of American production," he told a meeting of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

Plane Deliveries of Boeing Soar; Bigger Gain Forecast

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 8 (AP).—Boeing Aircraft company reported today it had a backlog of $703,159,791 of unfilled orders on Sept. 30, an increase of $392,621,204 for the third quarter. Deliveries in the quarter totaled $12,326,627 compared with $6,632,074 in the 1940 period. These deliveries, the company explained, represented only the start of a rapidly accelerating schedule which it expects to show in the fourth quarter report.

Authorize Final Payment for Binga Bank Depositors

Repayment of $144,369 to about 18,000 depositors of the Binga State bank, Chicago, was authorized yesterday by Arthur C. Lueder, state auditor. This is the fifth and final payment and brings the total to 40.5 per cent of deposits.

AMERICAN UTILITIES HAVE LARGE AMOUNTS INVESTED IN ORIENT

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—American companies have large investments in electric power and telephone utilities affected by Japan's war moves.

American & Foreign Power company, a member of the Electric Bond & Share group, owns the Shanghai Power company, which grosses about 7 million dollars annually, altho the American firm has received nothing from it in two years. It has been taken over by the Japanese.

Associated Electric company, a subsidiary of Associated Gas & Electric corporation, owns part of the Manila Electric company in the Philippines. In 1940, Associated Electric received something more than $1,500,000 from its Philippine investment.

International Telephone & Telegraph corporation's principal far eastern subsidiary is the Shanghai Telephone company, with between 90,000 and 100,000 stations on its lines. Thru International Standard Electric corporation, International Telephone also controls China Electric company, with factories in Hongkong, Manila, and Shanghai.

NICKEL PLATE HELD LIABLE FOR UNIT'S INTEREST

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The Supreme court held today that the New York, Chicago and St. Louis railroad is responsible for interest on bonds which had been guaranteed by a constituent company when the two merged in 1923.

Justice Robert H. Jackson delivered the 5 to 4 decision, involving bonds guaranteed by the Lake Erie and Western railroad. It was Jackson's first majority opinion. Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone wrote the dissent, in which Justices Stanley F. Reed, Felix Frankfurter, and James F. Byrnes joined.

Counsel for the carrier contended that the interstate commerce act prohibited a railroad from assuming such an obligation unless permission were obtained from the Interstate Commerce commission.

ARMY GETS MOST POWERFUL TANK, 60 TON MONSTER

Eddystone, Pa., Dec. 8 (AP).—America's newest and most powerful tank, a 60 ton monster of the M-1 type, was turned over to the army today by the Baldwin Locomotive works. Accepting the tank, Brig. Gen. G. M. Barnes, assistant chief of industrial service for the army, said:

"This great fighting vehicle exceeds all others in its military characteristics. It represents but one of the many new and previously unheard of weapons of modern warfare which are being added day by day to the military equipment of our army."

NOVEMBER NEW CAR SALES BY GENERAL MOTORS SHOW GAIN

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—November sales of motor cars and trucks to consumers by General Motors corporation totaled 126,281 units, compared with 103,854 in October and 181,421 in November, 1940, the company announced today.

November sales to dealers in the United States and Canada, including export shipments, were 171,412 units, against 179,120 in October and 217,406 in November a year ago.

Sales to United States consumers in the first 11 1941 months were 1,946,530 units, against 1,652,631 in the like 1940 period.

Rail Express Strike Threat Believed Near

A strike of 40,000 employés of Railway Express Agency, Inc., at the height of the Christmas season, was in prospect last night as the last of the railroad labor disputes appeared no nearer a settlement.

George M. Harrison, head of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, representing the employés, declined comment after a full day of conferences with union officials, but indicated that a statement will be made today.

Recommendations Refused.

Officials of the agency, which is owned by the railroads, have refused to accept the second recommendation of President Roosevelt's five man fact finding board for wage increases of 10 cents an hour. The agency has offered increases of 8½ cents, 1 cent more than the board's original recommendation.

Wayne L. Morse, chairman of the board and dean of the University of Oregon law school, said he "trusts the agency will see fit to follow the board's recommendations and avoid a strike, or even the danger of a strike, in view of the national emergency."

Expects Early Settlement.

He indicated confidence that the dispute involving part of the short line railroads will be settled speedily. The only point at issue is whether certain employés are to receive minimum wages of 43 or 46 cents an hour.

Committees representing the 14 nonoperating unions and the railroads worked during the day on contracts on which they already have agreed in principle. Morse said he expected developments today which will bring these discussions nearer an end.

Signing of these agreements would end all threat of a nation-wide strike, since the dispute between the carriers and the Big Five operating brotherhoods already has been settled.

WELDERS DECIDE TO GO THRU WITH NATIONAL STRIKE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The United Brotherhoods of Welders, Cutters, and Helpers, an independent union, today rescinded an order of yesterday calling off a nation-wide strike and instructing local officers to get their men ready "for a sudden and determined walkout."

Union officials said the new call came because members had been refused permission to work by the American Federation of Labor at two ammonium plants being constructed for the war department at Morgantown, W. Va.

The union has been at odds with the AFL since that organization refused to grant it a charter. Heber Brown, of the union's headquarters, said that "if Uncle Sam wants the welders to carry arms and go to war they are under way, every one of them, but they will not submit to AFL dictation."

TREASURY BONDS ALLOTTED ON 11 TO 15 PCT. BASIS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 [Special].—The treasury announced today that the billion dollars of 2½ per cent treasury bonds of 1967-'72 issued last week had been allowed on a 15 per cent basis. Subscriptions totaled 6 billion 995 millions. Subscriptions in amounts up to $5,000 were allotted in full for delivery after 90 days.

For the half billion dollars' worth of 2 per cent bonds of 1951-'55, four billion 965 millions was subscribed. The allotment was 11 per cent except for the $5,000 registered bond subscriptions.

CHICAGO READY TO DOUBLE RATE OF WAR OUTPUT

Thousand Concerns Already Producing.

Arms production could be doubled rapidly in the Chicago ordnance district, Col. Donald Armstrong, executive officer of the district, said yesterday as dozens of manufacturers came to his office in the First National bank building to volunteer greater efforts.

Col. Armstrong.

Of 2,400 companies in the district listed as capable of doing ordnance work, more than 1,000 are in production now, he said. Orders total 580 million dollars, with northern Illinois [Chicago industrial district] having about as much as Wisconsin and northern Indiana, which also are in the district.

"Production could be doubled," Col. Armstrong said. "It would not take long. We are merely waiting for additional appropriations in Washington, D. C. The ordnance district can negotiate directly with the manufacturers.

Ready to Shoulder Load.

"Plants know what they can produce, and hundreds are ready to shoulder an additional load. We merely have to execute our previous plans. Of the many plants already running 24 hours a day, most are at or near capacity.

"However, there are many previously unsuccessful bidders who now will be able to get a share of the expanded program.

Col. Armstrong also indicated his support of the campaign to win a larger portion of the arms program for this area.

"Now that we're faced with a two ocean war, Chicago and the midwest is the ideal place to expand armament industries," he said.

Altho the transformation to war production has taken place somewhat slowly here in comparison with the mushroom growth in ship and plane centers, Chicago is now going ahead faster while these other places approach their saturation points.

Pullman One of Largest.

The Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company is one of the largest makers of defense products in the area. In addition to tanks, this firm is producing 105 mm. howitzer carriages, complete 81 mm. trench mortars, 105 and 155 mm. shells, 6 inch shells for the British, and parts for anti-aircraft gun mounts.

Plane wings also are manufactured by Pullman-Standard.

"We are arranging to accelerate our production of ordance items," said Wallace M. Barker, a vice president. "This will speed up tank output especially."

The International Harvester company is producing military crawler tractors, 37 mm. and 75 mm. shells, parts for artillery recoil mechanisms, and anti-tank guns. About 25 per cent of its total output is for defense.

Engine Plants Get Ready.

In Melrose Park the new factory of the Buick Motor division of General Motors corporation will turn out Pratt & Whitney 1,200 horse power aviation engines at the rate of 1,000 a month. Production of Wright aviation engines is expected to start shortly at the new plant of the Studebaker corporation near the Chicago airport.

These are only a few examples of what is being done by Chicago industrial area companies. In the last year 350 million dollars' worth of new factories have been built here, according to the industrial department of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

"There are about 400,000 workers in defense industries here now," an official said, "and seemingly the supply of workers is inexhaustible."

Week's Steel Production Rate to Dip Slightly

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—The American Iron and Steel institute estimated today steel production this week would average 97.5 per cent of capacity, a slight dip from last week's 97.6 per cent rate. A month ago, the rate was 96.6 per cent, and a year ago, 96.0 per cent. The slight dip this week, steel circles said, probably indicated difficulties in getting adequate supplies of steel scrap.

U. S. Industry's Pledge: Defeat Japs in Plants

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—American industry today pledged "two battleships for every one that sinks" and "a dozen bombs" for every one from the enemy.

Walter D. Fuller, retiring president of the National Association of Manufacturers and William T. Witherow, its president elect, jointly addressed the following statement to President Roosevelt:

"Industry stands squarely behind the President and the congress in the fateful action taken today.

Lives Will Be Avenged.

"American lives have been lost in bombing, ships sunk, planes destroyed. These lives will be avenged thru uninterrupted production on the factory front. And munitions of war can and will be replaced.

"Industry will build two battleships for every one that sinks.

"It will match every enemy bomb with a dozen.

"It will blacken the skies with planes to replace the ones shot down.

"Industry's production to arm our fighting forces will be limited only by the human endurance of the men who man and manage its facilities.

Achieves Unity of Purpose.

"We Americans have not always seen eye to eye among ourselves. But, as always, aggression from without fuses our family differences in unity of purpose. The enemies of our democratic way will find us one unbreakable phalanx in which class, creed, and petty politics are forgotten.

"With every other patriotic element in the country, industry is on the march. It will produce, produce, and produce to the end that victory shall be swift and sure."

WAR INSURANCE IN PACIFIC SOARS FROM 5C TO $4

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—American marine insurance underwriters skyrocketed war risk rates on United States ship cargoes today, boosting the premium to and from the Hawaiian Islands to $4 per $100 valuation from five cents.

With commitments on cargoes worth many millions of dollars afloat in and near the war zone, some of it possibly sunk already, observers said the insurance men were unusually calm as they set about writing new schedules today.

Cargoes sent on American flag vessels, formerly favored, were placed in the belligerent classification at the same rates as those charged on British ship cargoes.

Along the Atlantic coast of the western hemisphere war risk rates will reach a top of 75 cents per $100, only slightly higher than before the United States entered the war.

Pacific shipments along the North American coast were set at ½ per cent and on that ocean between North and South America at 1 per cent.

MORE SPENDING AND MORE TAXES —MORGENTHAU

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau declared that today's declaration of war against Japan means "even greater expenditures for defense and a corresponding increase in taxes."

The secretary, who had been negotiating with congressional leaders the last few weeks on new tax proposals, said at a press conference that the need had increased and he expected that "people will be more willing to pay these taxes and it will be easier for the treasury to get them from the congress."

He declined, however, to give any details of his tax recommendations. He has been reported to favor an additional 15 per cent tax on individual incomes.

STOCKS FALL AS STAPLES SOAR; FIX ONE DAY PRICE TOP ON SOME Of 965 Active Issues Only 46 Able to Counter Trend.

New York, Dec. 8 (AP).—United States-Japanese war in the Pacific touched off a sharp decline in the stock market today. Fast selling at the opening depressed leaders 1 to 3 points. Bidding then came in on the theory the price average, which recently had been hovering around the bottom, might have discounted to some extent the latest international upset.

Blocks of 1,000 to 6,000 shares or so changed hands in rapid succession at the start, but dealings soon slowed as recoveries appeared.

The downturn was resumed after midday as congress formally declared war on Japan and it was indicated casualties at Hawaii were much larger than first reported. While extreme declines were trimmed in many cases at the last, final losses ranged from 1 to more than 5 points.

Index at 17 Month Low.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off 1.7 points at 38.1, a new low since June 10, last year, and the widest day's drop since May 10, 1940. Trading also was the broadest since May 22 a year ago, 965 individual issues changing hands. Of these 840 were lower, 46 higher, and 79 unchanged. Turnover of 2,027,960 shares compared with 976,880 Friday and was the largest since Nov. 7 last year.

In the "new low" division were New York Central, Pennsylvania, Great Northern, Chesapeake and Ohio, Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, and Sears Roebuck.

Eastman Kodak lost 5½ points, Dow Chemical, 4⅜, American Can, 4⅞, J. I. Case, 4, and Allied Chemical 4.

Rails were fairly resistant for a while in the forenoon on the hope that a boost in freight rates would be granted. Steels hardly noticed a slight recession in this week's estimated mill operations.

Securities and Exchange commission members were reported in Washington as satisfied with today's market reaction to the war.

CHICAGO PRICES TUMBLE

Outbreak of the war sent prices on the Chicago Stock exchange sharply downward yesterday in transactions totaling 70,000 shares, the largest volume since May 21, 1940. Of 154 issues traded, 127 declined. Eighteen issues closed unchanged and only nine found sufficient backing for gains.

Volume leaders were Chicago corporation, 6,100 shares, off ⅛ to ⅝; Commonwealth Edison, 3,900 shares, off 1⅜ to 21½; Peabody Coal B stock, 2,200 shares, unchanged at ⅝; Armour & Co., 1,950 shares, off ½ to 3¼, and General Motors, 1,550 shares, off 2 to 34⅞.

In the last half hour, after the New York close, W. B. Jarvis and Pullman advanced ¼, and Aviation corporation ⅛, Libby, McNeill & Libby declined ¼.

London Market Weak.

LONDON, Dec. 8 (AP).—Security prices were marked down sharply today as the war front widened. Actual selling pressure was light and the declines were viewed as precautionary. The market steadied at the lower levels.

Japanese bonds showed heavy losses. The 6s of 1924 were quoted at 17 against Friday's close of 28. Hongkong and Shanghai bank shares were off 9 points at 68.

Prices Fall in West.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 8 (AP).—Hawaiian and Philippine stocks took the brunt of a sell-off today as the stock market got its first chance to evaluate effects of the war with Japan. Philippine Long Distance shares dropped 6 points to a new low at 24, and Matson Navigation slumped 3½.

Soy Beans Set Pace for Futures with 6 Cent Climb.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Grain and other commodity prices soared yesterday, some to the limits permitted for one day's trading in futures, as America's actual involvement in war brought wave upon wave of buying orders onto the trading floors. As a result of the runup in prices, the Commodity Exchange administration asked the big Chicago exchanges to place a ceiling over today's trading with prices of wheat, soy beans, butter and egg futures not permitted to rise above yesterday's closing levels.

Officials of the Chicago Board of Trade and the Chicago Mercantile exchange met last night and established the CEA recommended ceiling. It was understood the ceiling may be extended after today if deemed necessary by the CEA.

Wheat at Peak in One Minute.

At 9:30 a. m. the gong sounded for trading to begin. By 9:31 the board markers showed that wheat was selling 5 cents a bushel higher than the close Saturday and soy beans were up 6 cents—the maximum price changes permitted in one day. Wheat, at $1.26⅞ a bushel for May delivery, was selling at the highest levels since late September and the soy beans, at $1.75⅞, were bringing more than they have in the last month.

By 10 o'clock trading was practically at a stand-still in the soy bean pit. Buying orders hummed over telephone and telegraph wires to pit traders, but holders of contracts refused to sell at the only price allowed.

In the wheat pit grain men and speculators appeared willing to sell at or near the maximum prices and take whatever profits such action would bring. But as more and more buyers appeared in the market willing to pay these maximum prices, even this selling petered out.

Corn and Oats Miss Tops.

As the session closed, wheat and soy beans remained at the day's peaks. Corn was up 3⅝ to 4⅛ cents a bushel; oats, 2⅝ cents; rye, which had been up to the 5 cent limit, 3⅝ to 4⅞ cents; and lard, 50 to 57 cents per hundredweight. Lard had come within 5 cents of the trading limit and oats and corn had missed it by small fractions.

A comparison of the closing prices on grains and soy beans for delivery next May on contracts traded on the Board of Trade follows:

	Yesterday.	Saturday.	Yr. ago.
Wheat	$1.26⅞	$1.21⅞	$ .86
Corn	.84⅛	.80⅝	.60
Oats	.57⅝	.53⅝	.35⅜
Rye	.76⅛	.71½	.46⅞
Soy beans	1.75⅞	1.69⅞	.92⅜

GREYHOUND CORP. VOTES 25 CENT EXTRA DIVIDEND

McGraw Electric to Pay One of Same Amount.

Directors of the Greyhound corporation, Chicago, declared an extra dividend of 25 cents yesterday, together with the regular quarterly payment of the same amount. The action raised the year's total of $1.25 from $1.20 a share last year. The regular quarterly dividend of 13¾ cents on the 5½ per cent preferred shares also was authorized.

McGraw Electric company, which maintains Chicago offices, declared an extra dividend of 25 cents, bringing the year's total to $2, 25 cents less than last year.

Will Pay on Arrears.

A dividend of $2 to apply on accumulations was declared on the class A shares by the Chicago Electrical Manufacturing company, maker of electrical home appliances. An arrearage payment of $1.50 on the issue was made in December last year.

Sterling Brewers, Inc., Evansville, Ind., announced a 17½ cent dividend, the first since December, 1939.

Rieke Metal Products corporation, Auburn, Ind., declared an extra dividend of 20 cents and the regular quarterly payment of 30 cents. A dividend of $2.50 was authorized by the Gulf Mobile and Ohio railroad on the $5 preferred shares, the first dividend on the issue since the company was organized in August, 1940.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP).—Foreign exchange dealings, already severely restricted and controled, came close to a standstill on start of hostilities in the Pacific today.

All dealings in Japanese currency were suspended, and banks were not quoting other far eastern monies. Also, by coincidence, there was no business in Latin American currencies, because of religious holidays in those countries.

The only important currencies quoted were the British pound and the Canadian dollar, at levels unchanged from Saturday.

200 CHICAGOLAND FIRMS ASK OPM PRIORITY RELIEF

Plant Studies to Decide Arms Availability.

More than 200 manufacturers in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin have filed reports with the labor division of the Office of Production Management that they are undergoing hardships as a result of the shortages of materials, Eugene J. Brock, chairman of the OPM regional labor supply committee, disclosed yesterday.

Brock said the companies' confidential statements filed with local state-federal employment offices had been transmitted to his office. In each case, the OPM contract distribution division conducts an engineering survey to determine whether the plant's facilities can be converted to arms production. The OPM can act to save a plant from serious priorities unemployment by certifying it to the armed services for favorable consideration in letting contracts.

Suggests Letting Out Own Job.

Brock, who is also regional representative of the federal bureau of employment security, recently submitted a plan to aid nonarmament plants.

In an outline of the proposal to Arthur Fleming, chairman of the national labor supply committee in OPM, Brock suggested that larger plants capable of doing precision armament work should devote their entire facilities to that task and farm out their civilian work to smaller plants not adaptable to arms work or with inadequate facilities.

The smaller plants would produce the civilian goods according to specifications for the larger plants whose trade names would appear on the finished products.

Sees Many Advantages.

Brock explained that the subcontracting in civilian goods is practiced widely, the larger plant often assembling its products from component parts supplied by thousands of other companies.

Brock saw the following advantages for his plan: The larger plants with the engineering resources and precision machinery would be released for arms production; the smaller plants would be alloted civilian work to maintain their operations but at a reduced level, and the management of the arms program would not be complicated by the necessity of inspecting numerous small plants.

CUTS ESTIMATED COTTON CROP TO 11 MILLION BALES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 8 (AP).—The department of agriculture today estimated the 1941 cotton crop at 10,976,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, based on Dec. 1 conditions. A month ago the department estimated the crop at 11,020,000 bales. Production was 12,566,000 bales last year and the average production in the 10 years, 1930-'39, was 13,246,000 bales.

The indicated acre yield of lint cotton this year was reported as 235.4 pounds, compared with 233.3 forecast a month ago, 252.5 produced last year, and a 10 year average of 205.4.

O'Brien Nominated for 2d Term as Grain Board Head

Philip R. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, has been selected by the nominating committee to run for a second term in the annual election on Jan. 12. The committee named Harvey S. Austrian of Rosenbaum Brothers for first vice president and Robert H. Gardner for second vice president.

On the Chicago Mercantile exchange, the nation's largest market for trading in butter and egg futures, Lloyd S. Tenny, business manager, declared a state of emergency and set a 1 cent limit on price fluctuations above or below Saturday's close. A few trades were completed at the outset but after the first moments, prices reached the maximum levels and held there.

Wholesale butter prices climbed ¼ to 1 cent a pound and eggs were up as much as a cent a dozen. Best grade butter sold at around 35 cents while best grade eggs brought 34 cents.

Cotton, wool tops, grease wool, cottonseed oil, cocoa, black pepper, and sugar prices advanced sharply. The grease wool market gains extended to the permissible daily limits. Cotton went up more than $1 a bale after having slumped more than $2 early in the day. At the close cotton was 10 cents a bale higher to 50 cents lower.

FORMS CHICAGO OPA STAFF FOR PRICE RISE STUDY

Organization of a staff to study and investigate price increases was begun yesterday by John C. Weigel who assumed his new post as Chicago regional director of the Office of Price Administration.

Weigel, who is on leave of absence as administrative assistant in the Illinois department of welfare, conferred with Thomas K. Tindale, executive officer of the regional office; Henry McIntyre, regional attorney, and Arthur Carstens, chief investigator. The office is located in the Civic Opera building.

Employed by the state for 15½ years, Weigel reorganized the old age assistance program, and held various administrative positions. He was employed by Sears, Roebuck & Co. for five years after the last war. In 1919 he served in the military intelligence code and cipher department.

People and Events

The priorities school of the Chicago Association of Commerce will meet tomorrow in the Palmer House. Speakers will include Neele E. Stearns, supervisor of business procedure for the Inland Steel company, and John L. Colmar, priorities specialist of Colmar, McKee & Co.

Sen. Walter F. George [D., Ga.] and Charles F. Kettering, vice president of General Motors corporation, are scheduled to speak at the 48th annual banquet of the Illinois Manufacturers' association this evening in the Stevens hotel.

F. R. Gammon has been named manager of sales of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation's New York district office, succeeding James R. Mills, who will retire Jan. 1.

Z. G. Hopkins, special representative of the western railways committee on public relations, will address members of the Santa Fe club of Chicago Thursday in the Railway Exchange building.

CASH FOR Winter Bills

Don't let winter expenses get you head over heels in debt. Ask the Commonwealth manager to help you. He will show you how to arrange small, convenient payments on any bills you now owe. He will also go over, with you, the numerous extra items of expense that are associated with the winter season and show you how to pay for those things with the very least effort and inconvenience. By providing you with the cash to buy what you need now, he can protect you against rising prices and thus save you much more than the cost of the loan. Why not stop in today, or better yet, phone for complete details.

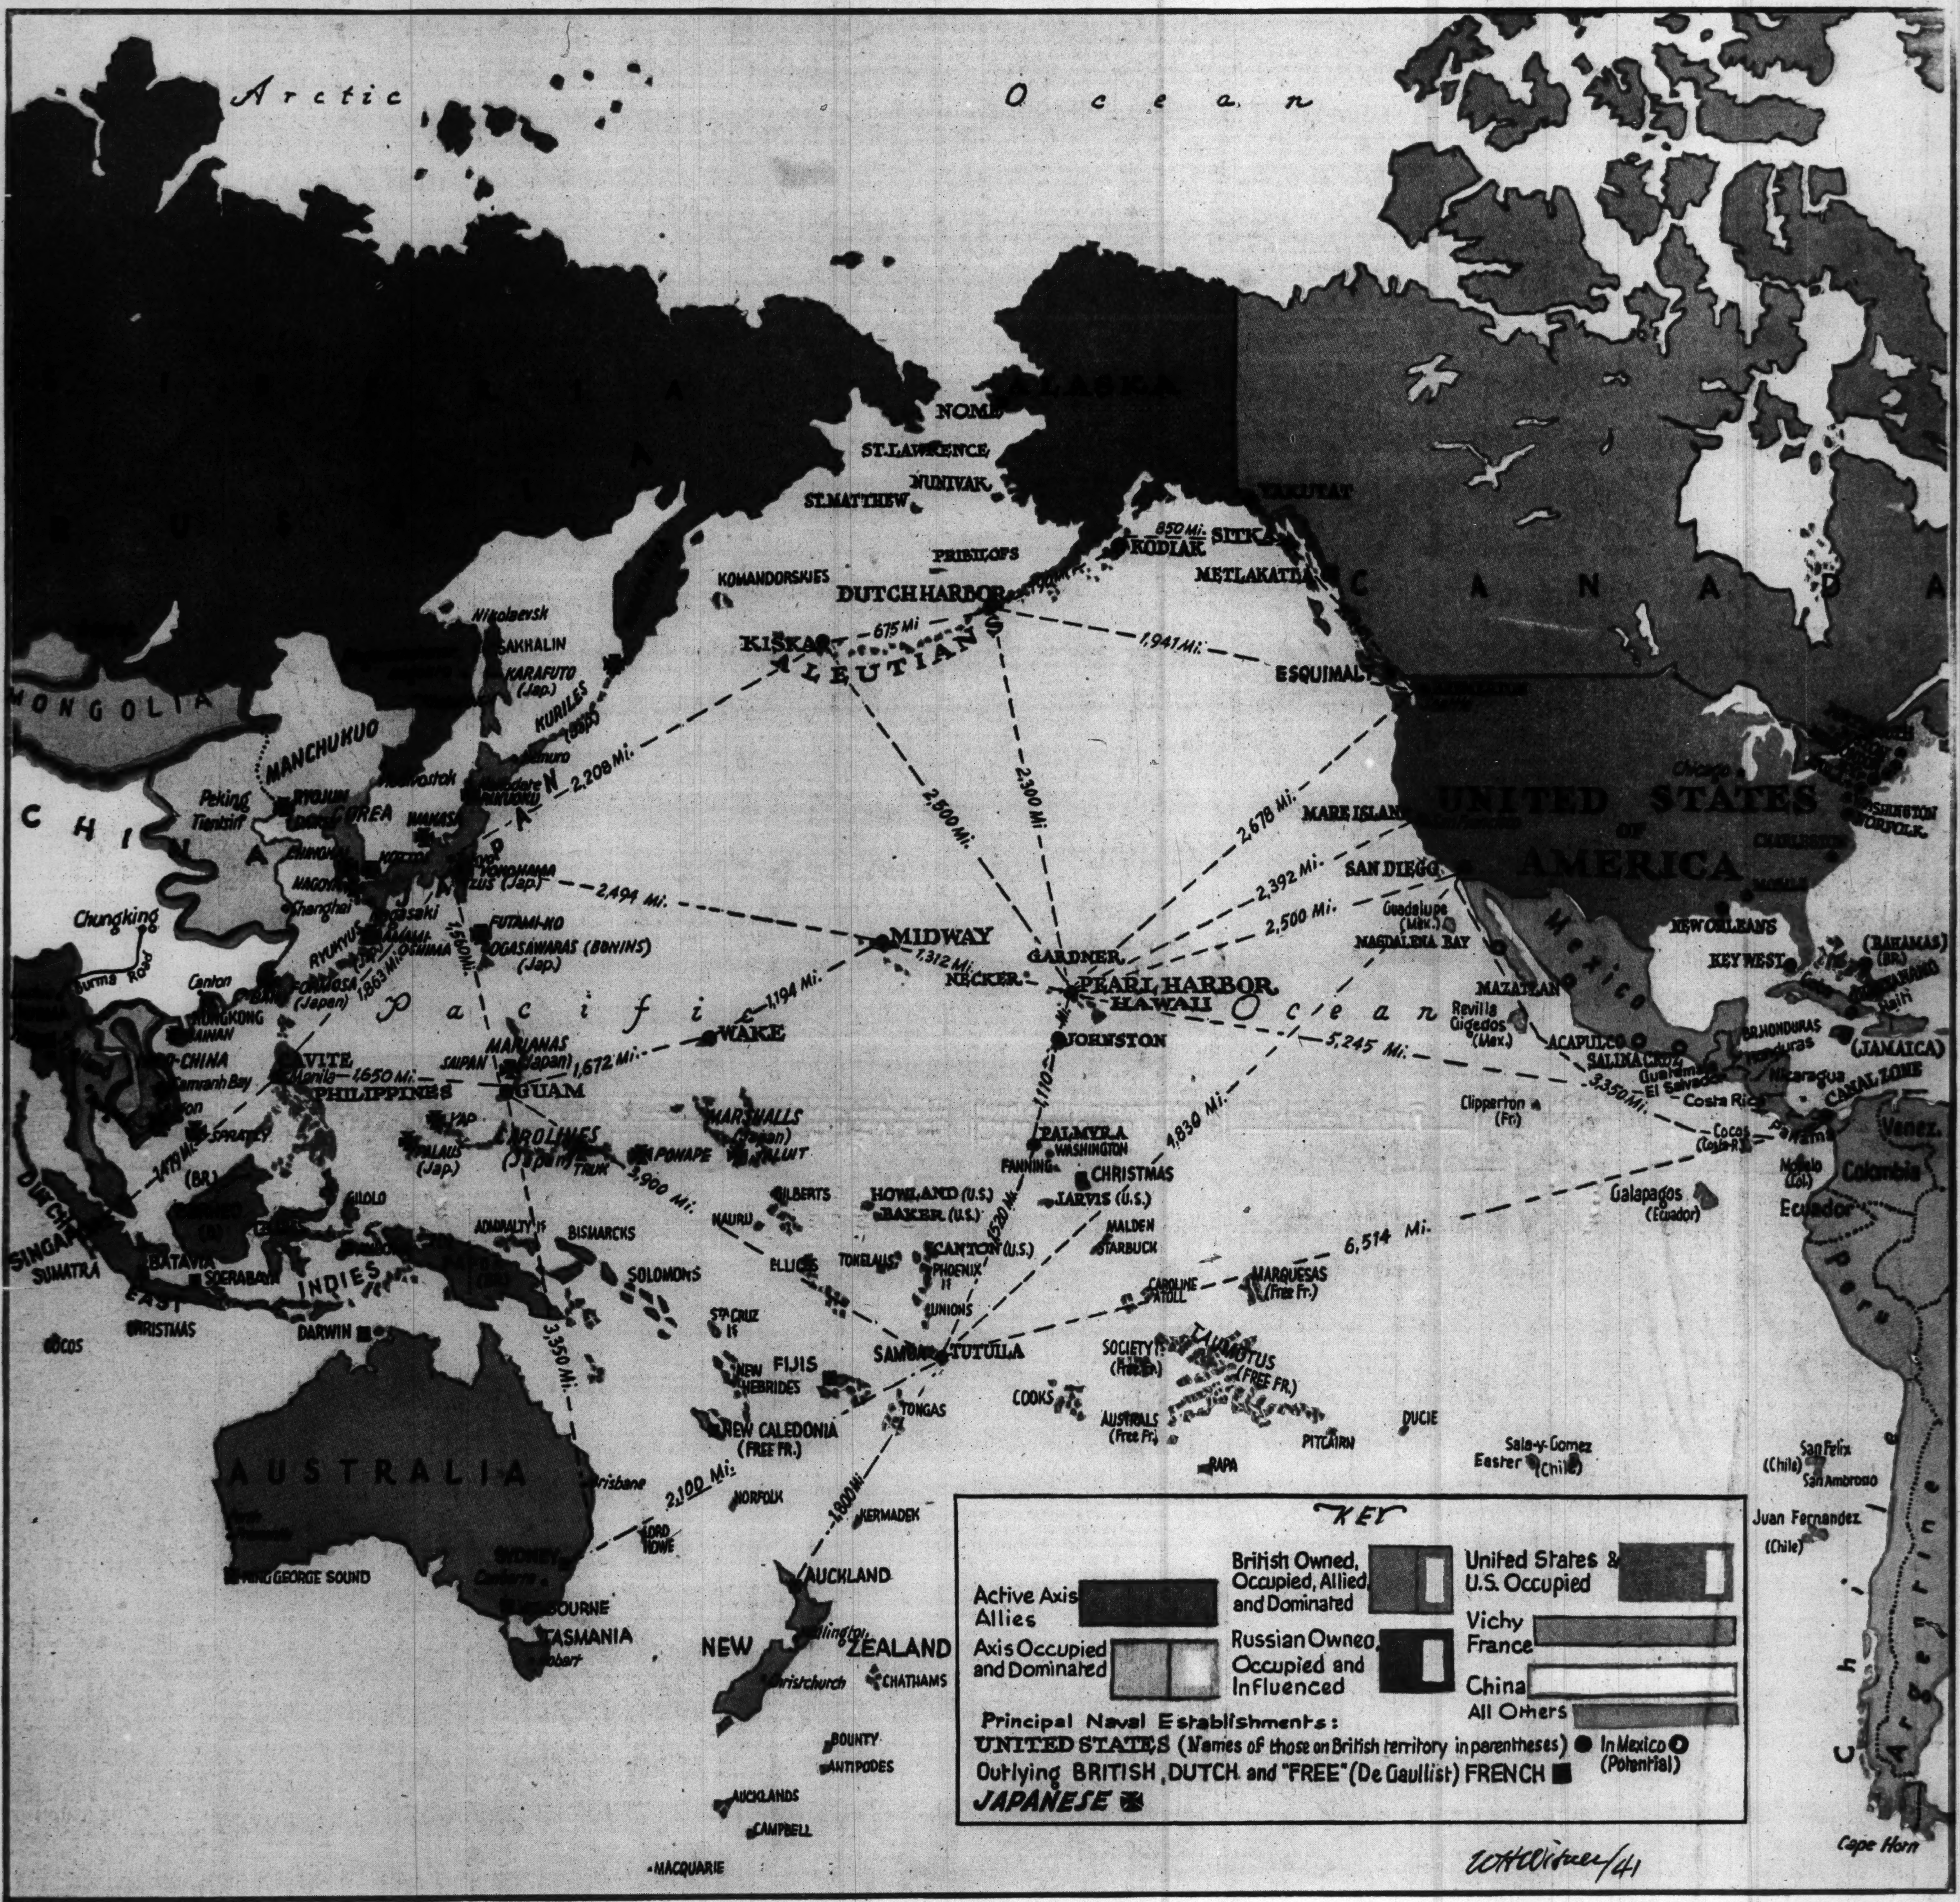
COLOR MAP OF THE PACIFIC WAR FRONT



Presented here is a color war map designed to aid Tribune readers in following the progress of the war in the Pacific ocean and the Far East. Prepared entirely by William Wisner, Tribune staff artist, the map shows by means of air distances the position of American military bases in the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine Islands, the west coast of the United States and Alaska in relation to the bases of the empire of Japan. By means of the key in the lower part of the map the reader will be able to locate the sites of military activity of Great Britain, the Netherlands Indies, China, and Russia. The color guide also gives the ownership of the major island groups in the Pacific, which now become increasingly important in the war news. This will be the first of a series of color maps which the Tribune will reproduce in order that the readers may have detailed, up-to-date guides to a better understanding of the day by day war developments. This map has not been printed before. Readers are advised to preserve it and the maps to follow. They will prove valuable in interpreting the news dispatches.
